VOL. XL.--NO. 98.

WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, JULY 15, 1887.

London has a grand excitement in which Mrs. Frank Leslie, of New York, figures much to her annoyance. A London dispatch to the New York

"The encounter between the noble Marquis de Leuville and Prince Eristoff, in which the Marquis pursued the Prince and Mrs. Frank Leslie through Hyde Park on top of a small coach like a demon of mythology, is to-day in London a topic scarcely less important than the Coventry election. The crack of the Marquis de Leuville's whip has been heard around the world. Mrs. Frank Leslie, a brilliant and beautiful woman, who abhors notoriety. was very much annoyed by the incident. She had gone to Europe to chaperone Miss Ella Bennett, a beautiful California girl who owns several lodes and four or five bonanzas in the Sierras.'

What it is all about we have not seen stated. A rumor is that there will be a duel next.

Mrs. S. H. Jackson, of Portland, Oregon, is a badly "unreconstructed rebel." She hoisted the Confederate flag from her residence on the 4th of July, and because her husband had fought and died under it. She was compelled to take it down by a committee of G. A. R. Are we to have another flag flurry? Foraker, Fairchild and Tuttle to the front, Bring out your deadly "weepons" and begin the fight.

Gov. Curtin is out denying what ex-President Davis said about him and the assassination. He says:

"There is not one word of truth in what is said to have been uttered by Jefferson Davis about me I have never pardoned a desperado with the understanding that he would assassinate Mr. Davis, and I had not the money personally and could not have taken from the Treasury the sum he alleges to have been the reward, which he states to have been $100,000."

We presume there can be no doubt that Mr. Davis was fired at.

The four highest standing naval cadets in the six-year class are from the North. They are:

-A gentleman in this city has a cotton plant, grown in sandy land, the seed of which was planted on the 10th of May, and on the 10th of July it had attained a height of forty inches and bore its first blossom. He says this is the result of "intense" farming and gives it as a hint for farmers.

Dr. Dixon's Lecture. Despite the excessively hot weather there was a good audience present at the lecture room of the First Presbyterian church last evening. The exercises were opened by the rendition of "Bow Down Thine Ear" by a quartette, consisting of Messrs. Munson. Grant, Mitchell and Smith, with organ accompaniment by Miss Sprunt. After prayer by Rev. Mr. Hoge, Grand Master Robinson proceeded to the introduction of the speaker and remarked that after a close observation for years he was satisfied no mistake was made when Dr. Dixon was placed in charge of the Orphan Asylum, and as he would now address the audience, he would say that he could talk when he got a little warm.

Dr. Dixon proceeded to give an earnest, forcible and practical address upon "North Carolina Boys and how to save them," and commenced by saying that when he was a young minister he frequently preached upon the government of children and the duties of husbands and wives; but since he got married and had children—not only of his own. but so many of other people's to manage-he had discontinued preaching upon the subject.

He called attention to three classes of boys, and in the handling of the subject interspersed a good deal of wit and humor, and delighted his audience. The subject was handled practically; every parent should have heard it. In concluding his remarks he said he had not mentioned about "saving the girls," because you always knew where to find the women who possessed good qualities.

Grand Master Robinson then re quested Dr. Dixon to make some statement of the work of the Asylum. Dr. Dixon in reply said there were two hundred and five children in the institution. The boys were taught farming, shoe-making and telegraphing, and the girls cooking and sewing, while all were receiving a good English education.

The quartette then rendered "Re member Thy Creator," after which Rev. Mr. Hoge made a few remarks of endorsement of the lecture, when the crowd dispersed.

Fire in Pender County.

The dwelling house, kitchen and smoke-house on the premises of Mrs. Alice Herring, about four miles from Rocky Point, were destroyed by fire about one o'clock yesterday morning. The fire broke out in the kitchen; when discovered it was burning between the ceiling and the roof. About half of Mrs. Herring's furniture and household effects were saved, and all the meat in the smoke-house. Every building on the place was burned except the barn and stable. The loss is estimated at $2,000, and falls heavily upon Mrs. Herring, there being no insurance upon any of the property destroyed.

The Excursion to Lake Waccamaw. The excursion of the Cornet Concert Club to Lake Waccamaw yesterday was a great success in every particular. A large crowd accompanied the club and and all were delighted with the day's recreation. The band gave a concert after its arrival at Lake Waccamaw, which was highly complimented. Quite a handsome sum was realized by the band, and this, no doubt, will be very gratifying to their many friends.

Charged with Criminal Assault. A tall mulatto, a stranger in this city, was arrested yesterday on the serious charge of committing a criminal assault the night before on Ann Robinson, a colored woman. The assault is alleged to have been committed on Nutt street, near the railroad depot, The accused, who gave his name as W. H. Tann, was committed to jail by Justice Millis, before whom an investigation of the case will take place to-day.

The Charlotte Nine.

The Charleston News and Courier has the following kind words for the Charlotte club:

"The Charlotte club played fine ball. It is true that the home team did not break their necks to win, but the fact remains that the visitors played excellent ball; there was no The thermometer in Richmond, Va., for three days has ranged between 94 and 100 degree in the shade, between 9 a. m., and nights. A NEW RICE MILL.

Great Invention by a Wilmington Boy. For some time we have heard it vaguely rumored that one of our Wilmington boys had invented a rice mill which would certainly make him famous as well as wealthy. And today we learn the rumor is a fact well established. The inventor is Mr. John A. Lockfaw, son-in-law of Maj. John W. Reilly, and an intelligent and energetic mechanic. The present cost of rice is not due so much to the expense of cultivation as to the great expense of milling, by separating the kernels of rice from the chaff and polishing it. The immense and costly structures and machinery which we see here and elsewhere, or what are known as the rice mills, attest the fact that it takes capital to run them. And so costly are they, that one mill must serve a large area of country. For instance, in the State of North Carolina there are but four mills, and the farmers have to send their rice great distances, or sell it to agents for the

Mr. Lockfaw's invention is a simple and cheap machine, the cost of which will be within the means of any well to-do farmer. The machine is already patented, and the last issue of the Scientific American gives a cut of it and an illustration of its working. From this we see that the mill is designed to receive the rice as it comes from the threshing machine. The central operating shaft is hollow, and as the rice is fed down the hopper, it is carried along the inside of this shaft by a spirally flanged conveyer and delivered in the centre of the casing at the opposite end of the shaft; the shaft carrying at this end a disc with roughened surface. Just in front of this disc and held at its edges by the flanges of the two secliaphragm, at the rear thereof and opening centrally into the chamber in which it is situated, is a tube connected with an air pump operated by an eccentric on the main shaft. so that as the latter revolves and feeds the rice from the hopper delivering it between the roughened disc and the diaphragm, there will be an air pressure at the back. The diaphragm is constructed to be sufficiently yielding to prevent the rice from being broken; and to prevent too high an air pressure in the chamber a safety valve is provided at the top, regulated by the tension of a spring. There is also moulded upon the shaft a pulley which drives a fan which separates the rice and chaff as it falls from an opening near the bottom of the casing. If this invention is all that it is claimed to be (and there seems very little doubt that it is) it will work a great revolution in rice milling, and make each farmer his own miller, cheapen the article and bring both lowland and upland rice into general cultivation. We learn that our young inventor has received numerous applications offering large sums for his invention, and if he only holds on and is able to retain its ownership, we predict for him a great fortune at an early day.

Death of Mr. Marcus Bear.

Mr. Marcus Bear died at his resi dence on North Fifth street about one o'clock yesterday afternoon, after a prolonged illness of consumption. Mr. Bear was a native of Bavaria and aged about 42 years. He had been a resident of this city since 1859, and was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him. He was a younger brother of Mr. Sol. Bear and Mr. Samuel Bear, well-known merchants of this city. His wife and five children survive him.

Mr. Bear was a member of Cape Fear Lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F., Germania Lodge No. 4, K. of P., North State Lodge No. 222, I. O. B. B., and Manhattan Lodge No. 158, O. K. S. B., all of this city, and his remains will be followed to the grave by members of those organizations.

The funeral services will take place from the residence this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Highly Commended.

The liberality of the gentleman who offered, through the STAR, yesterday, $2,500 towards the building of the Confederate monument, provided it be located in Durham, or $1,000 if located in Raleigh, has been highly commended by many of our citizens And although his name was not published, it has not required much guessing on the part of those who read the generous offer to decide who he is. His charity and liberality are known throughout the State, and have placed him high on the roll of North Carolina's honored sons.

Mayor's Court.

Susan Frank, colored, was ordered committed for thirty days at the Mayor's court yesterday for disorder-

Pompey Howe, James Grimes and Geo. Lewis, colored boys, for disturbing a religious meeting, were fined $20 each, with the alternative of thirty days imprisonment.

BASE BALL. The Game Yesterday-Charlotte 4-

Wilmington O. The crowd that attended yesterday's game were well repaid for their trouble by a fine exhibition of ball playing; and the absence of everything like "kicking" and coarseness, but added to the pleasure of the spectators.

Charlotte spread a fine team on the field and they played ball for all that was in them, and played it well. The visitors had not forgotten the defeat they sustained the last day our boys played them in Charlotte, and they went out to-day with "blood in their eyes." determined to add another game to their already long series of victories, and "the blood" told.

Old Koockey, the former catcher of the Seasides, held his familiar place behind the bat, but this time he was against us, and the same old reliable, undaunted, determined pluck marked his actions and went far towards giving the victory to the visitors. Kcockey is a favorite here, and was welcomed warmly, even though opposed to the home team.

The game opened finely, one side received a "goose egg" and the other then took the field and administered the same kind of medicine to those at the bat. This was continued for two innings, when Charlotte became tired of that kind of diet, and assisted by a wild throw by Carmichael, who thought Rosenthal a second Harkness in height, changed the character of their monotonous fare to two substantial runs, and again in the fifth inning helped themselves to two more. This time they were assisted by Rigby, who holding the ball in his hand, evidently paralyzed by the audacity of the runner, allowed the home plate to be crossed before he thought it necessary to throw it to Gibson to interrupt him. The Seations of the casing, is a flexible sides made one run in the seventh inning and that belongs to the credit of Gibson. But a rain set in then which caused the umpire to call the game. As the visitors had not had a chance at the pie allotted to each nine during an inning, the little bite taken by Gibson went for naught, and the Charlotte nine walked from the field with four large juicy runs to their credit, while Wilmington sucked the thumb of meditation and sadly folded a marrowless goose-egg-Charlotte 4-Wilmington 0. Nice figures, but on the wrong side. Well we will hope for better things to-day, and we expect them.

It was a fine game. Though "Chi cagoed," the home team deserve credit for their field work. As usual, their batting was weak and the effective pitching of Harkness, who has changed his style of delivery, puzzled our boys and made a base hit as difficult as the giant swing. Lamp was hit freely and the men behind him saved many a ball that ordinary fielding would have let pass. Rosenthal did not play like the Rugge of old, but of course made things lively for old Koockey, as he was going to third, when Bacon neatly caught a ball that Rosenthal fielded and retired the old catcher of the Seasides and captured three sky-scrapers. Gibson caught an excellent game and his accurate throwing to second cut short the hopes of three men who thought they had reached the cov eted goal.

Harkness and Koockey did their duty at the points, and the heavy hitters of the Seasides hunted in vair for the ball and sawed the "ethereal fluid" with astonishing regularity.

Abercrombie guarded his garden zealously and allowed no encroach ment on his domain.

Mr. Kiley umpired and gave gen eral satisfaction, the visitors praising his decision and impartiality.

The clubs meet again to-day. The Seasides are not discouraged, and will make a lively fight. Batteries will be changed, a new player substituted. the nines re-arranged, and all who visit the grounds to-day can expect a hotly contested fight, good order and, we hope, a victory for the home team. We say—Go! and if this game does not satisfy you—why go again. Below we give the score :

The Weather.

It was the general opinion yesterday that the temperature during the day was two to three degrees higher than the day before. The records of the Signal Station, however, furnish no verification of this almost universal belief. The temperature was high. The maximum as recorded at the Signal office was 93-two degrees lower than the day before and five degrees below the highest. Other places throughout the State reported a slightly higher temperature. Weldon, the leader, only reached 106; Florence, S. C., 100; Salisbury Raleigh, Goldsboro, and Cheraw, S. C., 99; Wadesboro, 98; Lumberton, 97; Charlotte, 96 and Newbern and Wilmington 93.

The thermometer in this city immediately before the thunder storm last evening recorded 85 degrees, but fell to 71 during the storm and rose rapidly after the storm and registered 80 at 10 p. m.

James Brown, one of the colored laborers employed in tearing down the walls of the Walker building on North Front street, was struck on the head by a falling brick and knocked senseless yesterday morning A gash was cut in his head and it was feared that the man's skull had been fractured, but the doctor who attended him and dressed the wound, said that he had sustained no serious in-
