place, and under the many action of the Press, the latter has become the great issue in the present canvass. The Republicans will try some side questions, of course, but the fight will be won or lost on the tariff line. There is no doubt of the public verdict, but the Democratic party cannot be expected to be well disciplined and bold in the canvass, if there are divisions at the voting time in Congress, and if every Democrat who has some pet notion of personal ambition insists on voting against the majority of the party—a course which not only enriches him in any way, and makes the Democracy itself poor indeed.

This is the view that we take of the tariff business. There is more agreement of opinion upon the subject in the country at this time than there ever has been before. It is shown in the declarations of the State Conventions. There is a wonderful example of it—a living, burning example—across the Savannah river. Even the Atlanta Constitution, which a little while ago was prepared to reduce Senator Colquhoun to the ranks, because he is a low tariff man, has now thrown up its hands, and promised that it will go with the party on the tariff question.

A BRIEF NOTE. For a great many years there has been a publication in England of more or less interest and value known as Notes and Queries. Messrs. W. S. & H. C. Walsh, of Philadelphia, have caught the idea and utilized it for American ends. The first number of American Notes and Queries is before us. It is intended as a medium of inter-communication for literary men, general readers, &c. The price is $3 a year, weekly, or 10 cents a number. Octavo size, 12 pages. It promises well. On page 7, we find this:

"T. C. H. asks if there is a place called Croatan." No, it is the name of a tribe of Indians, now extinct, once resident in Virginia. The word acquired a strange interest in colonial history. The first English colony, sent to America by Sir Walter Raleigh, under the auspices of Sir Richard Grenville, settled on Roanoke Island near Albemarle Sound in 1587. When provisions grew low, Grenville and Governor Wythe returned to England for supplies, the latter leaving behind as a pledge of his return his little granddaughter, Virginia Dare, the first English child born in America, &c."

We copy this to say that Albemarle Sound and Roanoke Island are in North Carolina. There was a battle fought during the late war on Roanoke Island. Virginia Dare has been honored by the Legislature of North Carolina by calling a county in honor of her. This is the county where people travel after the style of Venicians in boats, the county being made up mainly of islands.

The Republicans in the House have been so loudly and vigorously denounced as obstructionists that they are beginning to feel a sense of shame. The talk now is that under McKinley's lead a Tariff bill will be offered by the Protectionists. They begin to realize that the over-burdened and unwisely taxed people are fearfully in earnest in their demand for relief. The New York Star does not give a very encouraging account of McKinley's success with his brother Republicans on the Ways and Means Committee. It says:

"The Republican party is so widely divided on the question of taxation reform that Mr. McKinley found it impossible to secure agreement between the five Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee, even to a measure having no prospect of passage, and only designed for political effect. If the Ohio protectionist should succeed in bringing his four colleagues into line, he will still find it impossible to secure the assent of Republican Congressmen generally."

It is divided as well as a rotten party. Ingalls in his last performance in the Senatorial circus charged that there was a call for 100,000 Kentuckians to be in Washington in 1877 at the inauguration. This is the old story so often told by lying newspapers, and so often repeated by not very scrupulous politicians and demagogues for party effect.

The able editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal contradicts the version. There was never a proclamation issued. The lie originated in a conciliatory speech made by Mr. Watterson, which had the full approval of Mr. Tilden.

An interesting discovery has been made in Upper Egypt. Certain uniform (arrow-headed) tablets have been found which are of special interest to Bible students. Prof. A. H. Sayce writes to the London Academy that the few tablets he has seen satisfy him that "the conquest of Egypt by Nebuchadnezzar, so long doubted, is now become a fact of history." There are other tablets that are looked up in the house of the Director of the French Archaeological Society at Cairo.

STEDMAN FOR GOVERNOR. Correspondence Smithfield Herald. Mr. Editor:—The State Convention convenes on the 30th to nominate a candidate for Governor, and we ought to look over the field and choose the strongest and most available man.

In the opinion of this writer Lieutenant Governor Stedman has more elements of strength and fewer of weakness than any man now prominently in the field. If the locality is to influence the nomination he has the advantage because he comes from the Cape Fear section which has not furnished a Governor since 1837. In my opinion we ought to recognize in our nomination every section of the State. Nothing tends to strengthen the belief of the people in the existence of rings and combinations more than to see one locality getting all the prizes. There has been too much of this in State and in county politics and it ought not to continue. If the nomination is to be given as a reward for party service I think that Maj. Stedman's claims are at least as weighty as those of any other man, for I do not believe that there is a man in North Carolina who has done as much work for the party and has been so little rewarded as he. Since the war in every contest he has ever been engaged in the thickest of the fight. Not a campaign has passed wherein he has not done a giant's part and the only reward he has ever received was a nomination for the Lieutenant Governorship of the State. The canvass which he made when a candidate for that position will long be remembered as one of the most effective ever made in North Carolina. To him was assigned the duty of canvassing the counties where the party was demoralized and disorganized, and the election returns show that those counties gave the largest majorities of any in the State for the Democratic ticket. As a campaigner and as an organizer I believe he has no equal in North Carolina. That is what we will need in this contest.

The State must be organized as it has never been before. Let this be done and it will help us not only in getting votes for the State ticket but it will help us in every local county contest. It will help us in Johnston county, and we may need help badly. We will run no risk in nominating Stedman. He went through a heated canvass in 1884, was the first in the field for the gubernatorial nomination this year, and all the searching scrutiny of political enemies and of opponents within his own party has failed to discover one single act, public or private, or of one single utterance which would be discredit to him as a man, or which would injure him as a candidate. He has been weighed in the political balances and not found wanting. Not only in the field of politics has his worth been tried, but as a soldier he showed (as I am informed by a prominent man, himself a hero,) a gallantry surpassed by no soldier in the glorious army of Northern Virginia. He volunteered in May 1861, was at Bethel, and stayed in the army until the immortal Lee yielded up his sword at Appomattox. Better record can no man have than that!

Above all else the people of North Carolina demand that their Governor shall be a man uncontaminated with corruption influence, one who if need be would take sides with them and against the railroads, and such a man is Chas. M. Stedman. So scrupulous was he, that in 1884 when elected Lieutenant Governor, he resigned his position as general counsel for the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad Company, and has not since accepted a retainer from it, although his salary as its attorney was many times greater than his salary as Lieutenant Governor.

A man whose sense of honor is as high as that, is worthy of the people's trust! We must have a man from the east—a good campaigner—an undoubted Democrat—a good soldier—a man whose record will bear the closest scrutiny, and a man who will not be influenced by corporations or monopolies to swerve one iota from his duty, and I know no man in the race who is so completely the embodiment of all these requisites as Charles M. Stedman, of New Hanover. Let the people of Johnston fall in line and swell the already long line of counties which have decided to cast their votes for him. A VOTER.

OLD WORLD NEWS.

From London Special in New York Times. The fear that Stanley and his expedition have come to grief is beginning once more to find expression in print. The Standard to-day has a very pessimistic leader, in which the chances against his success are summed up, with discouraging length and logic.

A memorial window to Bishop Matthew Simpson, paid for by American admirers, is about to be placed in the famous grade of Methodism in the City Road Chapel, where John Wesley preached and in the adjoining house to which he died. The locality is consecrated to dissent, not only on Wesley's account, but on his church in Bunhill Fields, where Banyan, DeFoe, Watts, all of Cromwell's children, John Wilkes, Dr. Hart William Blake, Susannah and Charles Wesley, and many thousands of other non-conformists are buried. The window represents Elijah receiving the falling mantle of Elijah, and is said to be an artistic success.

John Wesley was brought up in an unexpected way in the latest Parliamentary volume of the "Historical Manuscript Collection," in which are family documents in the possession of the Earl of Darmonth. They go back to the first peer's father, who was an intimate friend of Charles I., and are brought up to 1806.

PENNSYLVANIA. An Old and Deaf Murderer Makes His Escape from Prison. By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LEBANON, May 8.—William Showers, under sentence of death for the murder of his two grandchildren, escaped from jail Saturday night during the night. His cell was discovered empty between 5 and 6 o'clock this morning. He dug a hole through a solid stone wall, and lowered himself from the opening with a rope made from pieces of a blanket. Showers is seventy years old, and how he escaped detection in town after his escape from prison is a great mystery, as the jail is situated in the very heart of the city. The aged prisoner must have been digging at the wall for some time past. He left behind him two letters, one addressed to his country and the other bidding defiance to the people, who have threatened to lynch him.

The Eureka was brought here by the steamer Benson, having been transferred to the vessel from the brig Caroline Gray, who picked up the shipwrecked crew at 6 o'clock Sunday evening, after they had been in their boats for about five hours.

The Hypocritey of It All. Washington Critic, May 4. Yesterday at the races Senators Ingalls and Blackburn were in the clubhouse having a pleasant time with the edibles when Col. Jim Williams, the Kentucky horseman, hove in sight. "Well," he said, with more vigor than appears in this print, "are you fellows friends? I thought you were thirsting for each other's blood." "Oh, no; we are friends," laughed Senator Blackburn; "ain't we?" turning to Mr. Ingalls. "Yes," replied the Senator from Kansas with that peculiar edge which shows through every tone; "oh, yes; we are friends—here."

AFRICAN METHODISTS. Eighteenth Quadrennial Session of the General Conference. (By Telegraph to the Morning Star.)

INDIANAPOLIS, May 8.—The eighteenth quadrennial session of the General Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church began here yesterday, and was called to order by Bishop Payne. Two hundred and six delegates from forty-one Annual Conferences, representing every State in the Union, Canada, Bermuda and the Demerara Islands make up the official roster of the Conference. Among these are the leading spirits of the Church, including many men of more than national reputation. Bishop Wayman led in prayer, and Bishop Turner and Dinsley conducted further religious exercises.

M. E. Bryant, of Selma, Ala. acted as organizing secretary, and called the roll of Conference, when it was developed that there were many contesting delegates. Some of the delegates insisted upon immediate verification of their credentials, but Bishop Campbell, who was in the chair at the time, ruled that all those cases must go to the Committee on Credentials.

Rev. J. W. Casway, pastor of the church in which the Conference is meeting, welcomed the delegates. He said that the Governor and Auditor of the State, and "noble Harrison," had sent words of welcome, accompanied by substantial help. The formation was received with applause, and Mr. Harrison's name particularly was enthusiastically received.

On behalf of the Conference Dr. James A. Hardy, of Baltimore, and Dr. T. Tanner, of Philadelphia, returned thanks of the welcome.

The afternoon ceremonies were celebrated by Bishops Payne and Wayman.

A FRIGHTFUL SKIN DISEASE.

Suffering Intense. Head nearly raw. Body Covered with Sores. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies. Messrs. STEVENS & BENNETT, No. 100 Broadway, New York.

Dear Sirs:—About two months ago, on your recommendation, I bought a bottle of Cuticura Remedies, one box CUTICURA SOAP, and one box CUTICURA OINTMENT, for my son, aged five years, who has been afflicted with a frightful skin disease, and I am pleased to say that I believe the remedies have cured him. His condition was so bad, that I was obliged to keep him in bed, and he was nearly blind from the sores on his face, and his body was covered with sores. His condition was so bad, that I was obliged to keep him in bed, and he was nearly blind from the sores on his face, and his body was covered with sores.

MONROE, N. C., Oct 20, 1885. THE FORTNER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Gentlemen:—Mr. Wm. S. Stearns, of this county brought his son to town to show you what Cuticura Remedies had done for him. This letter is enclosed in our letter to you some time ago. To look at the boy now, one would suppose that there had never been anything the matter with him. He seems to be in perfect health. We have written and have had written by his father his name and his health, and we have had written by the doctor that the boy is healthy, eyes bright, cheerful in disposition, and is working every day. We are sending quite a quantity of Cuticura Remedies and one box of Cuticura Soap, and one box of Cuticura Ointment, and we shall do all we can to promote their sale. Yours truly, STEVENS & BENNETT, DRUGGIST and PHARMACEUTICALS.
