WILMINGTON, N. C.

FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 12, 1889

WILMINGTON-ITS GROWTH, IM. PROVEMENT, PROGRESS, ADVAN-

Wilmington is a much favored place. It is most fortunately situated. Twenty-two or three miles from the ocean, lying on the Cape Fear river, with ample shipping facilities and depth of water, and with constant appropriations for the deepening of the channel, there is nothing to retard commerce or to prevent a very great expansion of trade. Commercially Wilmington holds a high vantage position. When we regard its health, its railroad to Wrightsville and the Hummocks (that is the only legitimate word), the quick connection by steamer and rail with Caroli. na Beach (only an hour's trip) and the short distance by rail to the beautiful Waccamaw Lake, with the best turnpike drive to the Sounds to be found in the South, there is much to offer to the pleasure seekers and valetudinarians.

Then there has been steady improvement all through the last thirteen or fourteen years. There has been no spasm, no boom, no sudden jumping into great prosperity, but there has been certain, steady, unaistakable progress. There is no error here.

This writer began work in Wilmington as an editor in 1876. He was in the habit of walking much in 1876-7, for exercise. He learned to know most of the houses on most of the chief streets. Year after year he saw steady, sure improvement. Residences were going up here and there all the time. Old houses were being remodelled and improved. Stores and other buildings in the business part of the city were being remoddelled or erected. And so progress and growth went on. The disastrous fire of three years ago came and then a fresh impulse was given and a new life be-

The STAB for nearly twenty-two years has been a factor in this good work. It has not created "a boom," but it has steadily helped in that direction. It has not blowed over the growth or its own achievements. It advocated such changes and improvements as it thought were needed and beneficial. The fact remains that Wilmington has grown, has improved, has become a comparatively wellbuilt and attractive little city. Said an educated gentleman recently to us from an upper town that flourishes: "I had no idea that Wilmington was so handsome and pleasant a city. Its churches are indeed a great ornament and are impressively handsome." We walk or ride around the town to-day and we can point to this house work on the STAR in 1876. Each year has seen additions and improvements. The walks are better, but they might be improved. The streets are paved where there was mud or sand, but much remains to be done. They can still be improved. Then the street railway, the electric lights, the water works, the increase and improvement in the fire department all show marked advance and give hope of yet farther strides in the way of development.

Then we have secured the railroad to the Sound, thus offering advantages that only Wilmingtonians can appreciate. With this road comes the Military Encampment every year. The easy accessibleness of Carolina Beach, a very pleasant health resort but twelve miles from town by rail and steamer, and which is being improved every year, increases the attractions.

Then the early completion of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Rail road enlarges the commercial prospect and gives assurance that soon our merchants will be supplying sections of Western Carolina with their groceries, dry goods, hardware, &c. With the extension to Fayetteville there must come a much larger trade for Wilmington. People who trade with Knoxville, Tenn., must find their way to the chief entrepot in their own State. When the road shall be extended beyond the State and connection is made with the Ohio river, then we may expect a great increase in business.

Then we are soon to have another important railroad connection. The Wilmington and Onslow railroad 18 "fixed fact." It will be built, and soon. This opens up a most extensive lumber business and a promise of a large development of the fish and oyster industries. Then the road will go on and on no doubt, until a Northern line is complete. All this bodes well for Wilmington. We rejoice in the prospect. Year after year the STAR did what it could to secure this road. At the time when Col. Pardee addressed the people here upon the importance of smaller industries and a railroad to Onslow we improved the occasion, as our files show, by writing a number of edit orials urging the construction of this road, and showing its advantages. This was some four years ago. When you examine into the records, which alone tell the truth, you will find that the STAR has never neglected any important matter that concerns Wilmington. It is so in regard to the completion and extension of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad. This writer has written more than a dozen columns on this interesting and important question. It is being built. The STAR did all it could to bring this about.

The STAR has for several years endeavored to secure a free bridge for Brunswick river, and a steam ferry for the Cape Fear. It has had many editorials on the subject urging their utility and necessity. After a while it will be done. The STAR's efforts will be forgotten and some new hand claim all the credit. So the Boulevard for Fifth Street. When that widest streets has been beautified upon the plan so often urged by us, and with nice, little, attractive parks between the intersecting streets, with trees and seats and fountains and flowers, then the editor of that day will sharpen his Faber and tell how he did it. St. Paul was careful not to magnify his office by reaping where ethers had planted. The STAR will continue on the same line of quiet, earnest, intelligent labor for Wilmington's prosperity. A gentleman from another State, with much Northern correspondence and acquaintance, tells us that in travelling and correspondence he hears a great deal more said of Wilmington now than five years ago. He says the Northern people are learning more and more of Wilmington's commercial advantages. Now that our people have taken steps to invite manufacturers and to give them very material aid, we may exhas essayed to do its duty. It has the smaller manufacturing industries, and it to be hoped that the larger ones may be planted here also. Wilmington has good schools, has sufficient hotel accommodation at present, and is on a fair way to greater importance as a seaport for North Carolina. A more generous recognition of its importance on the part of the people at large, and a broader appreciation on the part of the Legislature, would contribute very greatly to giving a sharper impetus to the growth, prosperity and portance of the chief city in the erected or that house enlarged or State. It is at present as well sup-patronage justifies. It may have a paper yet as costly as the Savannah News (more than $125,000 a year), but not now. As the town grows the papers will flourish.

Wilmington had in 1880 about 17, 500 inhabitants. It is believed to have now not less than 21,000 or 22, 000. Some few even think it more, but we do not. It has a lower deathrate among the whites than any city on the Atlantic coast from New Jersey to the Gulf of Mexico. It has forty or fifty churches, a Young Men's Christian Association, hospitals, a seamen's home, two cotton presses, many saw-mills, and several manufacturing establishments. A hearty, united pull together will help the town. Let us all work for Wilmington. It offers many advantages to the capitalist. Come and see.

The foolishness of Arctic exploration has had another illustration in the almost fatal termination of the English Lord Lonsdales's attempted overland trip to the North pole. He has had enough of the folly and will hasten home as soon as his health will permit. But there will soon be some other adventurer to attempt the impossible and to swell the list of unfortunates. Folly seems im-

The Alabama negroes are aggrieved. The few scalawags and Northern Rads in that State have held a meet ing and seem disposed to ignore Cuffee and get along without him. But this is "intolerable and not to be endured." So the negroes held a jawbation of their own and resolved to send a committee to Washington to tell the new President of their treatment, and to point to the fact that the negroes are the Republican party in Alabama, and that without them there is no such thing. They assert that the white Rads constitute but a beggarly 1 per cent. of the party in that State. Very bad! By the way, not one Protection Democrat was on hand in either body. Worse and worse.

Col. J. C. Hemphill becomes the manager of the News and Courier by the action of the Board of Directors. He bas been for many years the chief writer on this able paper. He is a gentleman of fine talents and is a Southern Democrat. We suppose that he is a native of South Carolina. The stockholders are fortunate in their selection.

On the 7th inst. the Boulangists secured a victory that gives them no little joy and may prove of immense advantage to them. The leaders of the League were tried before the Correctional Tribunal, and much to the surprise and dismay of the Government they were virtually acquitted. It is said to have been a great surprise to the Government and was like a thunder clap in a clear sky. A Paris dispatch to the Boston Post says :

"The government demanded that the ac-cused leaders of the Boulangist party should be sentenced to two years' imprisonment, and, what was more important still, have all their civil rights interdicted for five years. Instead of this, Mequet, Laguerre, Laisant, Turquet, Deroulede, Pickarnd and Gallian were let off with a trivial fine of $20 apiece, When the president of the court pronounced this sentence yesterday at 1.30, every man in the court-room jumped to his feet, and a shout of "Vive Boulanger!" rang above all the din. The acquitter Deputies hurried out and turned toward the Cafe Bacque, No. 2 Rue Deshalles, followed by a vast crowd, howling Boulanger's name like mad. All the government organs are uneasy over the verdict. It has increased the prestige of the General."

CURRENT COMMENT.

- But if the President's hesitation and his party's sudden silence, indicates that they have really arrive ed at some appreciation of the grave difficulties in the way of creating novel relations for the South and its colored population toward the rest of the country, it is a subject for congratulation. The constitution and the laws, as administered by a Republican Supreme Court, have settled the relations of the Southern States to the Executive. They are precisely like those of the Northern States. - N. Y. Star. Dem. - Ballot reform is making marked progress in nearly every State in the Union. Where laws have not been already passed, and where bills are not pending in the pect a very speedy development of Legislatures, the question is under discussion, and the people everywhere are taking great interest in the efforts made to throttle corruption at the ballot box. The danger to free institutions lurking in the machinations of politicians is fully appreciated, and the public in general is giving a cordial welcome to the advent of the Australalian ballot reform.-

Baltimore American Rep. Here are a half dozen important industries. In all of them Mr. Tauseig traces the operation of the same principle, namely, that where American ingenuity in labor-saving processes can be fairly applied the industry has prospered to a point where prices are kept approximately as low as abroad. In cases where this has as yet been impracticable the that one transformed since we began plied with newspapers, as the actual result has been the contrary. It will be seen that this statement does not at all sustain the modern theory of indiscriminate protection. It is directly contrary to the notion that prevails throughout the Senate tariff bill, as it has throughout all protectionist legislation of late years: that the more difficult and costly a product is in this country the more it should be "protected," while it flatly contradicts and condemns such duties as those proposed on tin plates for the purposes of establishing an industry that has been shown to be mer. - N. Y. Times, Ind. Kep.

-- Let the tyrant man fix his eye on the State of Kansas and view with alarm, while the ladies point with pride, to the progressive development of woman suffrage. Time was in Kansas when the cocktail was considered as a thing as popular and necessary to the affairs of men as the frontier revolver; but it comes to pass that Kansas has a most advanced school of reform in the town where the municipality consists of a unanimous council of ladies as city fathere, and a Mayor, Minnie Moyan by name, who is Burgomaster-no, we mean Mayoress. Police ladies and sheriffesses, lady attorneys and female detectives all contribute to the harmonious effect of this most beautiful happy family.-Richmond Times, Dem.

The export trade of the United States, which amounted to $316,000, 000 in 1860, has more than doubled since that year; but in the twentyeight years the improvement in our trade with the southern Republics has been only about one-half of one

> The Big Circulated Papers. Jackson (Mich.) Patriot.

Rowell's Printers' Ink says there are only six papers in the country today having each a circulation exceeding 100,000 copies daily. They are the Chicago News, the Boston Globe and the Boston Herald, the New York News, and the New York World, and the Philadelphia Record. Only one of these-the Record-is an exclusively morning paper; onethe New York News-is an evening paper; while four - the Boston Globe and the Herald, and the New York World and the Chicago News print both morning and evening editions. And, what is quite remarksble, not one of these widely circulated journals support the Republican party, and all advocate Tariff Reform on the lines laid down in President Cleveland's celebrated messages to

How a Murderer Got Off.

Cameron (Mo.) Observer. The absurdity of the law of this State which relates to persons charged with murder and pleading insanity is again illustrated. A few days ago Henry Ammel was tried for the brutal murder of his mother-in-law. He was acquitted on the testimony of "experts," which convinced the jury that he was insane. Under the law he was ordered to be sent to the insane asylum. But while awaiting transfer to that institution he was ex-Atwood, and pronounced perfectly sane. Under the circumstances there was nothing to do but to turn him loose and this was done.

OUR STATE CONTEMPORARIES.

Many of our farmers try to cultivate too much land. The aim should be not to plant a large lot of land, but to plant land that is well prepared and made fertile, with the view of raising a good crop on what is planted.— Washington Progress.

Let a few thousand negroes go and it will force the white man to cultivate his own farm and learn economy. It may prove a blessing to North Carolina by solving the negro problem and give the white men entire control of the negro counties.— Shelby Aurora.

John Wansmaker, with all his wealth and gratified ambition, reclines upon anybut a downy pillow. Having put target for every shaft, and his record is made to present a not always welcome picture. While enjoying the pleasures of position, he is paying the usual penalty.— Oxford Orphans' Friend.

Report had gone forth that President Harrison was looking out for a man to represent the country at the Court of St. James who should be "a man of the culture and literary ability of Mr. Motley and Mr. Lowell, a statesman the equal of Charles Francis Adams; a good lawyer, and of sufficient wealth to be able to entertain with splendor," According to our mind we think it would be looking in vain to find an individual to fill this high standard among living men in the United States: but we were not prepared to accept Mr. Robert Lincoln as an illustration of President Harrison's ideal diplomat to fill, a position to which his grandfather had appointed the scholarly, dignified, graceful and courteous Edward Everett.—Danbury Reporter.

Mr. Hewitt's advice is, "Come South, young man."-Wilmington Star. It depends upon conditions. The undeveloped agricultural, milling and mining resources of the South, -particularly of North Carolina, -are richer and greater than may be found in any other part of the world of the same territory. If a young man has some capital and business capacity he can find golden fields for investment in the South. If he has no capital, the very best thing he can do is to stay right where he is. Energy without capital will prove as fruitful under the condition which surround him, as i would under any conditions he may find elsewhere. After securing capital, the South is his great vantage ground.-Ra leigh Recorder
