OUTLINES.

Mr. Blair made another three hours' speech in the Senate, yesterday, on his Educational bill, and gave notice that he would occupy two days more in presenting his views; the census bill relative to the collection of information as to farm mortgages was discussed; the bill providing a territorial government for Oklahoma was considered in the House, and a good deal of other business done, but nothing of an important character. — Three incendiary fires have recently occurred in the town of Rocky Mount, in this State, and the people are greatly excited. — Count Andrassy, the well-known Hungarian statesman, died at Veleca, yesterday, aged sixty-seven years. — About one hundred of the fourteen hundred strikers of Nashua, N. H., went to work yesterday. — Mrs. Levall, who was shot by her husband, in Charleston, has died from her injuries. Mr. Feldermann, her uncle, who was also shot, will probably recover. — The Senate has ratified the British extradition treaty. — Further strikes of miners in England and France are reported. — The celebration of Mardi Gras in New Orleans, yesterday, exceeded in brilliancy any former event of the kind; the city is crowded with visitors from all parts of the country. — Three business houses in Baltimore filed deeds of trust yesterday for the benefit of their creditors. — All of the citizens arrested at Sharon, Ga., charged with intimidating postmaster Duckworth, have been released on bail for trial in August. — A fifty thousand dollar fire occurred in Newark, N. J., yesterday, during which a lady lost her life. — There is considerable trouble among the leather workers at Woburn, Mass., and all of the factories have determined to close down until the men accede to the terms; this will throw fifteen hundred men out of employment. — New York markets: Money easy at 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 per cent; cotton quiet and steady, with sales of 137 bales; middling uplands 11 1/2 cents; middling Orleans 11 1/2 cents; southern flour quiet; common to fair extra $2 15 to $2 60; wheat steady and quiet; No. 2 red 84 1/2 to 84 3/4 cents at elevator; corn weaker and moderately active; No. 2, 34 1/2 to 34 3/4 cents at elevator; rosin firm; spirits turpentine firm and quiet at 44 to 44 1/2 cents.

The Newton Enterprise, one of the best of our weekly exchanges, has entered upon its twelfth volume, with a bright outlook for its future. — Mr. Ingalls had better look after that race racket in the Grand Army posts of the South. It is getting all split up on the negro question and his attention is earnestly solicited at once, if not sooner. — New Hampshire is said to receive annually from summer boarders $3,000,000, and Maine $6,000,000. If it wasn't for these summer boarders New Hampshire and Maine would both be in the poor house. — In Rhode Island the Governor's clerk is a bigger man than the Governor. They pay the Governor a salary of $1,000 a year, and his clerk $1,200. The clerk probably runs the State, while the Governor puts on the scallops and plays the dignity part. — Wyoming and Idaho, are both asking for admission as States, and as they promise to be nice Republican States, the Republicans are in favor of admitting them. When it comes to making Senators and Representatives the Solons don't stand much on ceremony nor on law either. — The esteemed Philadelphia Inquirer remarks that "there is a curious similarity between the treatment of obnoxious persons in Siberia and our Southern States." Our contemporary is clear off the track. In Siberia they are put to hard work, in the South they are appointed to office and fed at the public crib.

What need is there for Federal election laws for the South when a Republican Committee can settle the question as to who shall have a seat in Congress? The committee plan is the best that has yet been tried to beat Democrats. They can dispense with the election machinery altogether. — Some wild west kidnappers laid a trap to catch ex-Senator Tabor, of Colorado, and hold him for a $50,000 ransom, but it was exposed and they slipped up. If they got Tabor and one of his $250 frilled night shirts, and there was any prospect of his going back to the Senate again, this country could afford to pay them $100,000 to keep him.

The following, from the Progressive Farmer, is reproduced without the knowledge of our associate, Maj. Duffy, who will read it for the first time this morning. We have heard him on the hustings, and we fully endorse the compliment: "Several of our exchanges have lately discussed the question: 'Have we any good orators among the newspaper men of North Carolina?' Their conclusion is that we have some very able speakers. What about Maj. P. F. Duffy, the accomplished editor of the Wilmington STAR? A distinguished citizen of this State, speaking of this matter in our office last week, said that, in his opinion, Maj. Duffy is one of the most orate and elegant orators connected with the State press. The Progressive Farmer takes pleasure in endorsing every word of the above, and will add that the remark applies not only to the press of the State, but to the whole list of the public speakers of the State."

Western Congressmen are coming to the conclusion that the clerks in the Departments at Washington have entirely too soft a snap, and it is proposed to have the hours of labor increased to eight hours a day. They seem to be under the impression that these clerks ought to earn their money, a conviction which has not generally prevailed in the Departments under Republican administrations. The Departments are cosy places to stow away the friends, relatives, dependents and proteges of party magnates. They are not expected to do much work. — A bill has been introduced in the Kentucky legislature providing for the punishment of circus men who fail to perform according to the bills. Henceforth when the flaming colored posters are posted up and the sovereign Kentuckian contemplates them with ravishing delight he will know just what he is going to get when he pays his money or that circus man will come to grief. — It was a Philadelphia woman, not a Chicago woman, who sent a petition to the Emperor of China asking him to put a stop to the foot-binding of females in the Celestial empire. If the Emperor had ever seen a Chicago foot he never would have paid any attention to such a petition, for the possibility of Chinese women's feet growing to the Chicago size would have scared him.

Mr. Blaine is in favor of taking off the tariff tax on raw sugars, which yields the government $50,000,000 of revenue, to encourage commerce with the Central and South American countries, but proposes to let it remain on refined sugars for the benefit of refiners, who will still have a monopoly of the sugar business. — There are in the State of Illinois over 1,000,000 acres of land owned by aliens. Under a recent law of that State they must become citizens by the 1st of July, when the law goes into effect, to retain possession of it. As there is some doubt about the constitutionality of such a law it will make work for the lawyers. — North Dakota is proving her claim to be classed as a good Republican State. Her legislators are about to be investigated on charges of bribery in that lottery business.

One of the Prettiest. Lenoir Topic. — One of the prettiest papers in the State is the Wilmington STAR, which has lately invested in a fine, new outfit of type. It loses nothing of its brightness and interest, but is one of the most thorough papers in the State.

Death of the Father of Dr. T. H. Pritchard. Rev. Joseph Price Pritchard, father of Dr. T. H. Pritchard of this city, died Friday night, the 11th inst., in Crockett, Texas. He was born in Charleston, S. C., April 12th, 1808, and hence would have been 84 years old next April. He married Eliza, the daughter of Dr. Samuel Henderson, of Charlotte, and resided in that place for many years, having been captain of an artillery company there, and the first captain of the famous Charlotte Independent Grays. He afterwards resided in Mocksville, Davie county, and in 1855 removed to Houston county, Texas, where he has lived ever since. He had been ill for the past two months, and for some weeks his life had been despaired of. He was a preacher of the Gospel for fifty-two years. He leaves six children and thirty-six grandchildren.

Referring to the article recently published about the house just completed on Fourth street, between Dock and Orange, I will say that it was a mistake about has only supervised its completion since the death of Henry D. Sampson. The working drawings were made by Joseph Ransley from plans and elevations designed by W. W. Holladay.

Meeting of the Association With the Woman's Auxiliary—Delegates to the State Convention.

The meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary and the Y. M. C. Association last night at the rooms of the Association was well attended. — After devotional exercises conducted by Rev. W. S. Creasy, the business of the meeting was taken up and reports were submitted by some of the committees. The Membership Committee presented forty-nine applications for membership, and all the applicants were received into the Association. — Delegates to the State Convention of the Y. M. C. A., which meets at Goldsboro, were then elected, as follows: D. G. Worth, R. W. Hicks, Roger Moore, W. M. Little, B. F. Hall, P. B. Manning, H. C. McQueen, W. M. Cumming, C. C. Brown, W. H. Denial of the Rumor That the Place of Encampment Would be Changed. — Ex-Lieut. Gov. Stedman, who has just returned from Raleigh, tells us that he had an interview with his Excellency, Gov. Fowie, with regard to the military Encampment this summer. Gov. Fowie stated that he had received a letter from a gentleman in Wilmington in which it was stated that there was a rumor that the place of encampment would be changed. The Governor said that he was at a loss to understand how such unfounded reports could get abroad; that no one had made any suggestion to him as to a change, and under the circumstances, he should not entertain such a suggestion if made. So this is the end of this idle rumor.

Gov. Fowie said that he expected, of course, that the balance of the money which had been promised by the citizens of Wilmington for the Encampment

DR. WM. GEO. THOMAS.

Death of One of Wilmington's Most Prominent Physicians—The End of a Long Life of Usefulness and Honor.

Seldom have we witnessed as much feeling displayed by our people, and of all conditions in life, as was exhibited in this city yesterday afternoon when the startling announcement was made that Dr. William George Thomas was dead. Not that it was altogether unexpected, for his critical condition was known, but it was hoped that his vigorous constitution and the care and attention of skillful physicians and friends would enable him to triumph over the disease. But it was not so to be, and the strong man, who but a week ago was seen upon our streets in the vigor of health, and greeting friends and acquaintances with his kindly smile, has passed from us forever. Well may we exclaim: "What shadows we are and what shadows we pursue." — Dr. Thomas was born in Louisburg, N. C., about the year 1818, and was seventy-two years old. After receiving his diploma he removed to Tarboro, where he married, but in 1851 he made Wilmington his home and has resided here since that time. He almost immediately sprang into a large and lucrative practice here, which he retained during his long and active life. He was a successful practitioner, a man of science and of progress, not wedded to old theories, but always ready to take advantage of improvements in the practice of his profession which his knowledge and experience approved. He was a true man, a manly man; one who had the courage of his convictions; and he practiced no concealments of any kind. He was in the fullest sense of the word a family physician, for his genial manners, his amiability and bonhomie, endeared him to every member of the household, and they gave him their entire confidence and affection. — During the yellow fever epidemic of 1852 he remained at his post and was untiring in his efforts to relieve those afflicted with that terrible disease until stricken down himself, when he was compelled to leave Wilmington; but so soon as his health was restored, he was again at his post of duty. He was kind hearted, sympathetic, feeling the sorrow of his friends as though they were his own, and always ready to assist those who were needy and suffering. He was a communicant of St. James' Church, and at the time of his death was an active member of the vestry and had been for years. — The death of such a man is a loss to the community and creates a vacuum which it will be difficult to fill. He will be greatly missed, and although he had passed the allotted period of man's existence on earth, yet his splendid physique encouraged the hope that he had a great many years of usefulness before him, for his eye was not dim, nor his natural force abated. But God knows what is best, and our duty is simply obedience to his will.

A VETERAN HUNTER.

John G. Wagner, the Noted "Deerslayer" of Masonboro—Nine Deer in one Day. — Mr. John G. Wagner, of Masonboro, was in the city yesterday. He brought in three deer skins which he had tanned for Mr. Samuel Bear, Sr., and his skill in this work was highly complimented. But "Squire Wagner" is skilled in another way. He is a veritable "Deerslayer," and many an "antlered monarch" and timid doe "with soft black eye" have fallen before his deadly gun. He and the late Richard Beasley once killed nine deer in a day's hunt; but this was many years ago, and the veteran hunter sighs when he tells you that "hunting now isn't what it used to be." But it has not been uncommon for our "Deerslayer" to kill two deer in one "drive" during the past few years, and all within a few miles of his present home on Masonboro Sound. Old "Rover," his favorite dog, is dead; but he has two of his offspring "with ears that sweep away the morning dew," and whose "tongues are matched like bells each under each." The field editor of the STAR will not fail to accept "Squire Wagner's" invitation to join him in "the chase" when the deer season again opens.

N. C. STATE GUARD.

Denial of the Rumor That the Place of Encampment Would be Changed. — Ex-Lieut. Gov. Stedman, who has just returned from Raleigh, tells us that he had an interview with his Excellency, Gov. Fowie, with regard to the military Encampment this summer. Gov. Fowie stated that he had received a letter from a gentleman in Wilmington in which it was stated that there was a rumor that the place of encampment would be changed. The Governor said that he was at a loss to understand how such unfounded reports could get abroad; that no one had made any suggestion to him as to a change, and under the circumstances, he should not entertain such a suggestion if made. So this is the end of this idle rumor.

Gov. Fowie said that he expected, of course, that the balance of the money which had been promised by the citizens of Wilmington for the Encampment would be furnished. The money is needed to put the grounds in proper order. Gov. Fowie has certainly shown the kindest feeling to our people in all matters relating to the Encampment.

A Bold Thief.

Last Sunday, between 5 and 6 o'clock, a sneak thief entered the room of Mr. C. J. Terrell, train dispatcher of the Carolina Central, in the building of the company on North Front street, and walked off with all of Mr. Terrell's clothes that he could lay his hands on. The thief was seen by a colored woman on the premises as he entered the building, but as he was a decently appearing white man, she suspected nothing. He dressed himself in Mr. Terrell's best suit, and walked out with a bundle under his arm containing the rest of the effects in the room which took his fancy. The police were notified of the robbery, and found some of the stolen articles in the possession of parties to whom he had sold them for trifling sums; but the robber has not yet been caught.

Mayor's Court.

In this Court yesterday morning, the parties arrested for creating a disturbance Sunday night at the Front Street Mission Church were arraigned. It appeared from the evidence that a young white man named Piner was assaulted by some colored youths who struck Piner on the head with a brick-bat, and his companions carried him into the basement of the church. George Bounds, Wm. Bounds and Ed. Broadhurst, colored boys engaged in the affray, were each fined $10 and costs, and in default were locked up. Samuel Minor, colored, disorderly, was fined $5 and costs. Alfred Lutweiler, charged with selling liquor on Sunday. Case continued until this morning.

Weather Forecasts.

The following are the forecasts for today: For Virginia, fair weather, winds shifting to colder northerly, and cold wave. For North Carolina, fair weather, variable winds, colder in northwest portions, colder Thursday morning in southeast, cold wave.
