The Richmond Whig, when a Ma. hone Republican paper, although very ably edited by a North Caro linian, Mr. Elam, became a bankrupt and was sold to the present owners, who changed it, or rather restored it, to a Democratic paper, It was founded in 1824, and under John Hampden Pleasants was a great power. It is now an excellent paper - clean, attractive, able, large and furnished at only $4.50 a year. It is a decided success every way, we sup pose, as its advertising is so great it has often to issue an extra half sheet. While not reflecting always our own views we admire its ability and energy.

We are extremely grateful to our old friend of the Greensboro Workman for the following very appreciative reference to this paper. It

"People who read the Wilmington MORN ING STAR regularly cannot fail to admire the large scope of its news columns and the able manner in which it gathers up and criticises the more interesting subjects of the day. These are admirable features, but when one begins to estimate the vast amount of information and skill requisite in keeping up such an establishment, the performance appears a little wonderful."

Ex-Representative Valentine, of Nebraska, thinks the Republicans of his State will not send delegates this term to the National Convention pledged to Blaine or any one else He says there is a "strong undercurrent for Judge Gresham's nomina tion. He thought Gresham could carry New York, something that would have to be done in order to elect a Republican President."

The poet-editor of the Anniston Hot Blast says justly of the gifted Mrs. Craik (Miss Mulock) recently

"She has written two of the best novels in the language—John Halifax and A Life for a Life. She has also left to the world several of the best poems, because the truest. Her lines to PHILIP BOURKE MARSTON, "Philip, My King!" have become immortal because of their connection with the blind poet, whose life and song are the saddest, in some respects, of England's later minstrels.

Our esteemed State contemporary, the Greensboro Patriot, has a very round motto under which it does business -"Democratic supremacy for the good of all and a Democratic Administration administered by Democrats. That suits us exactly. It is a poor sort of a Democratic paper that cannot fight under that banner, however excellent otherwise.

If we were satisfied that the charges of Democratic corruption in Baltimore were true and sustained, we would be forced to wish well to the Reformers. But when Republicans of the Baltimore type unite with them to secure "reform" it becomes too much of a farce for due gravity

The Philadelphia Evening Telegraph, a Republican paper, is candid enough to say of the manner with which the Cleveland Administration has dealt with the fisheries question -a delicate and dangerous one rather - that it has been "discreet and in the largest sense of the word, patriotic."

In the afternoon she addressed an assemblage of ladies of different denominations at Fifth Street Methodist Church, and in the evening delivered a lecture to the public at the same place. Is It a Government Mule? When the Pender county jugwumps, Bone Taylor and Wiley Stokes, were arrested some time ago for illicit distilling in the Holly Shelter section of that county, the revenue raiders seized with other property a mule which it was claimed had been used by the prisoners in hauling corn meal from this city to the stills. The mule remained in charge of an officer in Pender, and recently parties sought to obtain possession of it through a warrant for "claim and delivery," but the mule was sent to this city. The papers were then sent to Sheriff Manning to serve, but with all his deputies searching high and low, up to yesterday they had been unable to find that mule. Indeed, it is said tha the mule in question has improved so greatly in personal appearance and in morals since he came into the possession of the government, that it is doubtful if his own mother would know him.

The new comedy of "The Round Trip" was presented last night to a full house at the Theatre. It must be considered a compliment to the eminent comedian John Sleeper Clarke that notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather he appeared before so numerous and appreciative an audience. The comedy was pre-ceded by the comedietta "A Fair Encounter," played with great taste and chic by two pretty women-Olga Brandon and Marie Hudspeth. The comedy that followed was admirable, and Mr. Clarke's facial expression, as a matter of course, carried the interest of the piece from beginning to end. It is a thoroughly genteel comedy, full of amusing situations, of which Mr. Clarke thoroughly avails himself. The company supporting him is deserving of all praise. Now an opportunity is afforded of seeing pleasing comedy presented by efficient and accomplished artists, an opportunity that ought not to be Several shocking and fatal accidents have been reported recently through the country as the result of touching wires charged with the electric current for lighting purposes, and all persons should be on their guard against coming in contact with such wires, as under certain circumstances the result would be instant death. In one case'a man walking along the street saw an electric light wire which had been crossed by a telephone wire hanging broken and burning. Taking hold of it out of curiosity he was frightfully burned in the hands, and in his struggles to drop the wire was still more fearfully burned on the face and head, receiving injuries which it was thought might prove fatal. Similar instances have not been unfrequent. Electricity is proving a wonderfully useful servant to man, but it must not be forgotten that it retains a terrible power for

PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD. Seventy-fourth Annual Session at Fay

etteville-A Large Gathering-Open ing Sermon by Rev. Mr. Primrose-Election of Officers, &c. [Special Star Report.] FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., 10.30 P. M

Oct. 25.-The seventy-fourth annual session of the Synod of North Carolina began in the Presbyterian church here to-night.

A cold wave has struck us, and with it came a hard rain. But there is a fair attendance of both ministers and ruling elders. If all come whose names have been sent in there will be an unusually large attendance.

At 7.30 to-night the Rev. J. W. Primrose preached the opening sermon from the text, "He that Believeth in Me Hath Everlasting Life." He eloquently set forth salvation in Jesus Christ as "finished, free and present," maintaining vigorously that in this doctrine lies the distinguishing feature of Presbyterianism. After the sermon the Synod was or ganized by the election of Rev. R. Z. Johnston, of Lincolnton, in the Presbytery of Mecklenburg, as Moderator, and of Rev. Alex. Sprunt, of Henderson, and Capt. J. F. Johnston, of Char lotte, as temporary clerks. Rev. J. A Ramsay, stated clerk, was detained by a late train, and Rev. W. S. Lacy acted in his place. Rev. R. Z. Johnston will doubtless make a most excellent Moderator, being of commanding presence and thoroughly acquainted with the ways of the Synod from long official connection therewith. The clerks are what all clerks should beattentive and ready-witted. Thus officered, the Synod will rapidly dispose of the business on a full docket. Rev. Dr. M. H. Houston, of Balti-more, the Southern Assembly's Secre-tary of Foreign Missions, is present and will be heard to-morrow morning in the interests of this great work. He was many years a missionary in China, and is much loved and honored by his Church.

Rev. S. Taylor Martin, financial Rev. S. Taylor. Martin, financial agent of Union Seminary, Va., is present and will address the Synod.

Rev. Dr. J. B. Mack, agent of Davidson College, is expected to deliver an address on Christian Education.

The Rev. Themas H. Law, agent of the American Bible Society, will be here and tell us of the great work done by this mighty Christian organization.

Bo, there is a feast of fat things for the eager crowds that will gather. This is the thirteenth time that the Synod has met here since it organiza-tion in 1813. It is no wonder that Fayetteville has been thus signally honored, for her hospitality is well known far and wide. There are many Macs here, but the more the better. Yours truly, P.

GOLDSBORO.

Bastern Carolina Fair and Stock Association-The First Cay-Heavy Rain-A Large Exhibit.

[Special Star Report.]

Goldsboro, Oct. 26.-There was room, and to spare, in the fair train when your correspondent entered it on Wednesday morning to attend the first day of the fourth annual exhibition of the above named association. The rain it rained incessantly, the sky was leaden, the fields were bare, the maple bushes along the road had a hard time of it trying to look bright, the usually cheery-looking conductor was glum.

Arriving at the fair grounds, a long ine of box cars which had been used to convey articles to the grounds stood deserted, and as the rain trickled off them they had a rather melancholy appearance. The grand stand was deserted; the untrodden track with its smooth glistening surface suggested damp ness; the long line of pens and stalls prepared for cattle and other stock stretched away into the damp distance, and the cows and horses and hogs and pigs looked out into the rain with dejected countenances, for they were lonely, as no one but your solitary reporter and one or two good natured exhibitors who went with him to keep him in countenance came to look at them. The poultry exhibit was a fine one. even amid the all-pervading dampness, and the ducks were as happy as a bright May moon; 'twas, indeed, a typical day for ducks. In Floral Hall a different view was presented. The deft hand of woman had been there, and the effect of man's resistless energies were to be seen on every side. For once could it be truly said that art was more attractive than nature. Here are pictures that bespeak a talent for drawing and painting, which if we possessed, would straightway make us dream of fame. But the art of drawing and painting is such a marvelous one, in our eyes, that once when we saw a rude picture adorning the wall of a convict's cell, which had been drawn by the convict, we straightway like going to the Governor and asking in person for his pardon. There were, too, birds worked on cloth so natural and lifelike that we almost looked to see them fly away and scream as they flew. In a thousand and one forms was this rare skill and patience of the fair ones on exhibition, many of which are worthy of the special mention we may give them in a subsequent letter. Goods there were, piled n pyramids and spread out in tempt ing show, and things good to eat and pleasant to the eye were there in un-told quantities. The exhibitors were busy unpacking and arranging, and the wagons were coming and going as they brought load after load to add to the already abundant supply. In Agricultural and Machinery Hall, to the hurried glance of your correspondent, there seemed to be enough implements to cultivate the fields of the great West, and provisions enough to feed Sherman's army; but to be candid, his eyes were so taken up with a love of a little buggy that he saw there, that the other picture is somewhat confused and indistinct. He will look in on them on a clearer day, and report more specifically. Here, too, they were constantly adding to the exhibits, and it is as hard to give a full description of this Fair, as it would be of the one to be held next year, for it is not yet complete. If fair weather will only rule tomorrow, as it is promised we may have a large crowd to report, but until then we will close.

Beaufort Items; A correspondent writing from Beaufort says: The Fall term of the Superior Court for Carteret, His Honor Judge Phillips presiding, closed this evening—the 25th. The criminal docket closed Monday and the civil Tuesday evening. A DOWN TOWN MERCHANT, having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonic and cries of a suffering child, and becoming con vinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homeopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Heturning home the day following, the father found the baby still suffering; and while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night sence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said nothing. That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy! The mother was delighted with the wonderful change, and although at first offended at the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering crying babies and restless nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never yet falled to relieve the baby, and overcome the prejudices of the mother. Sold by all Druggista 25 cents a bottle.
