The Philadelphia Press, Rep. since Kennedy's onslaught, thinks a statement from Boss Quay would have great weight. Quay seems to be of the opinion that the longer the wait the greater the weight.

The gentleman from the 15th Illinois district found the "bubble reputation at the Cannon's mouth,' but judging from the way the Republicans in his district are kicking against him it wasn't the kind of bubble he was hunting for.

Philadelphia is a pretty snug comfortable town to live in but the chances of dying there are better than they are in other towns. It is said that her death rate from typhoid fever is greater than in any other city in the world, attributable to the bad quality of drinking water.

The Republican State Convention of Indiana which met at Indianapolis last week, endorsed Blaine's reciprocity, and demanded the election of United States Senators by the people. It would seem from this that they have concluded that they have lost their grip upon the legislature.

It is said that the Cleveland Democrats of New York are very much excited over a report that Mr. Cleveland will leave New York and take up his residence in Massachusetts. He may find Massachusetts a very pleasant State to live in, any may even have cultivated a fondness for Boston beans, but he would, if he contemplates it, hardly make a move of that kind before the next Democratic Convention meets.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Chas. Maynor Arraigned for the Murder of Nathan Fails-The Barker Perjury Case, Etc.

Charles Maynor, the colored man indicted for the murder of Nathan Fails, the old fisherman who was assassinated one night in the early part of July last while returning to his home on Masonboro Sound, was arraigned yesterday morning soon after Court convened. He pleaded not guilty to the charge. The Court announced that the case will be called on Friday next at 10 o'clock, and assigned as counsel for defendant Messrs. George Rountree, P. B. Manning and Iredell Meares. It is not certain that Maynor will be tried at this term of the Court; that question will be settled, however, when the case is called Friday. In the case of John A. Barker, indicted for perjury and continued from the last term of Court, the motion for removal to another county was argued by counsel for defendant, and after the Court had heard the counter affidavit presented by counsel for the State, the motion was denied and the case setfor trial on Wednesday, the 17th inst., at 10

The jury returned a verdictof guilty. Joe Melvin, colored, convicted of embezzlement of Mr. Geo. F. Tilley's books, etc., was found guilty and sentenced to six months in the County House of Correction.

THE COTTON CROP.

Reports of Damage from South Atlantic The rains that have fallen almost incessantly for the past two weeks along the South Atlantic coast, extending well into the interior, have prevented picking to a very large extent, and have besides caused considerable damage to In South and Southwest Georgia

there has been more or less loss from the rust, and there will be no top crop, while the middle and bottom crop will be only fair. It is now believed that the loss in yield will be fully 20 per

In Middle and Upper Georgia and Alabama the complaints of boll worms are general, where they have played havoc with the plant and will damage the crop fully 10 per cent. Rust was general all over the South Atlantic States, and it has resulted in injury to the quality and body of the cotton to some extent.

The conditions appear to be more favorable in North and South Carolina, although there are complaints of rust in the latter State, and from some parts of North Carolina complaints of injury caused by too much rain.

In the face of these discouraging reports the receipts of cotton in Wilmington are junprecedentedly large for thus early in the season, averaging for several days past over two thousand bales per day; the total receipts since the first of September being 19,093 bales.

The Charlotte Chronicle publishes a dispatch from Montgomery, Ala., which

The Farmers' Alliance scheme to corner the cotton crop of the South and hold it for better prices, is exciting the most absorbing interest. Telegrams received yesterday from four or five of the biggest cotton counties in the State are to the effect that nearly all the crop is being held on the farms, and very little is finding its way to market. Farmers Alliance leaders are sending about circulars urging the members to stand toTHE RICE CROP.

continuous rains, which are having a being harvested. Rice planters say that the rains have covered the territory from Charleston to the Satilla river, and most complaints come from planters up the Savanaah and Black rivers and from the Ogeechee' river. The Savannah Morning News says that the rice already cut and stacked is now heating and becoming mow-burnt. That on right and will not be injured by the present rains. Several planters on the Savannah river say that fully 10 to 20 per cent. of their crops are damaged, while others say that about 5 per cent. will cover their loss. The prediction is made, however, that should the rains crops around Savannah will be fully 50 per cent. short.

rice crop on Cooper river this year has almost been a complete failure. Owing to the salt river a large portion of the rice land, though ready for the seed, was left unplanted. What was planted has had a hard time, and the crop will be very short.

The Cape Fear river planters, so far, report no damage to their crops by the rains, but are apprehensive of injury should these continue; a great deal of the grain having been cut and stacked in the field. No rice has been milled here yet, but the Carolina mills expect to commence milling early next week.

Prostrated by a Congestive Chill.

Mr. H. C. Prempert was found in his barber shop on South Front street yesterday morning in an unconscious state. He complained Monday evening of not feeling well, but went to market yesterday morning about 5 o'clock, and it is supposed that he was taken sick and walked to his shop, where he was found a little after 6 o'clock by one of his employes. Mr. Godfrey Hart went to the shop at 7 o'clock and saw him sitting in a chair unable to speak, and in a semiconscious condition. He was conveyed to his home and medical assistance summoned; but the efforts of the physicians seemed to be in vain until about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when he rallied somewhat and was able to recognize his family and some friends who were present. He soon, however, relapsed into unconsciousness again, and at 11 o'clock last night was in a most critical condition. The physicians say that he had a congestive chill early in the morning, and that he is much prostrated by it.

The many friends of Mr. Prempert hope to see him fully recovered in a few days, and sincerely trust that his sickness is only temporary.

British Bark Belgium. A port warden's survey will be held to-day on the British barque Belgium, towed into Southport Sunday last in a leaky condition. Capt. It is understood that there will be no question of salvage, an arrangehaving been ment made by the master of the barque with the captain of the tug Blanche to pay the latter $500 for the services rendered.
