WEALTH SHOULD PAY ITS PART

If the party which rules and has taled this country for thirty years, with the exception of four years, desired to devise an equitable taxing system by which the burden of supporting the government, paying pensions, etc., would be fairly and honestly distributed among the people they could do so, but they don't want to do so, and consequently it is not done. The whole drift and tendency of the legislation for this period on the subject of raising revenue for governmental or other purposes has burden upon the poor, the people live by their daily earnings. The leaders of the Republican party, while they profess great respect for and interest in the toiling masses regard them as mere "hewers of wood and drawers of water" for those who by favoring circumstances have been raised above the necessity of earning their living by labor.

A glance at the tariff provisions of the law now in force, but especially at the McKinley bill, which passed the House under whip and spur, will show this beyond the possibility the silk importers of the country by army of partisan workers, who labor, a delegation representing the Amer- and labor unscrupulously, with a before the Senate Finance Commit- point it commends itself to the bettee last week, the spokesman, who ter class of people, who believe that was well posted, called attention of there is something better than the the committee to the discrimination | machine. The same applies to woolen goods, to hardware, cutlery, glassware, cording to President Harrison's own earthenware, stoneware, chinaware, &c., while they capped the climax of their partiality for the rich by putsyndicates of cattle slaughterers in the West who had contributed money to elect the Republican ticket at the last election. This meant that every person who wore shoes, or used leather in any way had to pay so much tribute in the increased cost of the articles used for the benefit of the such Western syndicates. A vigorous protest of the people brought a reconsideration and a reversal of that action, and hides went back on the free list. The syndicates were heard again and hides went back on the dutiable list. Again the people protested, the committee weakened and hides went back on the free list, where they now remain. But if it had not been for the vigorous protest of the people, they would have to pay, if the bill were enacted into a law with this feature in it, a cent and-a-half a pound on all the hides imported into this country.

So on tin plate, very little of which is manufactured in this country compared with the amount used, the duty on which is to be made double what it now is, and the people who have paid in the aggregate $7,000,000 a year to encourage some favorites, who doubtless also chipped in to the Republican campaign fund, will be required to pay $14,000,000 for their especial benefit. This is something which directly interests the farmers and fruit raisers who supply the canning establishments with the vegetables, fruits, etc., canned, and also the hundreds of thousands of consumers who will have to pay these $14,000,000 in the enhanced cost of the canned goods which they buy.

The only excuse for this kind of doubling up on the tin plate tax is that it will eventually result in building up the tin plate industry in this country, the old stereotype excuse for the perpetuation of the high protective tariff which they said would be necessary for only a few years when first established.

The result of all this favoring onesided tariff legislation is that a few people to whom the Republican party is under obligations for mone contributed and services rendered have been made very rich by the tribute forced from the people.

It has never occurred to any Republican statesman while talking about revenue to make them pay one dollar-out of the thousands the Government has forced the people to give them, towards the support of the Government which did so much for them nor to lighten the burdens of the people who have been for a generation taxed so heavily for their benefit. As an equalizer and divider of the burdens of the people an income tax which would make wealth contribute its portion towards the support of the Government would be square, but the men of big incomes are not the men the Republican statesmen are looking out for to tax They are holding them in reserve for campaign contributions, which are quite as necessary to the party as taxes are to the Government.

MINOR MENTION.

The joint resolution introduced in the Senate Monday by Senator Hoar proposing a constitutional amendment for the election of postmasters by the people is similar to, though been and is to impose the heavier not as comprehensive as one introduced early in the session providing who toil for their living and for the election of all government officeholders who have heretofore held their places by appointment. This resolution was referred to a committee, where it sleeps the sleep of death, which will also, doubtless, be the fate of Mr. Hoar's resolution. Whether a change in this respect would result in more efficient office-holders and better service, is problematical, but it would be a practical solution of the civil service question, and an effective way of removing it from the domain of national politics. The result would be a purification of politics, In their presentation of the case of and the disbanding of that large ican Silk Association, which appeared | hope of reward. From this standing to their contentions and deciding upon their respective "claims." Acstatement during the first year of his administration he had little time for anything else, and it is a fact that for the first year at least, this makes An attempt was made to take the heaviest tax on the time and lamense gainer by its adoption. If submitted to a vote of the people it would undoubtedly be adopted.

Senator Blair took occasion again Monday to refer to the "persistent absence of a quorum," humorously remarking that their indisposition to be present might be attributable to the fact that they were not as intellectually entertained as they were during the discussion of the educational bill. This was one of his jokes, for a good deal of his big six days' speech, and much of his other speeches of less magnitude, were delivered to empty chairs. During the debate on the Montana Senatorship question there was rarely a quorum present, and when one was needed it had to be hunted up in the cloak room, restaurant or somewhere else. The presence of a quonum during that debate wasn't material for the Republicans had pre-determined to count in their men and the debate was a mere formality which could not well be dispensed with. But this silver question is not a political one, it is an important one, affecting the prosperity of every interest, industry and avocation in the land, and surely the Senators who have its decision in a great measure in their hands, might give it that attention to which its importance en-

The rapidity with which the pensions expenditures of this country are increasing, is becoming a very serious matter to the people who have to foot the bill. From June 30, 1888, to June 30, 1889, the expenditures were $87,624,779, while for the current fiscal year they will reach $109,357,534, an increase over last year of $21,732,755. This is simply the regular appropriation, separate and apart from the Senate Dependent bill, and the House Service bill, which are now hung up in the conference committee. The former of these it is estimated will cost $40,000,000 annually, the latter $60,000,000, and they are hung up Mrs. William Carrington... because the House insists upon the | Countess Savorguan. essential features of its bill. Owing to the disagreement possibly neither of these bills may pass, but if either should, with the present enormous and annually increasing expenditures, there will be a nice layout for the people of this country.

The people of New Foundland are very much excited at the aggressions of French fishermen on their fishing grounds, and are indignant not only at the Frenchmen but also at the Home Government for its violation of faith. In 1857 England in deference to popular sentiment in New Foundland withdrew the concessions made to France and promised that in future no concessions would be made to France without the consent of the colonial Legislature. In violation of this understanding Lord Salisbury is permitting the French fishermen to use the lobster canneries erected last year, at which the New Foundlanders have very naturally taken umbrage. They say they will fire upon the Frenchmen caught in their waters and force the Home Government to take cognizance of

STATE TOPICS.

The prospective completion of the Weldon Canal is giving the town a boom, town lots are going up, and there seems to be considerable demand for them. The News is jubilant over the outlook and the bright prospects for the future. With such a water power as Weldon has, the railroad facilities she has, which will be still further improved, the proximity of the cotton fields, and the proximity also of good ports for shipment, Weldon should become a great manufacturing city, not only of cotton goods but of many things. Her people have good reason to look cheerfully to the future.

OUR GOLDEN GIRLS.

44,175,000 Great American Dollars Captured by Foreign Noblemen.

Chicago Globe. The immense sum of $44,000,000 has gone to Europe during the last few years, with several American girls as an incumbrance, to trade for titles. In the main this dowry of beauty and fortune purchase poor specimens of men. If they were in Chicago they couldn't earn a living shoveling smoke out of the city. Yet they have what all the world of snobs love-a title. Most of them have vices and debts and other things equally undesirable. But a title covers a multitude of sins.

The American girl is a beauty. She is a conversationalist. She has plenty of dash and spirit and gives those blase noblemen more pleasure in an hour than they ever had in their lives before. And she is richthat is, all who marry noblemen are. So he marries her, goes to heaven and gets the earth.

POCKET-LAMPS.

Electricity's Latest Addition to the Comforts of Travel.

While riding in a railroad car, trying to read a newspaper by the uncertain light of the lamp which was suspended at a tantalizing distance from my eyes, says Taverner, in the Boston Post, a friend who sat next to me said: "Tavernor, old fellow, don't spoil those critical optics of yours by using that wretched apology for a lamp, but suit yourself with this." He whipped a little tube out of his pocket which he fastened to my buttonhole, and before I could see what he was driving at a bright light illuminated the newspaper, which had been blurred by the devious rays from the railroad lamp.

"That's electricity," added my friend, with seemingly superfluous frankness, and he then went on to show how the apparatus worked. It had a storage battery for the motive power and a reflector to concentrate the light, and the entire weight of the light was only 1½ pounds. I found the electric light somewhat glaring at first, the reflection from he newspaper dazzling my eyes, and the shadows cast giving a sort of dark-lantern gloom to outlying objects. But this effect soon wore off, and by adjusting the paper to the light, it was easy for me to read without experiencing any inconve-

CONCERNING MEMORY. .

Why it Fails in Old Age and When One is

Memory is found in all healthy states of the brain, and consists of a revival in the mind of a past condition or act, says the New York Ledger. It is not enough that the original impression be renewed on the brain and comprehended: it must be registered, so as to produce a permanent modification of brain structure or action; otherwise it passes from the mind and can only be vaguely recalled. A good memory depends on various consideragood farmer and an honest man, but | tions; one is healthy brain-structure, another is nutrition, and a third is

Their brains are active, and there is an enormous amount of new, healthy blood coursing through them at a rapid rate, and The Indianapolis Journal nutrition is active. Fatigue is fatal solemnly declares that "the Pension | to good memory-it is then that nu-Bureau has recently developed the trition languishes-but rest restores fact by rigid examination that the a healthy condition, and then the As old age comes on nutrition is less perfect, and the cells of the brain in which memory takes place become filled up with debris of decay, become yellow and actually lose their organized structure, and are no longer capable of action.

POLITICAL POINTS.

- Talk about protecting industries. More than a score of industries get a hard hit from the increase of duty on their tin plate. But McKinley's ideas are so narrow and so false that he would oppress twenty industries to protect one. Madison Democrat.

- Republicans may think it is all fair and right to pay party debts by the operation of the tariff, but it may be doubted whether at the next election of Congressmen the voters will be satisfied to indorse a plan of tax revision that has been devised solely for the purpose of repaying out of the general pocket the Republican campaigning expenses of I888.—Norfolk Virginian, Dem.

- The McComas bill is one of the things that is suspended in Mr. Reed Congress, and, like Mahomet's coffin, is in a fair way to be left suspended. It may be a political bludgeon in the hands of the Republican party, and then there is danger that it may prove—if passed— a rapier in the hands of the Democratic party. It is not intended by Mr. McComas to abolish the practice of gerrymandering; neither does his party think such abolition desirable.-Louisville Times, Dem.
