A GLANCE AT AN OLD SOCIETY. The Philanthropic Society of th inversity has done a needed work. has had printed in superior style a egister of Members from 1795 to "." That "Register" shows what a great work has been done by this venerable institution for the whole country, and especially for the State of North Carolina and for the South. Mark you, this is but one Society, and we have no doubt the Dialectic Society can show as good a record. The excellent edition before us is the fourth edition, revised and enlarged, and is edited by Stephen B. Weeks, M. A., of the class of 1886. The price is 50 cents for a single copy.

In turning over the leaves of the "Register," (pages 72) we find among the members many distinguished names-some of them of national reputation. In the class of 1797 there was the unfortunate and distinguished Johnston Blakeley, Captain U. S. Navy, who was lost at sea in 1814, on board his ship Wasp. It is supposed he was sunk in a seafight. He captured the Reindeer, for which Congress voted him a gold medal. In the same year, 1814, he captured the Atalanta. He was identified with Wilmington in his boyhood but entered college from Chatham.

In the class of 1798 was John Branch, of Halifax, who was Governor of North Carolina, U. S. Senator, Secretary of Navy, Governor of Florida, &c. In the class of 1799 was Thomas Hart Benton, U. S. Senator for thirty years from Missouri, and Member of the House, He was a great man. His "Thirty Years in the Senate" is a book of rare value and interest.

In 1798, we find the name of W. H. Murfree, Hertford, Member of U. S. House. In 1801, Judge Joseph J. Daniel, Halifax, of Supreme Court and Superior Court, and William R. King, Sampson, Member of U. S. House, Speaker U. S. Senate, Minister to France, Vice President U. S. In 1802, Gov. William Miller, Warren; 1803, John H. Eaton, Halifax, U. S. Senator from Tennessee, Secretary of War, Governor Florida, U. S. Minister to Spain and author of "Life of Jackson;" M. T. Hawkins Warren, U. S. House; 1805, Alfred Gatlin, U. S. House; 1808, James F. Taylor, Chatham, Attorney General; John Witherspoon, New Bern, D. D. LL. D., President of Miami College, Ohio; Mark Alexander, Mecklenburg, Va., U. S. House from 1819 to 1833; 1801, W.E. Bailey, Charleston, Prof. of Ancient Languages in College of Charleston. This takes us through the first fifteen years of the University. As the and give proper direction to subscriptions, keeping the subject before the public until it is successfully carried through? I know of no better method.

TRIAL BY JURY.

The Boston Post admits there is a certain force in the objections to the present jury system, but doubts if a better system can be secured. Very well. But if the "defects are certainly striking" in the present system, as it admits, why not improve it?

No one ought to be satisfied with the law requiring entire agreement of the jury. As it is one man can prevent a verdict upon which the other eleven are agreed. Then in North Carolina it is fatal if a juror summoned has formed an opinion as to the merits of the case. In New York, where so much time was consumed in obtaining a jury to try

Sharp, there is a rule of common law and a clause in the criminal code that allow such an opinion. The Post says, referring to the criminal code:

of an opinion or impression in reference to the guilt or innocence of a defendant, or a present opinion or impression in reference

* if he [the juror] declares on thereto, is not a sufficient ground of chal-

oath that he believes that such an opinion and if the court be satisfied that such is the fact. At common law the rule is the same.

It is an entirely reasonable one, and it shows now erroneous is the prevailing impression that a man who has formed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the person ac-

Five of our Superior Court Judges would soon suggest other changes needed. If trial by jury is to be retained henceforth, then it is very necessary to cause improvements to be instituted so as to make it less objectionable and as near perfection as a human arrangement can be made.

That would probably require more time than we can well command. We are very desirous to see a monument erected in memory of Maj. Peter M. Hale and we have offered to cooperate. We are of course equally interested in seeing a monument erected to the North Carolina dead who perilled all for country and principles and rights of freemen. The STAR will very readily do this It will receive all funds for the Confederate monument to be erected at Raleigh and will report the same from time to time. It will do what it can to make it a success.

The STAR will also receive any sums that may be sent for the purpose of erecting a suitable monument at the grave of Peter M. Hale, the distinguished, able, thoroughly furnished editor, who served his native North Carolina with so much of sincere affection and patriotic ardor. The moneys sent will be deposited in the Bank of New Hanever, in this

Before the South hears the last of the traitor Cable it will get extremely sick. There are people of a certain type, even in the South, who like to show their magnanimity by taking to their bosoms the men who are despised. Just in proportion as these fellows have made themselves offensive and obnoxious to criticism by their conduct is the endearment felt by the people referred to. We were surprised when Cable was invited to address Vanderbilt University, but we are not surprised at the P. Blair, U. S. H.; U. S. S.; Maj. result. The Raleigh Advocate, a Gen. U. S. A.; Prof. A. G. Brown; Methodist paper, says:

"They invited George W. Cable to de-liver the Literary Address at Vanderbilt University. He accepted the invitation and gave them a good dose on 'Social Equality.' We are glad he gave it to them. They ought never to have invited him to fill so important an hour. Imagin : our Senior Bishop, the Board of Trust, the Faculty and students sitting at the feet of There was about as much sense of propriety in his speech, however, as there was in the invitation that carried him there. Even the conservative editor of the Nashville Advocate was astonished at Cable's bad manners.'

"Few story-tellers could do this and achieve such results as Mr. Crawford has attained with enviable case. He is a cosmopolitan, well equipped with ready knowledge of men and things, and as a writer he has a flowing style and a brilliant ncisive touch. But the secret of his success lies deeper than this, and consists in his clear realization of the fact that he is writing about men and women, and that real men and women live, move, and have their being in emotions, in sympathies, loves, hates, joys, and fears. * never hesitates; his ouch is never crude. He has the insight of a man of the world into all social machinery. Clearing House returns for the week under review show a falling off of nearly $48,000,000. Money on call averaged 10 per cent. There is a sort of flurry in the money market. This was caused by the disturbance in Wall street - a "semi-panic," as the Financial Chronicle calls it. For the week ending third week in June the earnings show an increase of 16 per cent. on 61 railroads. Flour quiet. No further decline. Wheat market without important variation. Corn lower. Oats firm but quiet. Rye very quiet. New York dry goods jobbing trade active and stocks were closed out at low prices.

CUBRENT COMMENT.

- Senator John Sherman wants o have all Congressional election conducted entirely under the control of the Federal Government, but even the New York Times takes issue with him on that point, and concludes that the scheme is chimerical and impracticable. We think it might have added that it is of doubtful constitutionality. The first paragraph of section four of article one of the Constitution is as follows: "The times, places and manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof, but the Congress may at any time, by law, make or alter such regulations, except as to the place of choosing Senators." That certainly confers upon Congress the power to change the times, places, and manner of holding elections for Representatives, but we do not think it confers the power to take them out of the hands of State officials entirely. The elections are State elections, to be conducted by State officials, not Federal elections to be held by officers appointed by the United States government.-Richmond Whig, Protec.

-- And so the flag foolishness is god send to them. In that trifling piece of sentimental insignificance they see their opportunity, they think. There may be another President in the Bloody Shirt (if there isn't, in the name of the famishing where is he?) and they hope to scare him out by a mighty flopping of the terrible rebel flags. The whole pack at once take up the trail, and with velp and yowl, sound all the old-time variations on the familiar howls of Disloyalty, Rebellion and Treason. No extreme of triviality, af silliness, of absurdity, is stopped at. They are like some old sport who has been in the habit of betting and winning on a crack race-horse and who, when his favorite is old and broken down, continues to back him with the des perate hope that he may, as in other days, pull him out of the hole by winning another race. - Louisville Courier Journal, Dem.

-- If American shipping cannot be restored, that is to say that if the business of carrying freight in American built ships cannot be made a profitable one, save by paying the profits out of the Treasury, then we are clear that there would be no real advantage to the country generally in restoring it. What any American citizen shall do with his money for purely business purposes he can best decide for himself, and be has an exclusive right to decide it. The case is not altered when his money has gone with that of other taxpayers, into the Treasury, and is subject legally to the disposition of Congress. The majority in Congress have no more right and no more capacity to direct the spending of that money in the way of business than its members would have if they were not in Congress. -N. Y. Times (Ind. Rep.)

COTTON.

Y. Commercial and Financial Chronicle NEW YORK, July 1.—The movement of the crop, as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night, s given below. For the week ending this evening (July 1) the total receipts have reached 3,598 bales, against 2,364 bales last week, 3, 549 bales the previous week, and 1,032 bales three weeks since; making the total receipts since the 1st of Sept., 1886, 5,190,442 bales, against 5,260,703 bales for the same period of 1885-86, showing a decrease since Sept. 1, 1886, of 70,261 bales.

The exports for the week ending this evening reach a total of 13,675 bales, of which 10,787 were to Great Britain, 207 to France and 2,681 to the rest of the Continent.

Today the market was dull, and prices varied but little. Cotton on the spot has been in fair demand for home consumption. Quotations were advanced 1-16c. on Saturday, and again on Monday, but declined 1-16c. on Tuesday. Yesterday there was an advance of to. Today the market was quiet at 11 1-16c. for middling uplands. The Cotton Exchange adjourned today to the morning of Tuesday, July 5.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 532,600 bales.

Greene & Co.'s report on cotton futures says: It has been a very weak market today, with a sharp decline on old crop, August going off some 25 points from Friday night's close. There was unquestionably considerable disappointment over the condition of Liverpool, which sent some very tame dispatches, and a comparatively free offering here found no one to take it, the clique showing much apathy even with a large export movement to help them. The close was unsettled. Advices from the crop continue bright, but offerings seem to be a little careful and rates are off only about 10 to 12 points.
