The great "New English Dictionary" of Dr. Murray drags its slow length along. It has been in course of preparation nearly twenty-five years. Number 4 is on the eve of publication. It gets as far as Cass. The four numbers will equal in mat ter both Worcester's and Webster's big dictionaries combined, we would suppose from an examination of Part I. It is said the work will be pushed more rapidly hereafter. It will be a monument of learning and industry when completed. We suppose it will make fifteen of Webster's largest work. The News and Observer says this about the Governor's Guard;

"Inspector General Cameron paid them the high compliment of saying that in the observance of military courtesies they exceeded every company in camp, and that they won the reputation of being the most courteous and gentlemanly company in

The members of the Governor's Guard are good soldiers and are courteous and gentlemanly in their bearing; but they are too modest to claim superiority in that respect to every other of the twenty seven companies that were in camp. Still, the Inspector-General is entitled to an opinion on this question.

A Word for Bob White.

The annexed extract from the Charlotte Chronicle cannot be classed as strictly local news, but it is reproduced in the STAR for the reason that a good word for "Bob White" is always in order with such kranks on kwail as Bill Campbell, Ed. Pemberton, Brooke Empie, Jim Taylor, Jordan McIver, Ben White and scores of others, not omitting our field editor, who read the STAR:

Some of our farmers are complaining of the ravages of the chinch bugs, and say that this pest has been growing more troublesome each year. The bug is more numerous now, they say, than ever knewn in this section. Esquire S. H. Hilton says the cause for this increase in the number of the chinch bug is to be explained in the war that has been made on the partridge. "Go to any farm and catch a partridge now," he says, "and you will find its craw packed full of chinch bugs." Esquire Hilton says that a covey of partridges wil keep a cornfield clear of these pests. Where there are no partridges there are plenty of bugs. Ravages are made in the ranks of the birds every winter by the gunners, but this is as nothing compared to the way in which they are trapped or netted, when whole covies are wiped out at a time. Gunners never entirely kil out a covey, always leaving some for seed. Again, the nest robber is a great foe to the birds. Just for the simple sake of saving his crops from the ravages of the chinch bug, Esquire Hilton says that he never permits one of his birds to be trap ped, or a nest to be robbed. With plenty of birds on his farm he has no fears of being injured by the chinch This is something farmers ought to think over.

The Naval Stores Trade. The movement in naval stores at this port continues to show a decrease in receipts as compared with the corresponding period last year. From the beginning of the present crop year, April 1st, up to July 28th, the receipts of spirits turpentine are 24,-879 casks, against 29,554 for the same time last year-a decrease of 4,655 casks In rosin the receipts are 73.945 barrels this year, against 110,672 to same date last year decrease 36,727 barrels. Tar, receipts 13,142 barrels, against 16,024 last year decrease 2,882 barrels; and crude turpentine, receipts 5,884 barrels, against 10,728 last year: decrease 4,884 barrels.

The statement of exports, for the crop year, as compared with the same period in 1887, makes the following showing: Total exports of spirits turpentine, from April 1st to July 28th 1888, 20,187 casks; for same time last year, 26,033 casks. Total exports of rosin, 74,235 barrels; last year 127,383. Tar, 20,719 barrels, against 24,725 barrels exported during the same time last year. Crude turpentine, total exports 5,326 barrels, against 10,517 last year.

Iced Tea. Iced tea is a popular beverage in Wilmington, but how many cooks or housewives know how to make tea before the ice is added, simple as it may seem? Here is a recipe which is said to be infallible: "Put the tea in an earthen or agateware pot and set on the back of the stove where the pot and contents will get thoroughly warm; then pour on water that has been freshly boiled, and boiling thoroughly at the time; let stand on back of stove for fifteen minutes, by which time the tea will be perfectly drawn. If you desire the tea to be perfect and to remain so separate the liquid from the leaves by pouring it off into another vessel. If your intention is to spoil it, you have only to boil it and let it remain with the leaves in

A New Military Company. It is reported that a new military company is in process of formation here, and that about fifty members have already been enrolled. It has been stated, also, that Capt. S. W. Nobles has the matter in hand, but this must be an error. Capt. Nobles informing a representative of the STAR that he knows nothing about the matter. However, as our neighbor of the Review says, there is plenty of room here for several more companies and the best material in the world from which to form them.

Echoes of the Encampment. The Wrightsville correspondent of the Raleigh News and Observer compliments our citizens and the railroad companies, as follows:

The citizens of Wilmington, always hospitable and whole-souled, the railroad companies and all have left no stone unturned to make the stay of soldier and visitor pleasant. It is very remarkable that no serious accident has occurred anywhere, although the crowds were large and twenty-six trains a day have been running between Wilmington and Wrightsville over the Seacoast road, and every train packed to its utmost capacity. C. F. and Y. V. Extension.

The editor of the Fayetteville Observer says. "On Friday afternoon we divided, one near the river, and the other southeast of the camp in the direction of Wilmington. The work is under the supervision of Gen. M. P. Taylor. There were about 200 convicts at work, and altogether they have completed over three miles of Germania Cornet Band. At a meeting of officers and members of the Second Regiment, held at Camp Pender on Thursday, July 26th, the following resolution was adopted and ordered to be sent to the Germania Cornet Band, and the city papers were requested to publish the same:

Resolved, That the officers and members of the Second Regiment, N. C. S. G., eoth individually and collectively, desire publicly to express their thanks to that excellent organization, the Germania Cornet Band for the valuable services rendered them during the Encampment; and they can rest well assured that their presence will be always welcomed by the members of the Second Regi-

New 5,000 Mile Tickets. The members of the Traveling Passengers Association are looking forward to an improvement in the style of reilroad tickets. They are endeavoring to secure a 5,000 mile book for $100, good for passage over all railroads in this country, for one person only and for one year from date of issue, each book to contain a photograph of the purchaser. On June 18th this book was issued, and is good now over nearly all the roads in the United States. It is expected that it will be issued shortly by the Richmond and Danville and other Companies.
