Arrangements for the Entertainment of the Fayetteville Light Infantry by the W. L. I.

Sergeant E. L. Pemberton, of the Fayetteville Independent Company, came down with the officials of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad yesterday afternoon; the object of his visit being to complete the arrangements for the joint target shooting of his company and the Wilmington Light Infantry,

The Independent Company will leave Fayetteville next Monday at 8 o'clock in the morning, and will arrive here about half-past 11. They will be met at the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley wharf by the Wilmington Light Infantry and all will go to the Sound immediately, where the target practice will be held.

An oyster roast will be given to the Favetteville boys by the Wilmington Light Infantry while at the Sound, and as soon as the target shooting is over all will return to Wilmington, where the Independent Company will spend a short while, leaving for Fayetteville about 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Fayetteville Company will bring about thirty-five men, and will be received here most cordially, for they are not only great favorites with the Wilmington Light Infantry, but also with our citizens generally. The Independent Company will run an excursion on this occasion, and a large number of visitors will accompany them; quite a crowd of ladies is coming from Fayetteville, besides many from different points on the road.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION.

Street Parade, Collation and Ball by Howard Relief Fire Engine Co. No. 1. The time-honored Howard Relief

Fire Engine Company made a gallant display yesterday in their parade through the streets of the city in honor of the thirty-fourth anniversary of the Company. Their engine glistened in the sunlight like burnished gold and silver, and with the hose reel was garlanded with wreaths of roses and other choice flowers in bewildering profusion. The procession started from the Company's hall on Fourth street, and followed the line of march as published in the STAR. It was preceded by Germania Cornet Band in full uniform, and the honorary members of the Company in citizens' dress, the active members following in their neat new uniforms, and the beautifully decorated engine and hose reel bringing up the rear. After the parade the Company returned to their engine house, where a collation was spread in the hall for the Company and invited quests. The festivities wound up last night with a grand ball at Adrian Hall, which was attended by a large number of ladies and gentlemen.

A. Lintwiller, charged with selling liquor on Sunday, waived examination and was recognized for his appearance at the Criminal Court.

Sam. Collins, colored, charged with the larceny of a watch from a colored man named George Simpson, was remanded for further examination. Later in the day a colored man employed on a dredge boat called at the City Hall with Simpson's watch, which he said he had bought from a colored boy named Coutler. A warrant for the arrest of the latter had already been issued but the police were unable to find him.

Funeral of Dr. W. G. Thomas.

The funeral of the late Dr. W. G. Thomas took place yesterday forenoon from the residence of the deceased on Market street, the services being held at the grave in Oakdale cemetery. The funeral cortege was one of the largest ever seen in this city. The New Hanover Medical Society and the Vestry of St. James Church were among the attendants. The pall-bearers were Colonel W. C. Jones, Mr. R. N. Sweet, Capt. Jno. T. Rankin, Mr. E. S. Martin, Capt. W. R. Kenan, Mr. Fred. Kidder and Capt. Ino. H. Daniel. Honorary pall bearers were Dr. A. J. DeRosset, Mr. Donald MacRae, Hon. George Davis.

The services were conducted by Rev. Robert Strange, rector of St. James' Church and Bishop Watson, of the Diocese of East Carolina.

Messrs. Brown & Lowndes, bankers of Baltimore, have closed out the entire issue of $850,000 firs' mortgage 6 per cent. gold bonds, series C, of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad Company. IMPORTED has been well paid his profits have been large for the produce he has shipped to early markets. Consequently when the product in Maryland comes in, the prices are down, and we are compelled to sell in competition with the Southern product. The Southern farmer therefore, can realize on his early shipments and after it does not pay to ship the surplus can be utilized for canning purposes. In Maryland we have thousands of farmers who plant their crops for this purpose alone. They can their own crop-or one will perhaps buy up his neighbors' LEAVE YOU and at the close of the season they have a thousand or two dollars to add to the profits of their farm account. Because the Southern trucker has already realized a profit, is no reason why he should abandon his surplus. It feb 18 tf would give employment to numbers of persons during the canning season. A farm hand can learn the process in one day, as no previous knowledge is necessary, I have had numerous enquiries from persons who wished to start a pickling factory; some in a large way, others in a small way, For $25 one can start a pickling business that would keep several persons busy during the pickling season. It would pay to combine the canning business with that of pickling, as the same outfit will can fruit, vegetables, oysters and fish, besides answer for the pickling business. An outfit that will can 2,000 three-pound cans per day will cost complete, only $150; 5,000 threepound cans per day will cost complete, $225. The price of cans, three-pound, is $2.40, and two-pound. $1.80 per hundred. For pickles, the bottles can be had very cheap. They can also be put up in barrels and kegs in bulk; but put up in bottles, nicely labelled, they meet with ready sale at paying prices. Canning outfits can be put up by the most unexperienced persons, and used with or without steam power. If a person already has steam power, he can utilize it, if not, the kettles can be set in brick, the same as sugar boilers.

The pickle business can be conducted on a small scale by the lady folks -from whom I have received quite a number of letters-it would give them something to do, and they could earn something for themselves,

The canning and pickling business is a clean and profitable one; nothing disagreeable about it. As so little money is required to make a start, and the profit connected with it is large, it is surprising that so little attention is paid to the business.

I will take great pleasure in giving all information I can to your readers, but would recommend them to write to Messrs. A. K. Robins & Co., No. 724 last Pratt street Baltimore, Md., who
