THE MORNING STAR.

VOL. XLVI.—NO. 154.

WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1890.

WHOLE NO. 7,479

Table with 2 columns: Rate, Description. Includes rates for one square one day, two days, etc.

OUTLINES.

The calendar was considered in the Senate yesterday and a number of bills passed after which the remainder of the session was devoted to eulogium of late Representative Laird, of Nebraska...

The Washington Star, referring to Ex-Gov. Cameron's withdrawal from the Republican party, remarks "that it is a hard thing for a man to be a Republican in all the term implies in the State of Virginia..."

When Ingalls began his stumping tour in Pennsylvania he concluded he would try the Reed racket in Maine and swing loose on the force bill...

Boulanger says he was "deceived and made use of by everybody." He should make at least one exception, and that is the wife whom he basely deserted...

It is said that when the de Lesseps Panama Canal collapsed the fortunes of about 16,000 people collapsed with it, many of them being widows who were persuaded to invest their money in it...

Gen. Alger, it is said, is going to start a daily paper in New York to boom him for the Presidency, and put it in charge of ex-head-chopper Clarkson...

The factories of England, France and Germany make 77,000,000 pins a day. We don't know how many millions are made in this country...

Secretary Windom proposes to turn loose about $20,000,000 to ease up the stringency in the money market. A threatened panic which calls for government aid is a fitting climax to the performances of this very able and statesmanlike Congress...

Senator Ingalls who is in Pennsylvania stumping for Quay's man Delamater, on being interviewed at Philadelphia the other day, expressed the opinion that the "Force bill is dead now, at least for the time being..."

A reunion of the delegates who nominated Lincoln in 1860, is talked of. It is said that not more than one-third of them survive. It might also be remarked that very little of the Republican party of Lincoln survives...

In the army of commercial drummers in this country there are said to be 14,465 festive females.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

STAR OFFICE—Babbit metal. J. G. MILLER & SONS—Music. NOTICE—Registration Saturday. OPERA HOUSE—The Marionettes. MUNSON & CO.—Suits to measure. KIRKHAM & CO.—Fresh consignment.

Democratic Rally To-Night. All Democrats of New Hanover county are earnestly requested to be present at the City Court room to-night to organize a Democratic Club, and also to select delegates to the Grand Democratic Rally to come off in Raleigh on the 24th and 25th of this month...

The meeting will be a most important one, and every good Democrat is urged to lend his aid in this good cause. This club will be of great benefit to the Democracy, and there is no doubt that a large crowd will assemble, and much good will be accomplished by the formation of this club.

Registration, according to advertisement in the papers, will commence to-morrow. All of the registrars have their books, and those who have not qualified will do so to-day. The hours for registration will be from nine o'clock in the morning to two o'clock in the afternoon, and from half-past three o'clock in the afternoon till sunset.

Cotton Belt Bulletin. There was no rain yesterday in this district of the cotton belt, and the same conditions prevailed throughout the South, with the exception of show-ers at Galveston and New Orleans. The maximum temperature averaged 78° for the Wilmington district, and the minimum 56°.

The distinguished Mr. Cheadle, of Indiana, is right. "Ignorance can never dominate and over-rule intelligence," and what's more it isn't going to do it in this part of the vineyard force bill or no force bill.

LOCAL DOTS.

Items of Interest Gathered Here and There and Briefly Noted.

Tar sold yesterday at $1.55 per barrel.

Don't forget the grand Democratic rally at the City Hall to-night.

Seven thousand people heard Sam. Jones in Lynchburg Tuesday night.

Receipts of cotton yesterday 1,983 bales; receipts same date last year 798 bales.

Newsboys who wish to sell the Sunday's STAR should call at the office Saturday.

An excursion party from Mount Airy, via the C. F. & Y. V. R. R., arrived in the city last night.

There will be a meeting of the North State Cornet Club to-night at the Mayor's office in the City Hall.

Shade Wells, colored, and Chas. Gause, colored, were each fined $10 in the Mayor's Court yesterday for disorderly conduct.

The steamers D. Marchison and Cape Fear will offer reduced rates of fare for visitors to Wilmington during the Rev. Sam. Jones meetings.

The case of Charles Maynor, colored, indicted for the murder of Nathan Falls, will be called in the Criminal Court this morning; but it is not likely that it will be tried at this term of Court.

The Sylvan Grove will go into winter quarters to-day. The Passport, which has been undergoing repairs, will be in readiness to run double daily trips between Wilmington and Carolina Beach during the Tabernacle meetings.

The brig Edith cleared yesterday for Port-du-Paix, Hayti, with cargo shipped by Messrs. S. & W. H. Northrop, consisting of 181,807 feet of lumber, 129,950 shingles, and two barrels of spirits turpentine, valued at $3,534.90.

Messrs. Jacob S. Allen and T. M. Gorman will open a clothing and hat house, October 1st, in the store on North Front street now occupied by Messrs. Brunhild, Simon & Co. The firm name will be T. M. Gorman & Co.

The details of the sale of the Wrightsville Sound property, as given in the STAR yesterday, were read with interest. The members of the syndicate making the purchase are busy making preparations for a big sale of lots about October 1st.

"What's the matter with" the STAR? It long ago secured the services of a lady as one of its special reporters for the Sam. Jones meetings. She is the same lady who did most of the special work for the STAR at the Pearson meetings, and our readers have not forgotten how well it was done.

OPERA HOUSE.

E. B. Elsworth Captures the Cow and Calf—Grand Matinee To-Morrow Afternoon.

Last night another large audience greeted Bell's big gift carnival and their enjoyment of the entertainment was attested by loud applause and hearty laughter. The leading present last night was a fine milch cow and her calf which was won by E. B. Elsworth, who resides at No. 504 North Front street.

To-night will be given away as leading presents a fine road sulky, a large plush arm-chair and 100 other useful and valuable articles.

This company will close their successful week's engagement to-morrow night. A special matinee for ladies and children will be given in the afternoon, at which nice tea sets, dolls and albums will be distributed among the little ones in great profusion. It will be a rare treat for the children and parents will doubtless let them take advantage of the opportunity and turn out en masse. Doors open at 1:30 and the performance will begin at 2:30. Admission fifteen cents for children and twenty-five cents for adults.

Funeral of the Late H. C. Prempert. The funeral of the late H. C. Prempert took place yesterday afternoon at half-past four o'clock. Impressive services were held at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, conducted by the pastor Rev. F. W. E. Peschau. The remains were escorted from the church to Oakdale Cemetery, where the interment took place, by a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends, the Confederate Veterans' Association, Knights of Pythias, Masonic orders, and the Knights Templars in full uniform; the regalia of their deceased brother being placed upon the coffin. The pall-bearers were Messrs. John Neimeyer, Richard A. Warren, Martin T. Davis, Hans A. Kure, R. J. Jones and A. S. Heide.

A Bold Robbery. The residence of Mrs. Lamb, on Sixth street near Princess, was robbed by a sneak thief yesterday morning in broad daylight, who entered at the front door, and passing through to a rear room, picked up a gold watch and a purse containing fifty dollars in money and made his escape.

REV. SAM JONES.

Some of His Pungent Sayings at Round Lake and Lynchburg.

The Lynchburg, Va., News reports the following as among the latest sayings of the Rev. Sam Jones at the meetings now in progress in that city:

"I'm sometimes asked if I don't think a dancing church member can go to heaven. Oh, yes. I think some of you dancers will get there; but it will be under the clause that makes special provision for idiots."

Often Sam Jones is criticized for his bad grammar. Well, I do splutterdash the thing some, but it's like the difference between the slug and the bird shot: The slug is rough and uneven, but when it hits a fellow it does powerful execution. The bird shot is nice and smooth and shiny, but it don't hurt big game a bit. Fact is, I'm sorry for a preacher that can't get there only through grammar."

"I've long ways more respect for a saloon-keeper than for a dancing master. The saloon-keeper is only after my boy while the damnable old hook-nosed dancing-master is after my girl."

"You will hear a lot of fools right here in this town say to sensible people: 'Now, if you want to get into good society join our church.' But why don't you keep right along and tell it all? Why don't you tell them: 'If you want to go to hell come and go long with us.'"

A fashionable wine-supper is simply an ante-room to a saloon.

At Round Lake, N. Y., Mr. Jones concluded his summer engagement last week. The New York Sun quotes him as saying there:

"To be a Christian you must be a prohibitionist. I don't mean a third party man; but you must be a man that is against everything that favors whiskey, and favor of everything that is against it. To this some of the preachers shouted 'Amen,' when Jones said: 'If you say 'amen' to that you can never vote the Republican ticket again.'"

"I'm so glad that I don't preach like other preachers; and I'm so glad that whenever any one else tries to preach like I do he makes an ass of himself."

"Most preachers could learn from the old darkey down South, who said: 'My sermon will be divided into three parts: first, de subject matter, and de arousments; and seeing it is so warm, we'll leave off de first two parts and take to de arousments.'"

"I've never said a vulgar thing in the pulpit, never. When a horse has sore spots on him he thinks a 'currycomb is vulgar, but when he is sound he likes it."

"The dog barks and whines at the moon, but the moon shines on; and so your uncle Jones is going to let folks scold and howl, and he will try to just shine right on."

"The homes of this country are the key to success, or to failure. And as many homes have been turned over to worldliness and folly, multitudes are going to the devil."

"A man will pay a dollar a day to have his horse trained aright, and be careful to have it sheltered from every danger; but we let our children come up as they will."

"The thing now most to be dreaded in your home is yellow-backed literature."

"Don't let bad children into your yard, even if their parents are rich."

"You say I don't preach the Gospel; but you, poor soul, you wouldn't know the Gospel if you should meet it coming down the road."

"Nine-tenths of the old people are after the dollars, and nine-tenths of the young are after a good time, and it is hard to tell which are the biggest fools."

"If God loves everybody, then will not everybody be saved? No; for love never saved anybody. If it did, not another man's son would ever go to a drunkard's grave."

"A man gives his wife $50 to buy a new dress, and she needs it; but she takes the money to buy coal and pay rent for some poor woman. She has more religion than one who rides to a missionary meeting in a $600 carriage and then pays her monthly subscription of 10 cents."

"It takes two things to make a Christian; first, to realize that God loves you, and second, for you to pitch in and love God all you can."

"God never forces a crown upon anybody who doesn't want it; if He did, the rascal would go and sell it the first chance he got."

"The happiest fellows in the world are the ministers. (Then, turning to those on the platform) True, you don't get very big salaries; but you get all you are worth."

"If a man begins to give liberally, folks begin to think he is losing his mind."

CRIMINAL COURT.

The Barker Perjury Case—Jury Unable to Agree Upon a Verdict.

The trial of John A. Barker, charged with perjury, was continued yesterday, the case being ably argued by Messrs. A. G. Ricaud and D. L. Russell for the defence and M. Bellamy and Solicitor Moore for the State. The jury took the case about 2 o'clock p. m., and at 6 p. m., returned into court and asked for further instruction, which was given and they again retired.

Shortly afterwards the Court took a recess until this morning, and at 8 p. m., the jury were furnished supper by order of the Judge and again retired to their room for the night.

The case of Wm. Shepherd and Thos. Day, indicted for an affray, was tried during the afternoon. Shepherd submitted, and a verdict of guilty as to Day was rendered by the jury. The defendants were fined five dollars each and the costs of the case.

"DEN YOU AIN'T HONEST." Conversation Between Two Republicans in a Railroad Train.

A gentleman coming to the city from the Sound a day or two ago on a Seacoast railroad train, overheard a conversation between two other passengers—a colored man and a white man. The darkey remarked that he was a Republican because that party had freed him and had taken his body from under the lash. But he had, he said, friends among the white Democrats, and was going to vote hereafter as he pleased, but was still a Republican. The white man remarked that he was a Republican, also.

"Born about here?" queried the darkey. "Yes," responded the white man. "Was your daddy a white man?" "Yes."

"Did he own slaves?" "Yes."

"Den if you's a Republican you ain't honest," said the darkey. And he then moved away from his companion and the conversation ceased.

Chimes for Fifth Street M. F. Church. The chime of bells for Fifth Street Church have been placed in position and it is expected will be rung this evening for the first time, for prayer meeting.

There are nine bells representing nine octaves, and any tune can be played upon them. Prof. A. Lutz, of Baltimore, is expected here shortly to give instructions to several persons who have signified their intention of learning to play the chimes.
