sition. But in all his senatorial career, it is a little remarkable that he has never manifested so much brotherly interest by taking up contribugions for suffering white folks.

Illinois has a compulsory school law which don't seem to be panning out much better than some of the prohibition laws in the breezy wild west. Last year notwithstanding the penalty attached, there were 367,000 persons of school age who didn't go to school. It cost Chicago $20,000 to look after the enforcement of the law in that town, and thus far the advocates of the law have failed to discover any benefits from it.

The N. Y. Commercial Advertiser says the theory was advanced long ago that Henry W. Blair, United States Senator from New Hampshire, is actually insane, in a mild and inoffensive form. No, indeed. He is violently insane. Any man who would deliberately perpetrate such a speech as he did on his brother Senators and a long suffering country must be very insane.

THE FAYETTEVILLE INDEPENDENT COMPANY'S VISIT TO WILMINGTON. A Hearty Reception From the W. L. I. Trip to the Hammocks-Target Practice-The Prizes and the Winners-Oyster Roast-A Pleasant Occasion.

The offices and wharves of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley railroad, at the foot of Mulberry street, were thronged with people vesterday forenoon awaiting the arrival of the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry and the party of excursionists accompanying them from that city and stations along the line of the new extension of the road. The excursion train was expected at 11.30 à. m. but did not reach here until after twelve a. m.

Lieut. Cronly and Sergt. Walker Taylor, of the W. L. I., met the visiting military at Point Peter, and upon the arrival of the transfer steamer on this side of the river, the Fayetteville Company disembarked and were received with due honors by the W. L. I., under command

The Fayetteville Company numbered twenty-six, under command of First Capt. John Vann. The battalion was formed with the W. L. I. on the right and marched up Mulberry to Front street, from Front to Market and up Market to the residence of Col. Jno. L. Cantwell on Princess street near the Seacoast railroad depot, where a lunch had been prepared by lady friends of the Wilmington Company. After the repast, the boys gave three hearty cheers for the ladies, three for Colonel Cantwell and three more for the Fayetteville and Wilmington companies, and the column then took up the line of march for the depot. where the battalion boarded cars in waiting for the Hammocks, where the target practice was to take

A POSTPONEMENT.

Miss Adele Frost's Engagement-Postponement until Thursday Night.

Miss Adele Frost and her entire company are in the city, but Miss Frost has recently been a victim to a very severe cold, and her voice is not in the best condition, so her management have deemed it advisable to let her rest three days, and instead of opening last night as advertised, she will begin the engagement here on Thursday evening, as Parthenia, in "Ingomar." In this role she has won the highest praise. The

- A subscriber at Wilson discon tinued the STAR February 19. February 22 he wrote as follows: "You may send the DAILY STAR again; I cannot do without it." There are no tears to shed over such a discontinuance as that. - Mr. E. H. Sneed, who has been heretofore interested in the business of the Knoxville Furniture Company in this city, has bought the entire interest of that Company and will continue the business under the firm name of E. H Sneed & Co.

- The time of the evening lecture services at St. Paul's Episcopal Church has been changed to 5.30 on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. At these sevrices the Rector is delivering a series of addresses on the Gospel according to St. Luke.

- The official returns have been received from eight of the hunters who tried their luck" Saturday. A few robins, one lark, one blackbird one redbird constitute the aggregate. Not a partride was seen during the day. As the STAR announced Sunday the partridges were in town.

depot at half-past one o'clock and arrived at the Hammocks in a short while. They were accompanied by a large crowd of ladies and gentlemen.

Immediately after their arrival the target-firing commenced, the distance being two hundred yards and 25 being the best possible score. Two prizes were offered by each company and a third prize was offered by the Fayettville company for the man in their company who made the best score and who had derson. never before won a prize.

The Fayetteville boys first stepped to the front. Mr. A. J. Pemberton making a score of 21 in five shots, which was received with loud hurrahs. After five men of the Favetteville Company had emptied their guns, five of the Wilmington Light Infantry took the stand in succession, Capt. W. R. Kenan making 16, which was the highest score made by any member of his Company.

Messrs. E. L. Pemberton and J. W. Tomlinson, of the F. I. L. I., each made 19, and were obliged to shoot off the tie, resulting in E. L. Pemberton scoring 21 and J. W. Tomlinson 16.

Messrs. W. N. Harriss; W. P. Toomer and W. P. Oldham, Jr., of the W. L. I. each made 15, and in shooting off the tie, Mr. W. P. Toomer made 15 and was declared the winner; Messrs. Harriss and Oldham making respectively 9 and 11.

After the match was over Col. W. L. DeRosset, upon invitation, tried his hand and scored 14,

During the target firing there was an oyster roast given by the Wilmington Light Infantry, which was most acceptable and enjoyable.

The shooting match lasted until nearly six o'clock, and when it was finished, the companies boarded the train and came back to Wilmington,

Col. W. C. Jones, of the Second Regiment, took command of the battallon at Princess Street Depot, and marched the companies to the C. F. & Y. V. wharf. There they stacked arms and Mr. J. H.
