Carl Schurz, once a U.S. Senator from Missouri, and later Secretary of the Interior under Hayes, is now a steamship agent in New York, and a contemporary remarks "what a fall is there." That's not such a bad tumble. Hayes has gone to raising chickens, Tom Reed, once an assistant paymaster in the navy, has become leader of a pirate gang in Congress, and our own Curtis H. Brogden, once Governor, has become a township census enumerator,

Col Shepard, of the New York Mail and Express, can drop the Confederate flag now for awhile and turn his attention to the Georgia watermelon, which is beginning to invade the North. There is more lurking danger and concentrated revolutionary energy stored away under the innecent-looking Georgia melon rind than in two million yards of Confederate bunting. The Colonel had better keep his eye on that melon and his knife out of it.

The late James A. Garfield was a pretty good Republican and a protectionist, too. In announcing his position on that question when in Congress he said: "I am for that protection of our industries which will eventually lead to free trade." Reed, McKinley & Co. are for that protection 'which will eventually lead to more protection and make it perpetual.

Dogs and Their Names.

Nearly everybody is familiar with the old adage, "Give a dog a bad name," etc., but everybody doesn't know what queer names some curs have and yet are allowed to live. The records at the City Hall, whereon the names and descriptions of the licensed dogs as well as their owners' names are transcribed, are funny reading: "Ben Harrison," is described as a black-and-tan; "Judge Fowler," a white and yellow cur; and "Whiskey," simply "mixed breed." One party is the proud owner of two dogs, one named "Willie Jane Brown" and the other "Five Cents." Another calls his immense deposits of Bessemer honest tike "Jack Whacker," Other striking names are "Kittlewink," 'Cheeweet," "Shumpum," "Devil,' Berkshire Emperor Napoleon the First," "Honey," "Tit," "Boy," "Clover." "Cash," "Keno," "Topsey" and "Smash." So far, less than five hundred of the multitudinous curs in the city have been

Closing Exercises-Distribution of Prizes and Testimonials.

The closing exercises of this institution were held Thursday morning in the school room on Third street. The exercises were private, and consisted only of the reading of the annual report on the stand of classes and the distribution by the Principal of prizes and testimonials. In making the distribution it was stated that numbers reaching or going beyond 95 per cent, are known as "honors," and that for these only are testimonials awarded.

The following pupils, though not attaining a percentage necessary for the scholarship certificate, have made very good averages, and deserve special mention: Misses Willie Adair, 94.2 per cent.: Hannah Shrier, 90.4; Cary Davis, 90.1; Bessie Coerr, 89; Janie Dunn, 88.6; Mary P. Davis, 86.8; Maggie D. Smith, 86. Certificates of proficiency in scholarship were given to Miss Mary Hasell McKoy, 99.4 per cent.; Lina Wiggins, 97.3. Alice Rheinstein, 96.5; Bessie Gibson, 96.3; Mary Calder, 95.9. Certificates of excellent deportment were as follows: To Misses Willie Adair, 97.6; Janie Dunn, 97.3; Lina Wiggins, 97.3; Bessie Gibson, 96.8; Mary Hasell McKoy, 96.2; Alice Rheinstein, 95.6, and Bessie Coerr, 95.3.

Prizes for attaining the maximum in punctuality were won by Misses Alice Boatwright, Mary Calder, Cary Davis, Mary P. Davis, Janie Dunn, Belle Gore, Mary Hasell McKoy, Mary Morris, Athalia Rankin, Hannah Shrier, Lina Wiggins and Master Robert Harriss.

The prize for the highest number attained in scholarship was presented to Miss Mary Hasell McKoy; that for the best record in conduct, to Miss Willie Adair; for the greatest progress in penmanship, to Miss Bessie Gibson; for the | charged with stealing clams from J. TURPENTINE.

Lessened Production in Georgia Alleged to be Due to the Poor Condition of the

The Savannah News of Wednesday last says the receipts of spirits turpentine are steadily falling off compared with last season, and the falling off has been going on for the last three weeks. There have been complaints from some sections of a scarcity of good hands to work the farms, although there are plenty of common laborers.

The real cause for the decrease, however, is said to be the poor condition of the trees, which are not healthy, and which have the appearance of being exhausted. This condition is attributed to the open and dry winter and spring, which have caused the sap to dry up. The fall and winter were warm and dry. This condition of affairs aided the blackheaded bug in its work of cutting and destroying the trees. There are numberless traces of their work of destruction in the forests, which might have been lessened somewhat had there been frequent copious rains in the spring. As it was, here was very little moisture, and the trees are now dry and sapless.

In the beginning of the season the most conservative estimate of factors and producers placed the increased yield of naval stores at fully 20 per cent. over the product of last year, owing to the increased number of boxes cut, and their condition at the beginning of the year seemed to corroborate this estimate. The prediction was further borne out by the heavy and increased receipts in April and the early part of May. Since then the receipts have decreased so much that there is a very small difference between this season and last, and the estimates of the most enthusiastic operator have been reduced to about 4 to 5 per cent. increase. It is now generally believed that future receipts will be proportionately less than they have been and will not by any means increase over those of last year.

OUR PUBLIC BUILDING.

Reasons Advanced for an Increase in the Appropriation.

The STAR'S press dispatches yesterday stated that a favorable report had been made in the House on Representative Rowland's bill to increase the appropriation for the public building at Wilmington, so as to fix the limit at $350. 000. The Committee think that the increased appropriation is necessary for the following reasons:

The building is to be used for a postoffice, U. S. court room, and for offices of the clerk of the court, marshal, United States commissioner, internal revenue offices, and for the signal service officials, for the engineer of the army in charge of the improvements of the rivers and harbors in North Carolina and adjoining States, as well as for the safe-keeping of the valuable maps, charts, surveys, &c. under his charge, and for offices for the customs officials, which alone requires 3,600 square feet of space.

The present building now nearly completed contains about 11,000 square feet and over 10,000 square feet is required for the postoffice. The postoffice receipts for the year ending June, 1889, were $25,336,28.

The office is not only self-sustaining but yields a net revenue of 48 per cent., while for the same year the amount of customs business amounted to $50,026. 40 and was collected at an expense of only $11,525.52. The committee, therefore recommended the passage of the Stealing Clams.
