A general rain has fallen in sections south of the Arkansas and east of the Mississippi rivers. Light snow has fallen over the Lakes and in the Northwest States. This is the jolliest sort of weather for the croakers. It is a little late in the season, but there is yet time, if they improve the opportunity, to kill the strawberry crop, the peach, apple and pear crop, and every other crop that depends upon a moist and warm earth with an abundance of sunshine to bring it to maturity. Already, in their judgment, all the crops we have named are thoroughly ruined, and our fear is now that they will destroy with their iconolastic predictions, all our hopes regard-
