There was an important business meeting of the congregation of the First Baptist Church held last night. It was largely attended, and much enthusiasm prevailed. The object of the meeting was to raise money to build a lecture room and buy a new organ for the church. The lecture room will cost five thousand dollars, and the organ three thousand. Two thousand dollars had already been raised, and last night five thousand dollars additional was subscribed, making in all seven thousand dollars. There only remains one thousand to be raised, which will undoubtedly be done very soon.

The organ will be ordered immediately and will be a beautiful one. It is proposed to place it in the rear of the pulpit. The Lecture Room will be built in the rear of the Church, fronting on Fifth street, and will be commenced at a very early day. It will be most comfortably arranged and will be a great convenience to the congregation.
