OUTLINES

A great Catholic celebration will begin in Baltimore to-day—the hundredth birthday of the Catholic Hierarchy, a large number of church dignitaries and priests are present, and the city is filled with visitors.

The machinery of the new State of Montana was put in motion yesterday, by the swearing in of the Governor and Judges, the Legislature will convene in a few days for the election of United States Senators.

There is some talk in North Carolina about largely increasing the public school fund. We do not believe the white tax-payers favor any material increase so long as the money is apportioned as it now is between the whites and negroes.

According to the way the Republicans have Iowa gerrymandered it is said it would take a majority of 50,000 to capture the Legislature.

A wag remarks that the new postage stamps which are smaller than the old ones will carry just as much weight and go just as far.

We are not surprised at Billy Mahone's not reading the papers. He doesn't want to know what the respectable people of Virginia think of him; but he always knows after an election.

This was a good year for Democratic Boies in Iowa.

We have never discovered that there was anything specially Mummy or "extra dry" about a good brand of champagne.

A prominent Republican in Boston, speaking of the Australian ballot system, humorously remarked, "If you leave a man alone with his God and his pencil there is no telling how he will vote."

The Asheville Citizen notes the fact that of all the daily papers in this State in 1874, the Wilmington Star is the only one which survives under its original name, and it might have been added under its original management.

OUR FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Its Facilities for Fighting Fire Compared with Those of Other Southern Towns.

The Fire Department of Wilmington compares favorably with that of other cities in the South, in apparatus used, in efficiency, and in cost to tax-payers.

The plant of the Clarendon Water Works Company, from which this department receives its supply, consists of three Worthington Duplex Pumping Engines—one compound—with a combined daily capacity of 20 horsepower.

The ordinary pressure maintained at the works is 48 pounds, but in case of fire this is increased to 100 to 125 pounds by shutting off the stand-pipe and pumping into the mains, the works being of the type known as the combined stand-pipe and direct pressure system.

The total value of commodities imported at this port from foreign countries during the month of October last, as compiled from the books at the Custom House, is $47,833, of which articles of the value of $17,149 were dutiable, and articles of the value of $30,683 were free of duty.

The dutiable goods were as follows: Bituminous coal, 110 tons, valued at $380.

Cotton ties, 448,000 pounds—valued at $3,197. Earthenware and crockery, plain—valued at $5,851; decorated—valued at $584.

Montgomery, Ala., has an estimated population of 45,000, and has a paid fire department with 11 horses, 2 steam fire engines, a hook and ladder truck, 3 hose carriages with 3,000 feet of hose.

Montgomery, Ala., owns its water works with a capacity of 4,400,000 gallons daily. It has 117 hydrants, nine miles of mains, a varying pressure of from 45 to 110 pounds.

Augusta gets her water supply from the river, pumping into a stand-pipe of 5,000,000 gallons capacity. There are 248 hydrants and 30 miles of mains, with a pressure of from 85 to 60 pounds.

A New Dodge to Scoop in the Unwary. When you see a man with a serap of white thread on his shoulder or coat sleeve don't follow your natural impulse and pluck it off, but, like Br'er Rabbit, "lay low and say nuffin."

The fun begins just as soon as somebody sees that bit of thread. There is an irresistible temptation about it that not one woman or man out of ten can withstand.
