The Senate the House silver bill referred to the Finance Committee; the Senate silver bill was discussed by Messrs. Sherman, Reagan and Teller; Monday next debate will be limited to five minutes by any Senator on any subject; the conference report on the bill to secure a site for the city post-office at Washington was presented and passed; the cost of the site is not to exceed $200,000; in the House the Senate bill amendatory of the internal revenue laws was passed; also Senate bill amending the present system of drawing on exported beer and fermented liquors, the distillate appropriation bill was passed; At Carrollton, Ky., yesterday, sixty-one ballots were taken to nominate a candidate for Congress in place of W. G. Harless; but no nomination was made; The Democratic State Executive Committee have decided to hold a State Democratic Convention at Raleigh, Wednesday, August 26th; E. C. ... selected chairman of the committee; The Republicans of the State have nominated S. K. Valentine of Nebraska, as Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, to succeed W. P. Canale, whose resignation takes effect on the 1st instant; Bids were opened on the Navy Department yesterday for building two cruisers and a practice vessel; but no awards will be made for several weeks yet; The gubernatorial campaign in South Carolina was opened in Greenville yesterday, when Gen. ... Democratic candidate for Governor, made his first address; Masked robbers wrecked a train on the Texas & Pacific railroad Monday night, near Texarkana, Ark.; an unknown man, stealing a ride, was killed; the express car was cleaned out and the passenger wounded in two places; The statistical returns for June to the Department of Agriculture show an increased acreage in cotton in nearly every State; The street car strike in Columbus, Ohio, is at a stand-still, both sides apparently waiting for the other to move; there is no excitement, nor is there any evidence of compromise; The reported killing of several noted racers in the Wabash accident, near St. Louis, was incorrect; the killed were principally two-year-olds; further particulars show that the accident was of a terribly destructive character, several persons being killed and many badly injured; New York markets: Money easy; cotton offered at 2 1/2 per cent; cotton seed, including uplands 12 1/2 cents; middling Orleans 12 1/2-13 cents; southern middling wheat dull, weak and nominal; No. 2 red 95 cents at elevator; corn moderately active, closing No. 2, 41 1/2-42 cents at elevator; spin-steady spirits turpentine dull at 28-29 cents.

A German statistician finds fault with American women because he estimates that what they spend in cosmetics every year would paint 37,000 houses at $75 a house. Well, if American women would rather paint themselves than paint houses haven't they got a perfect right to do so? An artistically painted woman is a much prettier thing to look at than a painted house any day, and besides this who wants to paint 37,000 houses at $75 a house anyhow?

Some of the New York papers are advising capitalists to be cautious before they invest their money in real estate in Kentucky, where they say a good many titles are badly mixed up, and yet there are some portions of Kentucky where a contentions man is put in undisturbed possession of all the real estate he will ever have use for without any legal formalities.

Murderers should be very careful how they wear the clothes, &c., of the people they kill. A young man in Missouri who had killed three men carelessly walked into court wearing the hat of the third. Somebody who knew the hat shouted, "Where did you get that hat?" and on that inquiry himed the evidence which convicted him of the murder and sentenced him to the gallows.

Kate Field boldly declares that a woman ought to get on both sides of a horse when she rides him. She says that's the way the women in uncivilized countries do, and they have sense enough to follow nature. So they do in matters of costume, so that Miss Field must be careful how far she carries her nature idea, or she may get things mixed.

Certain Northern Republican papers seem to be fond of hitting the New Orleans lottery a dab. If they knew that it was the progeny of the days of reconstruction when the Republican party ran Louisiana they might treat it with more respectful consideration. It is one of the few relics of Republicanism left in the South.

About fourteen or fifteen people are now at the Pasteur institute in New York to be treated for the bite of mad dogs. Among them are seven little boys, ranging from three to twelve years old, from a western town, all bitten by the same dog, and a little boy who went on a few days ago from Augusta, Ga.

The Republican Representatives in Congress from this State have not been very enthusiastic over any of the election bills proposed for the South, but it is said they will support some such measure as a matter of self-preservation. Their support don't amount to much, but they have three votes and they count.

The New York Tribune figures that 3,600,000 quarts of champagne were consumed in this country last year. As there is not champagne enough made in Europe to meet the home demand this will give us some idea of the draw on the New Jersey cider supply.

Life in the Michigan penitentiary must be pleasant. One of the inmates who was serving a long term, saddened at the prospect of being turned out into this bleak and cheerless world in about two weeks, became so despondent and gloomy that he hanged himself.

What's the matter with New Orleans? The latest city census shows a total of 13,343 more women than men. It must be that they don't fight the men right in that town.

A young man in Dubuque, Iowa, has lived for seventy-seven days on soda water. But there is a good deal of substantial nutriment in Mississippi river, water, even after it is manipulated into soda.

It does not necessarily follow that the young man who made an offer of marriage to Queen Victoria was insane, but it looks very much that way when he was willing to assume the responsibility of looking after such a large family as she has.

Harlan county, Kentucky, abounds in dogs and Republicans. There are about four Republicans to one Democrat. But the shooting of a dog the other day led to a pistol sociable among the Republicans which resulted in the Republican majority several.

In view of the declarations of head-bopper Clarkson of the large preponderance of Democratic papers and magazines in this country what becomes of the stereotyped Republican assertion that the intelligence of the North is in the Republican party?

LOCAL DOTS.

Items of Interest Gathered Here and There and Briefly Noted.

Spirits turpentine sold at 35 cents per gallon yesterday.

Judge James C. MacRae, of Fayetteville, was in the city yesterday.

St. James' Home Sunday School will give an excursion to Carolina Beach to-morrow.

The steamer D. Murchison on her upward trip yesterday carried 200 bales of cotton for the Fayetteville mills.

On account of Rev. Thomas Dixon's lecture at the Opera House, the regular prayer and praise meeting at Brooklyn Baptist Church will not be held next Friday night.

A subscriber to the DAILY STAR at LaGrange, writes: "I have been a subscriber to the STAR for 15 years, and cannot get along well without it. It is the best paper in the South."

Capt. John H. Robinson, a Wilmingtonian of a dozen or more years ago, was with the party of excursionists from Fayetteville in town yesterday, and met many friends who were glad to greet him once more.

Health officers I. M. McGowan, W. M. Hays and W. T. Bray were on duty yesterday as policemen. When they surrendered their batons in the evening they reported "all quiet along the line" and no arrests made.

Messrs. H. H. Munson, E. S. Martin, J. C. Chase, James W. Monroe and J. C. Loder left yesterday for Asheville to attend the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons and the Grand Comandery of Knights Templars.

There was a small fire in the kitchen of Mr. John Everitt's residence on North Second street about 11 a. m. yesterday. An alarm was turned in from box 17, but the services of the Fire Department were not needed. The damage was trifling.

FAYETTEVILLE EXCURSIONISTS.

A Pleasant Day at Carolina Beach and in the City.

The excursionists from Fayetteville, six to eight hundred in number, arrived here yesterday morning about half-past ten o'clock, on a special train of twelve coaches on the C. F. & Y. V. railroad. Several hundred of them immediately upon the arrival of the train boarded the steamer Passport which was in waiting at the wharf on the west side of the river, and left for Carolina Beach, where they were joined later by many of the party who remained in the city until the departure of the Sylvan Grove at 2:30 p. m. Others of the visitors went down to Wrightsville, the Hammocks and Ocean View. All the excursionists returned from the various places they visited in time to take their train for Fayetteville which left at 8 p. m.

The crowd was one of the largest ever seen on Carolina Beach and from all accounts the visitors greatly enjoyed their trip to the seashore.

Take Your Choice. For the benefit of persons wishing to visit either the seacoast or mountains, summer excursion tickets have been put on sale at all stations on the Seaboard Air Line road. Very low rates are given from all points on the Carolina Central, Raleigh & Augusta and Raleigh & Gaston railroads to Wrightsville, Carolina Beach and Southport, and the fame of these elegant resorts should, with the advantage of cheap travel, induce a large number of visitors during the season.

Congressional. Col. Ham. C. Jones, of Charlotte, has announced himself a candidate for Congress in this District, subject to the action of the Democratic convention. Col. Jones is one of the most eloquent speakers in the State, and will make a rattling canvass if nominated. With Jones, Rowland, Alexander, Le Grand, Lockhart, Covington, Payne and a dozen dark horses tied out in the woods, there is promise of fun at the Laurinburg convention.

Mass Meeting. Rev. Sam. P. Jones having been called by the Methodists of this city to hold a series of meetings in this place, we are requested to state that there will be a mass meeting held at Grace Church at 8:15 o'clock to-night of the members of Grace, Fifth Street and Bladen Street Churches, the Methodist Missions of the city, and friends of other churches favoring the meeting, for the appointment of committees and otherwise arranging for the work.

Cotton Region Bulletin. There was no rain here yesterday, but Wadesboro reported 1.40 inches, and moderate rainfall was reported from Raleigh, Charlotte, Weldon and Cheraw. The maximum temperature for Wilmington was 82 degrees—the coolest place in the district. Raleigh, Wadesboro, Weldon and Newbern reported Durham. When asked about coming to Charlotte again, he said that next May will suit him as well as any time.

THE UNDERTAKERS.

Convention of the North Carolina Funeral Directors Association.

The Funeral Directors Association of North Carolina met in this city yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock in "Odd Fellows' Hall" of Cape Fear Lodge; Mr. J. F. Woolvin, resident F. D. and Fifth Vice President of the Association having secured the hall for this purpose.

The objects of the association are, as set forth in the "preamble," as follows: "To secure harmony in business, to cultivate a more friendly feeling and a brotherly spirit, and to bring out the profession to a higher state of perfection, to disseminate correct principles of business management, and to elevate the standard of the undertaker to the plane of the scientist."

In the absence of the President, Mr. W. P. Wootton, of Wilson, the First Vice President, Mr. John Harry, of Charlotte, called the Association to order.

After prayer by Mr. J. R. Parker, the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as recorded.

The Chair appointed as a Committee on Applications for Membership—J. W. Brown, Raleigh; J. R. Parker, High Point; M. H. Pinnix, Reidsville.

Mr. J. R. Starnes, of Asheville, gave notice that a local association comprised of the counties of Buncombe, Haywood, Henderson and Madison, with constitution, by-laws, etc., approved by the National Funeral Directors' Association, had been formed, and the same by a vote will be recognized by the State body.

Mr. R. G. Johnson, of Asheville, representing Mann, Johnson & Co., of Asheville, whose application had been presented, with many others, was reported by the Secretary as in the ante-room, and Mr. Vogler urged immediate action, so that Mr. Johnson could participate in the deliberations. Upon his motion, the application having been endorsed by the committee, they were elected to membership and Mr. Johnson was invited to a seat.

President Wootton having arrived on the noon train, presided at the afternoon session.

Twenty-eight applicants, reported on favorably by the committee, were elected to membership.

The President read his annual address, and that of the Secretary was then read. Both touched feelingly upon the loss the Association had sustained in the death of three of its members who had grown old in the business and among whom was the late J. W. Woolvin, of this city.

The Treasurer's report shows the Association in a healthy financial condition.

Each report was on motion accepted by rising vote.

The chair appointed W. E. Younts, W. C. Brown and John Harry a Finance Committee, to audit the accounts of the financial officers.

J. F. Woolvin, of this city, delegate to the International Association, then made his report, which was received and approved. The International Association held its last session in Toronto, Canada.

Messrs. J. W. Stanly, H. E. Sheets and J. R. Parker were appointed a committee to draft resolutions expressing the sorrow and heavy loss the Association has sustained in the death of three members since the last meeting, and the committee was instructed to report at the morning session to-day.

Mr. J. F. Woolvin then moved that the Association adjourn and take a carriage ride over the city, and informed them that the carriages were in readiness, having been tendered to the Association by Capt. T. J. Southerland. The courtesy was accepted.

The Association will probably conclude its sessions Wednesday.

Funeral Directors. Among the gentlemen in attendance at the Undertakers' Convention in this city are Messrs. W. P. Wootton, Wilson, President; J. W. Brown, Raleigh; J. R. Parker, High Point; Jno. Harry, Charlotte; W. E. Younts, Pineville; Jesse R. Starnes, Asheville; C. N. Brown, Asheville; R. G. Johnson, Asheville; J. D. Barnes, Nashville; J. M. Barnes, Henderson; M. A. McDougald, Laurinburg; Frank H. Vogler, Salem; H. E. Sheets, Fayetteville. And honorary members of the Association, Messrs. J. W. Stanly, Cincinnati Coffin Co.; C. H. Parks, Gate City Coffin Co., Atlanta; N. P. Cannon, Atlanta Coffin Co.

Weather Forecasts. The following are the weather forecasts for to-day: For Virginia, fair, stationary temperature, southerly winds.

For North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, fair, light rain on the coast, and in Northern Georgia, stationary temperature, southerly winds.

I. O. O. F. The annual memorial sermon before the lodges of the order in this city will be preached next Sunday night in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, by Rev. C. L. Arnold. The public is invited to attend.

A BOLD HIGHWAYMAN.

Robbery and Attempted Murder on the Masonboro Road.

A bold robbery and attempt at murder was made about nine o'clock yesterday morning on an elderly white farmer named Louis J. Mills, about five miles southeast of the city, on the road to Masonboro sound. The highwayman was a young unknown colored man, who overtook Mr. Mills and his little son, a boy of nine years, on their way home from the city.

The statement made to the reporters by Mr. Mills was that he was sitting by the roadside when the negro came along and stopped and engaged him in conversation. He told Mr. Mills that he was on his way to Mr. Heide's place, a few miles distant, and offered to accompany Mr. Mills' little boy to a branch to get some water to drink. He went off with the boy, but soon returned and made a demand for whiskey, a bottle of which Mr. Mills had in his pocket. The demand was refused, when the negro assaulted the old man, knocking him down and taking his watch, knife and the bottle of whiskey from his pockets, and while he had him down, Mr. Mills said, the negro used his knife upon him, cutting his head in a terrible manner.

The little boy came back at this juncture and the negro made off.

Mr. John Fergus, Mr. Mills' son-in-law, came up shortly afterwards, on his way to Mr. Heide's farm, and found Mr. Mills by the roadside, bleeding profusely and nearly unconscious. He summoned assistance and Mr. R. L. Fulford, a neighbor, came to his aid, and getting Mr. Mills into his cart brought him to the city, where his wounds were dressed by a physician and the injured man was then sent to the City Hospital for care and treatment.

Mr. Mills had three severe cuts on one side and back of his head, the wounds being from three to four inches in length and cutting through the scalp to the bone. He said that he did not know his assailant, that he was about eighteen or twenty years old, and gave his name as "Ed." He thought, however, that he could identify the boy if he should see him again.

Fine Crops in Pender. A correspondent of the STAR at Viola postoffice, writes that corn in that section is better this season than for many years past; cotton looks well and is growing finely. Rice is also very fine, and peanuts are promising.
