Postmaster Place, of Oswego, N. Y., is in trouble and in imminent danger of loosing his place. He unfortunately owns a paper of which he is also editor. He seems to lack ballast. In a moment of thoughtless indiscretion he permitted himself to write an article abusing the whole commercial travelling fraternity and had it printed in his paper. Then the racket and his tribulation began. He was oblivious of the fact that there is an immense army of drummers in this country and that they are as a general thing hustlers. He began to wake up to this when they began to make the welkin ring around his ears, and to send the missiles flying to Washington demanding his removal. He is now realizing what a hornet's nest one little

A STAR correspondent writing from

Wilson. June 5th, says: Ruffin Renfrow and L. F. Lucas, of Lucama, Wilson county, will cure their first barn of tobacco this week-grown from plants set out April 12th last.

Cotton and corn crops are also in fine growing condition. In some places forms have already appeared on the cotton plant.

TAKING THE CENSUS.

The Work Progressing, but No Information Will be Given,

The census enumerators are making good progress in taking the census in this city. Considerable interest has been centered on the question whether any considerable portion of the citizens would answer some of Mr. Porter's obnoxious queries. Whether they have been answered or not in this city cannot be learned from the supervisor's office. for his mouth is closed by the government, which also holds a penalty of $500 fine and imprisonment over the head of each enumerator who gives any of his statistics away.

No one is compelled to answer the obnoxious questions concerning the health and property of each person. If you decline to answer them the enumerator will note the fact of your refusal. In due time you are likely to receive from Washington a printed blank asking the same questions, which you will be requested to answer and return to Washington in the official envelope that will be sent with the blank. The answer thus made will be tabulated and your blank destroyed. No names will be recorded.

Information Wanted.
