THE TWO PILLARS.

FROM HOPE'S POEM ON LEE. Yes, it is true, my Countrymen, We are rich in names and blood, And red have been the blossoms

From the first Colonial bud.
While her names have blazed as meteors
By many a field and flood. And as some flood tumultuous In sounding billows rolled Give back the evening's glories
In a wealth of blazing gold:
So does the present from its waves
Reflect the light of old.

Our history is a shifting sea Locked in by lofty land, And its great Pillars of Hercules Above the shining sand, bere behold in majesty Uprising on each hand.

These Pillars of our history. In fame forever young. Are known in every latitude And named in every tongue, And down through all the Ages Their story shall be suag.

The Father of His Country Stands above that shut in sea A glorious symbol to the world Of all that's great and free; And to-day Virginia matches him— And matches him with Lee.

OUR STATE CONTEMPORARIES.

Democratic supremacy in North Caroina is more to be desired than a reduction in the tariff, or the passage of any measure that our people can desire. We would be willing to give up almost everything else rather than see our own State Government sgain in the hands of the Radicals of the State. - Kinston Press.

In our judgment the term "Executive Committee," as commonly used in party language, is a misnomer. An executive ought to have the power of compelling obedience to law. There is no such authority lodged in the Democratic Executive Committee at Raleigh. It is simply an Advisory Board. — Wadesboro Messenger.

There is a strong tendency among secular papers, especially in North Carolina, to come out decidedly on the side of religion and good morals, and indeed it is time. To ignore these subjects, or to touch them in a half-hearted way, is, it appears to us, to neglect the grandest opportunity to aid in making men better in every sense of the word .- Greensboro Workman.

We believe Greenville will have a railroad, and a good one at that, but it is not coming without substantial aid from the town. Mark what we say! The people of Greenville are standing in their own light. Go to work! Stir up public spirit and awaken interest in matters of improvement! Push the town forward and keep apace with other towns in this progressive age .- Greenville Reflector.

The bad practice of the General Government's raising more revenue than is needed to pay the public expenses has been imipeople too heavily and is rapidly piling up a surplus. "How to get rid of it?" is now the question that troubles the Texas legislator. They will not long have to ask that question. Reason: A Governor's residence is in process of construction.—Raleigh Chronicle.

The Sentinel is in full sympathy with every movement tending to the advancement of the old North State, and in this new departure it sees much of good and much of worth to the people. Let every teacher, who possibly can, attend this school of normal instruction and fit himself better for his great work. Let him be-come an artist's tools, and North Carolina will be the better off for his having lived and taught, - Winston Sentinel.

The Wilmington STAR, in its issue of the 16th instant, is exactly correct in reference to the theatre question, its comments growing out of the recent episode in a Nashville church-when an actress-with more pluck than discretion-arose in her seat and publicly rebuked the minister who was giving his congregation wholesome advice against the actress and theatre-going. There is no half-way ground—absolutely no compromise as between the church and the theatre of the present day—and all orthodox Christians will see nothing to disapprove in the preacher or his sermon on the occasion re-ferred to, and everything to condemn in the conduct of the inflammable actress while, at the same time, they can only indulge re-gret at the course of inconsiderate people who applaud her act as not only smart, but just and proper even under such circumstances. "An atheist's laugh's a poor exchange for Deity offended."—Rockingham

> The Recovery of Bob Slavin. Baltimore American.

Bob Slavin, the minstrel, who has been lying at the point of death at his house, on Pennsylvania avenue, from a most painful ear disease, which had also attacked his brain, has now fully recovered, and will be able to join his troupe in a few days. His affliction was pronounced by several prominent physicians in Chicago and Cincinnati a case of severe neuralgia, until Slavin placed himself under the care of Dr. Reuling, the wellknown oculist and aurist of this city, who found that the mastoid bone, in which the ear is imbedded, was inflamed, and that the only means for relief consisted in a trepanation of this hone, which operation was performed by the doctor ten days ago, and followed by the most gratifying

N Y. Commercial and Financial Chronicle NEW YORK, Oct. 28 .- The movement of the crop, as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night, is given below. For the week ending this evening (Oct. 28) the total receipts have reached 294,934 bales, against 271,799 bales last week, 276,876 bales the previous week, and 251,181 bales three weeks since making the total receipts since the 1st of Sept. 1886, 1.749,571 bales, against Sept., 1886, 1,749,571 bales, against 1,343,801 bales for the same period of 1885-86, showing an increase since Sept. 1, 1887, of 405,770 bales.

The exports for the week ending this evening reach a total of 217,919 bales, of which 116,732 were to Great Britain, 44,018 to France and 57,169 to the rest of the Continent.

Yesterday there was a further advance in response to a further improvement at Liverpool, but most of it was lost later in the day. To-day there was an early decline, in sympathy with a lower market at Liver-pool, but there was a partial recovery The PRESS is acknowledged, by these who have tried it, to be one of the best Advertising large and steadily increasing patronage in Line son, Gaston, Catawba, Cleaveland, Burks and steadily increasing patronage in Line on the reduced receipts at many of the interior towns of the South.
