From the way that the Republican majority in the House of Representatives persistently and wickedly object to amendments there is evidently little hope for amendment in that party.

Out of 125 writers connected with the daily papers of Connecticut all but nine are church attendants. This gives encouragement to the hope that Democracy will continue to make progress in that State, even if the population does diminish.

Some of the papers are giving their readers advice as to how to spend the summer. We hardly ever that, but if we should venture upon advice in a matter of this kind we should say, by all means, keep as cool as you can, and come to this delightful, breezy town of Wilmington as often as you can.

Mr. Hayes, of Ohio, for a brief period a resident of the White House in Washington, made a speech a few days ago before the Grand Army in Kansas, in which he said that the soldiers should not only be liberally pensioned, but the pensions should be paid in gold. But he didn't invite them to come to Ohio and eat any of his chickens and eggs.

Senator Blackburn who was present in the Senate Committee when Mr. Blaine expressed his opinion of the McKinley bill says that he denounced it so vigorously that he made several dents in his silk beaver which stood in his way while he was emphatically gesticulating. The opposition that would thus crush a nice silk beaver must be in earnest. Beavers are not sacrificed that way as a mere matter of idle formality.

Representative O'Donnell, Republican, of Michigan, Chairman of the House Committee on Education, has reported a bill to aid education, something similar to the Blair bill. Mr. Chauncey M. Depew is brilliant as a post prandial orator, but the nasal twang of his voice troubled him. To remedy this he has had a piece of the bone of his nose sawed out, and the nasal twang troubles him no more. If he had some more of that bone sawed out he might fill the role not only of a full toned after dinner orator but a daisy bass singer.

Another Drowning Accident.

Another death by drowning in the river is reported; the victim being Mr Frank Melton, a sailmaker, aged about fifty-five years, and who lived with his family on Castle between Fifth and

The accident happened about 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Melton was seated on the cap of the wharf near the foot of Dock street, and it is supposed had a fit and fell into the water. He was employed in the sail-loft of Mr. Geo. Smith, on the third floor of the building at the northeastern corner of Dock and South Water streets, and three weeks ago he fell overboard at the same place, but was rescued. Officer John Meier and Harry Lowe, colored, succeeded in recovering the body of the unfortunate man about 2 o'clock this morning.

THE CENSUS.

No One Believes it Correct-A Call for Another Count.

In the unofficial report of the census of Wilmington, published in the STAR yesterday, as obtained from Supervisor Lockey, the figures were a little muddled. His estimate was that the census would show the population to be in the neighborhood of 20,000-between 19,950 and 20.050.

Many persons think that the population has not been fully enumerated and there is some talk of having the census again taken.

The importance of a full enumeration cannot easily be overstated. The census is taken as an index of the city's prosperity and ratio of progress. It aids in fixing the values of property. It is consulted by those who are seeking investments or new homes. It is relied upon in fixing political representation.

Health and mortality statistics are based upon it. Through its means the school population is arrived at. Taxation is greatly influenced by it. Comparative cost of government is determined by it. The proportion of races is determined by it. And being a matter of such importance why should not the city government take the matter in hand and give us a correct enumeration; if for no other reason, to satisfy the Wilmington is not alone in this matter of complaint that a correct enumeration has not been had. Norfolk, Savannah, Charleston and other cities also complain. Take Macon, Ga., for instance. There it was generally estimated the population was 20,000; the census, however, gives it as 17,000, while experienced men who were making a directory of the city and who followed right after the census enumerators, find the population to be in round numbers, 22,000. By all means let's have a recount The cost will be trifling in comparison with the good likely to result.

Signal Office Moved.

The Signal Service has moved into the rooms assigned to their use in the public building. They are the first in the new building and they have very comfortable quarters, although the approaches to the office are somewhat barred by scaffolding on the stairway. These, however, will soon be removed, as the building is nearing completion. The object in hurrying into the new office was to begin the official record there on July 1st, and Mr. Chaffee, the observer in charge, informs us it was a very ticklish business moving the instruments, cord in the meantime. Several new instruments have been added to the apparatus, among which are a very complete device for registering, by electrical attachment, the direction from which each mile of wind is blown, and also a similar instrument to etc., and preventing any break in the re-record the rainfall. With the above instruments and others heretolore at work, a continuous record will now be kept of the pressure, temperature, wind velocity and direction, and rainfall. This will be of incalculable value to those interested, and will greatly aid in establishing the climatological conditions of this place. Regarding the question of high temperatures reported at this place, the observer in charge informs us, that the temperatures given are correct in every particular, and furthermore that they have been verified by a series of thermometer readings taken by Dr. F. S. Clark, Chemist at the Cresote Works, where readings tally each day with those reported by the Signal Office.

'Your Money or Your Life"-Two Onslow County Men Have an Encounter with the Robber.

Another encounter with the colored desperado whose bold attack on people on the highway in broad daylight has created something of a sensation, was reported to Mayor Fowler yesterday.

Mr. M. M. Capps, son of Mr. C. A. Capps, of Onslow, says that on the 29th of June last, while on his way home from Wilmington in company with Mr. Cato Bryan, of the same county, they were stopped between the twenty-first and twenty-second mile-posts by a negro man with a bludgeon, who boldly made the demand, "Your money or your life." Mr. Bryan being armed, drew his pistol and attempted to shoot the fellow, but the weapon missed fire. They ran to their horses which were a short distance from them and made their escape, the highwayman firing twice at them with a pistol. Again, on the 1st inst., Mr. Capps said, while in company with Mr. Henry Jarman, on the way to this city, they saw the same negro, about six miles from town, but upon their approach the man left the road and went into the woods.

It is reported also, that recently the store of Mr. Cornegy, at the eight-mile post on the old Newbern road, was broken open and robbed-and it is supposed by the same robber.

Mayor Fowler, who is also a magistrate of the county, has determined to take the matter in hand, and will make an effort to rid the community of the desperadoes prowling on the roads leading to the city.

Excursionists from Winston.

Two hundred and fifty excursionsts from Winston arrived here yesterday evening by train on the C. F. & Y. V. railroad. They will go down the river to-day on the Sylvan Grove, and will spend to-morrow at the Hammocks and Ocean View. The visitors no doubt will enjoy their visit to the city and our seaside resorts. They will return home next Saturday.
