Of course the protective tariff enriches American farmers. France has just imposed a duty of three francs a bushel on American corn to show her appreciation of the Mc-Kinley tariff hill. France bought a good deal of American corn.

The New York Herald of Sunday has a cartoon illustrative of the force bill, a party of soldiers with bayoneted muskets holding a ballot box on the bayonets; a smiling Republican standing on a ladder drop ping in Republican ballots, while the "man on horseback" with drawn sword keeps Democrats back. Oxford Orphan Asylum.

Rev. B. R. Hall, son of Mr. Henry G Hall, of Fayetteville, and formerly pastor of Fifth Street M. E. Church in Wilmington, is mentioned in connection with the superintendency of Oxford Orphan Asylum, made vacant by the election of Rev. Dr. Dixon, late incumbent, to the Presidency of Greensboro Female College. The Goldsboro Argus, referring to the matter, says: "There is, in our opinion, no man in the State better qualified for the place in question than Rev. B. R. Hall. He is congenial, he is affable, he is philanthropic, he is energetic. Should he be selected for the position and accept the same, Oxford Orphan Asylum would indeed be in the hands of one in every way worthy to

THE ALLEGED HIGHWAYMAN.

Further Investigation of the Case Against Dennis Horne.

The preliminary investigation of the case against Dennis Horn, colored, the alleged highwayman, was resumed yesterday before Mayor Fowler. Alex. Moore, the colored farmer who was attacked by a highwayman on the 24th of June last, identified Horn as the wouldbe robber, as did two colored women who saw the man who attacked Moore. On the other hand, the contractor engaged in building the Onslow railroad called at the City Hall yesterday afternoon, after the hearing had been adjourned, and stated that Horn had been in his employ from the 17th of June to the 3d of July, working on the railroad in the neighberhood of Scott's Hill, and that the time-keeper's book shows that on the days that the alleged robberies occurred Horn was at work, as usual. The investigatiou was again ad journed, as stated, until this morning, when it is expected that other witnesses will be in attendance. During the afternoon one of the men confined in the city prison told the keeper that Horn was attempting to break out of his cell. Upon investigation it was found that he had ripped off a piece of plank on the partition separating the
