The Republicans are a tricky set. At Mt. Holly, in this State, is an agricultaral fair. The Rads propose to entertain the Democratic visitors with talk in favor of a Monopoly High Tax by imported Northern speakers. That is a very good way to break up the fair. It is a low trick. Send Major. Wm. M. Robbins and Col. Waddell to skin the agents of the Money Devil.

There are Trusts and Trusts, and none will do to trust. The latest is a Flour Trust. The New Orleans States says:

"A flour trust, to cover the five States of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas and Tennessee, has been projected. It is to be called the "Central Millers' Association, The party, be it Democratic or Republican, which first puts on the statute-book legislation that will prohibit the formation of such conspiracies to grossly overcharge the people for the everyday necessaries of fe, will deserve well of the country."

The National platform expresses the aith of the party upon national questions or the Republicans of Indiana - Repubican State Platform.

But the Republican U. S. Senators are trying to get away from it. They are very much afraid of the effects of Free Whiskey and Higher Protection, and in fact of a prohibitory tax on the laboring people's ne cossaries of life.

At the joint meeting of the Produce Exchange and Chamber of Commerce, held yesterday at noon, attention was called to the necessity of enforsing the quarantine established by the Board of Health against Jacksonville and other points in South Florida, and a committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. D. G. Worth, J. H. Chadbourn, C. H. Robinson, W. L. DeRosset, Geo. Harriss and B. F.-Hall, to confer with the Board of Health and assure them of hearty cooperation in all measures tending to the proper enforcement of quarantine regulations and the perfect san-

Resolved, That such a detail of offiers as may be necessary shall inspect all trains entering Florence by either of the railroads from the South, warning all perosns coming from points in Florida infected with yelow fever and intending to come to Wilmington, that they will be put off the train at a point not nearer the city than Brinkley's station, on the W., C. & A. railroad, or at Abbottsburg, on the Carolina Central railroad, at their own risk, and that no baggage belonging to persons coming from infected points shall be allowed to enter the city, and if it reach the city it will be destroyed. Death of a Prominent Business man and Leading Citizen of Wilming.

HON. A. H. VAN BOKKELLN!

WILMINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY, AUGUST 14, 1888.

Hon. A. H. VanBokkelen, who had been an invalid for months past, died at 2 o'clock yesterday morning at his residence in this city.

Mr. VanBokkelen was a native of New York city and about 64 years of age. He came to Wilmington in 1844. and for many years was a prominent and leading citizen. He was Mayor of the city in 1866. President of the Chamber of Commerce for nine years. a bank officer, one of the directors of the Wilmington & Weldon railroad. and held other positions of trust and honor. He was an active promoter of many public works, besides being largely interested in business and manufacturing enterprises. For many years he was known as the argest manufacturer of naval stores in the world, and gave a large part of his time to the successful prosecution of the Cape Fear river and bar improvements. During the war he was always present in Virginia after a battle, ministering to the wounded, and through his brother, Spencer Van Bokkelen, of New York, gave largely of his means for the comfort and care of Southern soldiers in Northern prisons. His only son, Capt. F. S. VanBokkelen, of the Third N. C. In fantry, died in hospital in Virginia. from wounds received in battle.

The erection of the Confederate monument at Oakdale was due in a great measure to his indefatigable zeal and devotion to the heroes of the Lost Cause. He was an honorary member of the association of officers of the Third North Carolina Infantry, and also of the Wilmington Light In-

A Bold Forager. Sunday's Meeting of the Adventists." Elder Gargyle preached at 11 o'clock to a crowded house, and after bor rowing all the chairs accessible in the neighborhood, -the ushers were obliged to say "we can't find room for any more." The sermon was delivered in a plain off-hand manner. and for an hour and a quarter the speaker held his audience to good attention, notwithstanding the oppressive heat incident to a packed house. At 3 p. m. Elder DuBose preached to a small but attentive audience at Brooklyn Hall.

Elder Cottrell preached at St. Stephens A. M. E. Church to a large congregation of both white and colored folks; followed at 8 p. m. by Elder Dukes. Good order and fine singing were the features noticed among the congregation.

At 8 p. m. Elder Cargyle preached again at the Second Advent church; his subject was the "Saint's Inheritance," and by many Bible texts he endeavored to prove that the "Earth renewed would be the home of the righteous;" begging any intelligent man in the audience who thought differently to give his reasons, backed by Scripture to prove his position, but no one responded.

Monday's session was taken up in the discussion of miscellaneous matters of minor importance. The Committee on Periodicals recommended the World's Crisis as an Advent paper worthy of the support of Adventists everywhere, and strongly favored the move on foot of establishing an Advent paper in one of the Southern cities.

The Committee on Publication re ported that the columns of the daily papers of the city had kindly given them space for reports and appointments, and that they had spared no ains in having all transactions of the Conference published, for which the Conference tendered them a vote of thanks. And on motion, a vote of thanks was tendered the editors of the STAR, Messenger and Review for impartially chronicling the proceed. ings and appointments of the Con« ference.

WHOLE NO. 6828

Some thief, without any regard whatever for the Sabbath preparations of church-goers. Saturday night entered the dining-room of Mr. J. W. Perdew, who lives on Seventh between Mulberry and Walnut streets, entrance being effected through the kitchen window, and literally "cleaned out" the eatables "which had been prepared for the family's Sunday Meals. Besides the cooked victuals the robber helped himself to a quantity of provisions, consisting of sugar, about a half gallon of molasses, rice, meat, etc. Traces of lightwood smoke were found in the kitchen, made by the torch which the cool-headed thief carried. The dining-room and kitchen are built on the eastern end of the house, forming what is known as an "ell," being a considerable distance from the sleeping apartment,"which is probably the reason the burglar was so daring and audacious in his operations. After successfully going through Mr. Perdew's premises, Mr. Walsh, his next-door neighbor, received a visit, and a few articles were taken.

It is not certain which house the burglar entered first, but a prop had been cut from a peach tree in the garden of Mr. Walsh which was used to hold up the window of Mr. Perdew's kitchen. It is also thought that more than one person was engaged in the robbery, judging from the quantity of provisions stolen. This is the second affair of the kind that has occurred in the neighborhood within the past two weeks, and the people are now on the alert, being fully prepared for any further attempt at foraging of this kind.

All mails will be transferred at Waycross, and the north-bound pouches will be opened and fumigated at that point. A POINT FOR DETECTIVES. The Charleston News and Courier gives an account of a book agent who came from Jacksonville and was determined to stop at Charleston. But the detectives finally persuaded him that Wilmington, N. C., was a very attractive city, the climate of which was particularly favorable to book agents, and he finally consented to allow them to put him on the northbound train. He did not go far on the north-bound train, but boarded the down train at Otranto. The authoritles were notified and he was met as the train was slowing into the depot, was arrested and held at the north end of the depot until the 12:30 train left and was sent off again. The man's name is Michael Horner. He is described as a tall, good-looking gentleman, wearing a Blaine hat and promiseuous Roman nose. A report came over the wires yesterday from Goldsboro that a young man named Wiggs, who had just ar-rived at that place from Jacksonville, Fla., was down with yellow fever. Mayor Fowler immediately telegraphed to the Mayor of Goldsboro to verify the report, and was inform ed that the only foundation for the report was that a young man recently from Jacksonville was sick with fever in the country, about three miles from town, but it was not known that he had yellow fever.

Grace M. E. Church Sunday School. At a meeting of the Tonrnament

fantry Yesterday at noon, a joint meeting of the Produce Exchange and Chamber of Commerce was held at the rooms of the Exchange, at which the following resolutions, reported by a committee consisting of Dr. A. J. De-Rosset, Col. Roger Moore and Mr. B. G. Worth, were adopted.

The members of the Chamber of Commerce and Produce Exchange in joint meeting, upon the announce-ment of the death of our associate and President, the Hon. Adrian H VanBokkelen, do hereby record their feeling of personal sorrow and their sense of public bereavement by this sad but not unexpected event.

He came from New York to this State nearly fifty years ago, and was one of the earliest and probably the largest manufacturer of naval stores in the Carolinas, contributing more than any one man towards develop ing that industry, and giving to our port the pre-eminence it long enjoy ed in that department of commerce. His whole life, since he became a member of this community in the year 1844, has been marked by constant devotion to the prosperity and progess of our city and State and his time and means have been freely and profusely given in aid of every enterprise for the public good. The great improvements of our river and harbor are monuments of his persevering energy and untiring efforts in promoting these objects during many years.

In peace and war, in prosperity and adversity, in times of health, in periods of pettilence, and in the dark days of persecution, no one who has lived among us has been more ready or more efficient in devising means for the relief of trouble and distress, more generous and self-sacrificing in works of charity, or more sympathizing in every phase of joy or sorrow which as community we have experienced His personal service and charitable works were conspicuous among our Southern soldiers, through all the years of our civil war, and to him we are indebted chiefly for the erection of the splendid work of art which adorns our beautiful Oakdale Cemeterylas a monument to our Confederate dead, whom he never failed to remember as worthy of the love and honor of our glorious Southern people, in whose cause their lives were sacrificed.

No one has ever lived among us who has been more noted than he for ardent devotion and willing help in every charge with which he has been connected as a public man or private citizen-in Church and State-or in private friendship.

Such men are rare in every community, and no citizen whose death we have been called upon to mourn for many years; past, has been better entitled to the honors which may be conferred by expressions of sorrow for his loss, or of tributes offered to his memory.

In respect to his memory, it was ordered that the rooms of the Exchange be draped in mourning for thirty days, and that members of the Exchange and Chamber of Commerce attend the funeral, which takes Services at night were conducted by Elder Sherrill, followed by Elder Cargyle. There was a large crowd and good order.

Elders Cargyle and Du-Bose will lecture at Carolina Beach this p. m. at 2 o'clock.

Elder Cargyle will preach at Myrtle Grove Sound A. C. Church at 8 p. m. this evening.

The closing services at the Second Advent Church will take place Wednesday night, after which the parting hymn will be sung and the usual form of taking the parting will be gone through with.

Delegates and visitors to the Conference are loud in their praises of the kindnesses shown them in Wilmington by both church and people.

Ticket Scalpers.

At the meeting held at the Produce Exchange yesterday afternoon, there was a brief discussion on the question of a prohibitory tax on railroad ticket scalpers. The matter was brought up by a motion offered by Mr. Wm. Calder that the meeting request the city authorities to give all protection possible to the railroads against ticket scalping. Col. W. L. DeRosset opposed this action in the matter. He had no sympathy with it. The ticket brokers were doing a legitimate business, and it was not right to tax them out of existence. He did not see where the loss came in to the railroad companies.

Col. Roger Moore seconded Mr. Calder's motion. He thought the railroad companies were entitled to protection in their efforts to induce people to travel and visit Wilmington

Mr. C. H. Robinson did not think it matter be referred to City Atwas a matter for the meeting to take the which was adopted. In making this action upon.

Remarks were made by other gentlemen present; some favoring and some opposing the motion of Mr. Calder. The latter gentleman said that it certainly was a matter that affected the business of the city and he wished to show sympathy with the railroad companies. He was willing to modify the motion, and submitted the following.
