From its marvelous power over this terribly faral disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. PIERCE thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-hilious pectoral, and putritive properanti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption, but for all Chronic Dis-

MIDNIGHT ELIZABETH OAKS SMITH.

The white stoled sisters sleep—but I awake To dream of thee, recall thy voice, thy I hear the silver tingle of the brook, The cold, insensate tones to kisses break; The birds sit wing to wing and music make Forth creeps the lizard from his sheltered nook, And from her secret heart the rose has shook Her golden powder for her dear love's

These all content-and I all desolate. Where wing thy thoughts at this lone midnight hour? Rest they with God, or stray they back to me? Mine wend not half their way to heaven's Sake.

Ere they exhale within thy sainted bower A mocker of prayer that means but thee. Supreme Court Decisions. Raleigh News and Observer.

Commissioners of Greenville vs. Old Dominion S. S. Co.

Where a party entitled to an appeal files his case on appeal and the same is mislaid and lost by the counsel of the opposite party, and it becomes impossible to prepare a substitute, in order that the applicant may have the benefit of his appeal, a new trial will be ordered.

State vs. Jones. Where the killing by the defendant is proved the onus is thrown upon him to mitigate or excuse the act. He must show either by direct or substantial evidence the mitigating facts or circumstances. In this case there was no direct evidence and it was insisted that as the evidence was all circumstantial, the evidence of the struggle and the fact that no deadly weapon was used were circumstances from which the jury might infer that there was a sudden quarrel and that the killing was without malice.

Held, that where the evidence is circumstahtial, to mitigate the ofense there must be a chain of circumstances establishing the mitigating fact; and that the signs indicating a scuffle are not even a link in the required chain as they are consistent with the fact that the deceased struggled for life against a brutal attack.

Morgan vs. R. R. Co. It is not proper to give instructions not pertinent to any reasonable view of the evidence before the jury. The purpose of instructions is to direct attention to the law applicable as it bears upon the evidence.

It is the right and duty of railroad companies to ring their bells and sound their whistles near crossings. Noises made by railroads, ordinarily, naturally incident to their work, when done where it may be lawfully done, do not constitute negligence or nuisance; and harm sustained therefrom is damnum absque injuria.

Sanderson vs. Overman. A petition to sell land to make assets cannot be sustained when enough personally remains in the hands of the executrix, unexpended, to discharge the remaining liabilities.

Hodges vs. Latham. Where there is a covenant of warranty of title, and one having a paramount title gains possession of the premises, the purchaser is thereupon entitled to recover on the covenant af warranty and is not required to bring an unnecessary action to recover the possession in which he must fail.

Where a person makes a conveyance of land, and subsequently conveys to another, he cannot be heard that the title under his prior conveyance is not good and not paramount to that acquired by the subsequent Parker vs. Morrill.

Plaintiff and the testator of the defendant had after an accounting entered into a written agreement in which the consideration for the execution thereof was stated; but plaintiff claimed in this action that she was seduced to sign said agreement also because of a verbal promise that said testaaor would in his will leave her certain property which he failed to do. Held that where parties to a contract in writing refer in it to matters constituent of it, it must be taken that the whole of the material parts of such matters is mentioned, nothing to the contrary appearing, and parole evidence will not be received to contradict, add to, take from or modify what the parties have thus put in

If by mutual mistake or accident, or by fraud the contract omitted something, or a part pertinent, or embraced something that ought to have been excluded, then a court of equity might give relief.

SUPREME COURT.

Raleigh News-Observer.

Court met yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. Appeals from the Fifth District were disposed of as follows: State vs. Wilkerson; argued by the Attorney-General for the State, and Mr. L. C. Edwards for defendant. Knott vs. Whitfield; put to end o

Barnes vs. Easton; argued by Mr. J. W. Hays for plaintiff, and Mr. R. W. Winston (by brief) for defendant. State vs. Rowe; argued by the Attorney-General and Strudwick and Boone for the State, and Mr. W. A.

Guthrie for defendant. Chronic Looseness of the Bowels Results from imperfect digestion. The cause lies in the torpidity of the liver, A regular habit of body can be secured by taking Simmons Liver Regulator to aid digestion, to stimulate the dull and sluggish liver, and rid the system of excessive and poisonous bile. The Regulator corrects acidity of the stomach, cures dyspepsia and insures regularity of the bowels alike free from laxity or costiveness.
