SQUEEZING THE POOR MAN.

The McKinley bill is as coldblooded a measure as was ever passed to rob the toiling millions of their earnings to enrich the favored few who have dictated the tariff legislation of this country for a quarter of a century, who are alone benefitted by it with the exception of the politicians who were elected to office, beneficiaries contributed to carry bill, is making a fight for a re-eleccontributed by these beneficiaries of his work to be elected. They have cheerfully put up $100,000 to aid in his election, and will add thousands to it if money can buy votes enough to return him to Congress, where he serves them so well.

In Pennsylvania they have also contributed very freely, the fund raised among them, and from the assessed federal office holders and State office holders footing up about $400,000. A large fund has also been raised for use in close Congressional districts in other States, conand the probabilities are that a couple of million dollars, if not more, will be expended to elect Republican candidates in the coming election.

It is the contest renewed between the protected manufacturers and their pals in Congress against the plundered people, a contest in which money is entered against manhood. In the contests heretofore money has

In every revision of the tariff since the war there has been a steady increase in the rates of taxation on nearly everything, until this culminating McKinley iniquity in which the rates are from ten to one hundred per cent., and sometimes more than they ever were, even when many of the protective manufactories, were in their infancy. They have succeeded this time in getting on many articles the almost prohibitory tariff for which they were working, and upon which they had a full understanding with the partisan tools who framed the law and ran it through Congress under the application of the gag rule, and the dictates of the mighty caucus.

Now the people are beginning to realize what this put-up job means, for they have already begun to pay the extra tribute which it imposes on advanced all along the line. The ink had hardly got dry on the Presidential signature attached to the bill when it was announced that an ad- | tinkers, not tin. vance in price of from ten to twenty per cent. had been made in woolen and linen goods and on all fabrics into which wool or linen entered. This means that the poor man who buys a blanket to keep his children in the cold winter nights must pay from ten to twenty per cent. more for it now than he would have had to pay one day before this bill passed.

The farmer who buys an axe now to cut wood to keep him warm in winter, unless he burns corn as the Kansas farmer does, will have to pay ninety cents for the axe which he

The housekeeper who buys cutlery for the table, plain ordinary cutlery such as people in moderate or humble circumstances use, pays from thirty to ninety per cent. more than before the passage of this bill.

The man who buys a suit of clothes with a dab of wool in it, or the woman who buys a woolen garment pays from ten to twenty per cent. more than before this bill passed.

The mother who buys pearl buttons to put upon her own or her children's clothes pays double as much as before this bill passed, the increased tariff actually doubling the price to the importer.

It is not on the imported goods alone that the prices have advanced, but on domestic manufactures as well, the manufacturers taking advantage of the absence of competition resulting from the practically prohibitory tariff to raise the price of their manufactures. In order not to over-stock the market the manufacturers and large dealers enter into a combination, with the understanding to regulate the quantity of goods out upon the market, to feed it according to its appetite, as it were, to prevent it from being over-stocked, and thus keep prices up. Under this practically prohibitory tariff they can very easily do this, for there is no foreign competition to interfere with the programme. They are masters of the situation now, have the game in their own hands, and can rob the people at their pleasure. All the people can do for the present, at least, is to grin and bear it until a Congress is elected which will have some thought of and consideration for the people who earn their living by honest toil.

MINOR MENTION.

Col. Elliott F. Shepard, who performs on the columns of the New York Mail and Express, seems to be giving the Republican party managers trouble. He brays too loudly and too long. That's what's the and kept in by the money which the | matter. Ordinarily they don't mind his braying, but at this particular time his braying is offensive, Mr. McKinley, the drafter of this and is heard with alarm, because they fear it is doing the g. o. p. tion, and expects through the money | harm. They want to muzzle him, and if they can't do that they talk of starting another evening Republican paper in Gotham. While he brayed at the South they rather liked it, but recently he varied his performance by setting his ears back and taking a good, long, lusty bray at the Catholics. He denounced them in round terms and congratulated the country that Mr. Harrison had never shown them much favor. This was just after his return from Washington, where he had dined with the President, who was very much shocked at what might be regarded as tributed mainly by manufacturers, an expression of his sentiments. There are a good many Catholic voters in New York and some of them vote the Republican ticket. That's what hurt, and made this particular bray so objectionable. Now when the brayer goes to Washington, he isn't led to fodder at the White House.

The Republican campaign managers are always fruitful of frauds upon the eve of an election, The latest fraud they have concocted is the talk of establishing a tin plate manufactory at Chicago, which is intended to humbug the people and reconcile them to the outrageous in crease in the tin plate tax. The reputed president of this mythical company is quoted in the dispatches which have been telegraphed over the country as saying in reply to an inquiry as to when they would get to work, "I think I can safely say that within eighteen months tin plate will be made in Chicago by our company." This is giving them a good long time to get ready. This tin plate we are told is to be made with tin ore from the Black Hills, and in part from North Carolina tin ore, The amusing part of this statement is that there is not tin ore enough mined in North Carolina to galvanize the necessaries of life, prices having a dinner pail, but there is enough to run this Chicago tin plate manufactory, which has been started at this time to make votes for the tariff

Running Republican vote factories is another of the Pennsylvania industries which is now being pushed with a vim. A Wilkesbarre dispatch to the Philadelphia Record, says the Republican committees are doing a rushing business in registering the Poles, Huns and Italians in the mining districts, and are doing it as secretly as possible. This thing is being done to such an extent and so shamefully that decent Republicans who have some respect for their citizenship and the ballot, are protesting against it. In the county could have bought for sixty cents be- of Luzerne the other day corralled a drove of about thousand and brought them in to be registered. The Democratic committee prevented about 300 of them from registering, but 681 of them went through and were invested with the power to vote. They are so ignorant that they can neither read nor write their own language, nor speak nor understand the English language. The Republican party in Pennsylvania, as in other Northern States, claims to be the party of "intelligence." It must be on the ragged edge when it is driven to resorts

There is a good deal of activity now in the various departments in Washington in making arrangements to send government employes home to vote in the November elections. It is said that in many years there been no such stir. The employes are not only encouraged but expected to go. Meetings are held nightly and harangues made by prominent officials urging upon subordinates the necessity and the duty of depositing their ballots for the party to which they are indebted for their places. When hints are made at inability to pay railroad fare they are provided with tickets, ample arrangements having been made for that. The Government employe who knows on which side his bread is buttered will not tarry in Washington when he is expected to be at his home voting place to give the g. o. p. a boost.

STATE TOPICS.

The Charlotte Chronicle states that the Board of Aldermen have had un der consideration the subject of introducing manual training into the graded school of that city, that they are in favor of it, and that it will certainly be done. This is another evidence of Charlotte's progressiveness, if there were any evidence lacking. When it can be done, manual training should always go in our schools with training of the head. There is no school where it has been introduced that its good results have not been shown. There are many of the boys who are educated in the public schools who will have to carn their living by the labor of their hands, and the aid they will thus get in becoming skilled in the use of tools will be of immense advantage to them in after life.

- Maj: McKinley should hold a caucus with himself before he for libel in order to enable me to sanders & Co.'s In his keynote speech he said: "This tax is not paid by consumers. You no not pay it, and the foreigner knows it." All good, sound, protection doctrine, of course. But in the next breath he said; "The Republican party fifteen years ago gave this country free coffee and tea and it has now given it free sugar, and we now have as a result a free and untaxed breakfast-table." What! untaxed by reducing the tariff! Rank nonsense, major; because, you know, the tariff is not a tax on the consumer.

POLITICS AND THE CENSUS.

Figures to Help the Republicans in the Apportionment Scheme. Philadelpaia Times.

WASHINGTON, October 12 .- In an interview with an official of the Census Office he says: "The figures for the Dunnell reapportionment bill were made up at the Census Office. They were only estimates at time, but they have turned out to be substantially correct. Mr. Dunnell is the Chairman of the House Committee on the Eleventh Census, and called for these figures early in the count in order to base an apportionment bill upon them.

"The programme was undoubtedly arranged to pass both an election bill and an apportionment bill at the last session of Congress, but the Senate was not willing. Observe the figures closely and you will see that taking the population of the several States as returned and allotting a member to every 180,000 inhabitants it will make it very difficult for the Democrats to elect the next President, unless this fall should demonstrate that the Republican line in the West is weakened by the passage of the McKinley tariff bill. "For example the States now called Republican will have a total electoral vote of 218, while the States classed as Democratic only have 161. Then there are placed in the doubtful column, Connecticut, Indiana, New York and West Virginia. The Democrats would have to carry all four of these to elect a President, while the Republicans need only carry one of them.

"Do I think the apportionment bill will pass as introduced? I certainly do. A great deal of figuring was done before it was finally agreed upon and nothing that can happen is likely to cause the apportionment to be revised. It is absolutely the best that can be made for the Republican party."

ANOTHER TARIFF TANGLE. Custom House Officers Puzzled Over Kid

Gloves.

New York Herald. Scarcely has one knotty problem in connection with the meaning of the new McKinley tariff law been settled by the custom-house authorities than another presents itself.

The latest puzzler that is perplexing

the brains of the experts relates to the duties on kid gloves, and is a question of real interest to importers in that line. Section 458 of the new tariff law provides that kid gloves shall be taxed at fifty per cent. ad valorem, the same as under the old law. Then it goes on to declare that all men's gloves shall pay an additional duty of fifty cents per dozen pairs, all lined gloves $1 per dozen, all pique gloves fifty cents per dozen, and all embroidered back gloves, when more than four strands of silk have been used, fifty cents per dozen. The question that arises from the reading of this section is, "Are these additional duties accumulative?" As large quantities of men's gloves are not only lined, pique, but embroi-dered also, if they are compelled to pay all these various duties it would amount to about $5.20 a dozen, which would be practically a prohibitory tax on many classes of gloves. Importers naturally hold that the law does not intend to be accumulative and thus kill a large foreign trade. Custom house authorities on this point, and the Treasury Department at Washington will probably have to be called upon for a settlement of the meaning of the statute. And even that may not settle it, and thecourts may be appealed to.

Senator Delamater is reported as stating at Bradford last night that I price of liberty, but from the heavy am not responsible for the stateassessments being made just now on | ments contained in my letter to Col. NOTHING SUCCEEDS

LIKE SUCCESS.

The reason RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER is the most wonderful medicine. because it has never failed in any instance, no matter what the disease, from LEPROSY to the simplest disease known to the human system.

CAUSED BY MICROBES,

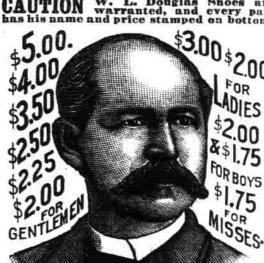

Exterminates the Microbes and grives them out of the system, and when that is done you cannot have an ache or pain. No matter what the disease, whether a simple case of Malaria Fever or a combination of diseases, we cure them all at the same time, as we treat as diseases constitutionally.

Asthma, Consumption, Catarrh, Brouchitis, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Bisease, Chills and Fever, Female Troubles, in all its forms, and, in fact, every Disease known to the Human System.

Beware of Fraudulent Imitations!
