CURRENT COMMENT.

-- It is not well either to abolish or reduce internal revenue taxation; it is a tax upon whiskey, beer and tobacco, things which are in a very small measure necessary to the health or happiness of mankind; if they are necessary to any unfortunate man, they are far less necessary to him than are a thousand other articles which the Government taxes. This tax is the least burdensome, the least unjust of all the taxes which the government lays or can lay upon the people - Secretary Fairchild.

-- The platform adopted by the Republican Club Convention coming upon the heels of the Blaine pronunciamento, will give the country a pretty fair idea of the issues which the party out of power is about to advocate in the hope of defeating the party in power. The maintenance of the present tariff is the first one. Nowhere in this new Republican creed is there a single suggestion as to Creek township in the interest of the prowhen or how there shall be tariff revision or surplus reduction; but all through the mass of misstatement false assumption is the determination to stand by the tariff just as it 18.-The next and the only other plank of importance is an indirect indorse ment of that abomination, the Blair Educational bill, for whose defeat the Clubbers justly give credit to a Democratic. House of Representatives. - Washington Post, Dem.

- The talk about the tal falling on the farmer is the merest bosh, as the farmer does not pay a cent of the tax directly or indirectly. Apropos to this, please give us an answer to the following: The United States consume half of the tobacco crop and export the other half. The half which is used in the United States, and pays the internal revenue tax, is selling 200 to 400 per cent. higher than the half which is exported, without paying a cent of the tax. It is also true that the yield the year of the export kinds was even smaller relatively than that of the kind consumed at home. The State of Kentucky, to which the Tribune takes the liberty of referring, is the producer annually of 60 per cent. of the erop of the United States, and her styles of tobacco which stay at home and pay that terrible revenue tax she is selling at $9 to $35 per 100 pounds, while the kind she exports tax free she is selling at $3 to $8.50, except a relatively small specialty, none of which sell half as high as corresponding grades of the other .-Louisville Courier-Journal Dem.

Contagious Blood Poison.

Mr. D. B. Adams, Union, South Carolina, writes: "I was afflicted with a terrible case of blood poison for about thirteen months. I was treated by the best physicians, and used various kinds of remedies, but veceived no substantial relief. I finally tried the Swift Specific, and about four bottles cured me sound and well."

Col. E. H. Kleser, editor and proprietor of the Opelika, Ala., Times, under date of August 3, 1887, writes: "When I was a young man, through indiscretion, I contracted a disease which has stuck to me for years, Some five or six years since I was troubled with pains, so as to make it difficult for me to walk. Having advertised the S. S. in my paper for several years, I concluded I would try it to see if there was any efficacy in the medicine. I commenced using it according to directions and used half dozen bottles. I was once at a way station and, getting left, I walked the seven miles and have never felt any return of the old malady. After experiencing the good effects I must say I am satisfied with the result. I am sixty-eight years of age and I feel now like a young man and can go to the case when necessary and set up from six to eight thousand ems without any inconvenience. Mr. F. Woehl, 211 North Avenue, Chicago, underdate of June 12, 1887, writes: "I deem it my daty to thank you for the cure I received from your excellent medicine. I contracted a very severe case of blood poisoning about two years ago. Hearing of your medicine, I went to a drug store, the proprietor of which persuaded me to buy a preparation of his own, which he said was a sure cure. I used six bottles of his stuff and grew worse all the time. At last I got disgusted and despaired of a cure. I met a friend who told me that your medicine had cured him. I went to the same druggist again and demanded your medicine. Hereluctantly sold me twelve bottles, and I am now perfectly cured. I write this for the benefit of sufferers, to prevent their being deceived by false representations. I thank you again for the benefit derived from your medicine."

Dr. J. N. Cheney, a prominent physician, residing in Eliaville, Schley County, Georgia, in a letter recounting the infallible success he has in curing contagious blood poison cases in his extensive practice, writes-"Those who know the almost inevitable, permanently dangerous effects of mercury will welcome your discovery of S. S. as a boon to humanity. The medical profession, always wary of proprietary medicines, is coming slowly, and in some cases secretly, to the use of S. S. in cases of blood disorder.
