OUTLINES.

The great Leland hotel in Saratoga, New York, is in ashes, the flames lapping it up in the course of about fifteen minutes; in connection with the fire there were some horrible and most exciting scenes, some six or seven of the sleeping inmates losing their lives, and many making escapes of a truly wonderful character; many lives were saved by the daring heroism of a fireman and a boy employed in the hotel; the property loss is over two hundred thousand dollars.

The most heartless pair of brutes that we have read of for some time was a rich old scoundrel and his wife who went before a Brooklyn justice a few days ago and applied for a writ to eject their widowed daughter, who with her children occupied an upper room in one of their tenement houses, and was unable to pay the rent when demanded. They got it, too, and refused to give her more than two days to get out. In the disposition of Providence how do people like that manage to keep out of the way of dead telegraph wires, falling buildings, or something of that sort, which some times kill human beings?

A Western Republican contemporary remarks that Gov. Campbell, of Ohio, "occupies the anomalous position of appealing to the Republicans to help him in his fight against corruptionists in his own party." The Republican Governor who would appeal to the Democrats to help him to fight the corruptionists in his own party would occupy a still more anomalous position. They don't do that kind of fighting.

A contemporary remarks that when Democratic papers discourse on the fact that the Democrats in Maine made gains in every district but Reed's, they are unwittingly showing that he is very popular. Not necessarily. It may only show that there was more boodle expended in Reed's district than in the others.

President Harrison is said to be very much mortified at the scandals in the Pension office. The Pension office is a place where Raun's refrigerators can be turned to good use, to prevent mortification from spreading through the whole shebang.

Chicago is about to erect what she claims will be the largest building in the world devoted to one establishment. It will be a retail store, covering half a block, sixteen stories high, to cost three million dollars, and built mainly of iron and steel.

Senator Hoar speaks of the late census as a "wonderful record." Wonderful indeed. In its gross frauds and inaccuracies it is one of the wonders of the age.

A New Store. Messrs. Thos. M. Gorman & Co. will open a new clothing and hat store next to the Orton, on Saturday, October 18th. Mr. Gorman has many friends in this city and has had considerable experience in this business.

The St. Louis Gobe-Democrat, Republican, charges that Chauncey I. Filley, the St. Louis Republican boss, demanded and received $6,000 for the nomination of Dr. McLean, for Congress. This is proof positive that Filley's orthodox Republicanism is beyond question.

Mr. McKinley brags about his tariff bill because he says it puts so many things on the free list, and gives more free trade than any other tariff bill ever did. And here they have been abusing the Democrats as very naughty people, free traders, &c., for trying to put some things on the free list and reduce the tax on others.

The first social gathering of the season at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held this evening, it having been decided to devote each Friday evening to this purpose. All friends of the Association are cordially invited to attend.

The normal class of the Tileston Normal School has been invited to spend an evening with their friends.

THE WEATHER YESTERDAY.

Heavy Rains in the Up-Country, but Little Here—A Briak Breeze at Southport.

Early yesterday morning there was a strong blow at Southport, the Signal Service observer reporting the velocity of the wind at thirty miles an hour. During the day, however, the wind moderated, and yesterday afternoon it was blowing at the rate of ten miles an hour. The highest velocity of the wind in Wilmington yesterday, as recorded at the Signal office, was twenty-four miles an hour. Persons who came up from Myrtle Grove Sound last night, said that there the wind was blowing a gale all the afternoon.

The Signal Service observer's reports show that the rainfall was very heavy in some sections of the State. Charlotte reported 1.87 inches; Raleigh, 1.55; Wadesboro, 1.80; Weldon, 1.27; Lumberton, .83; Florence, .90; Cheraw, .54; Goldsboro, .40 and Wilmington, .04. Rain was general all over the cotton region; it was particularly heavy in the Atlanta and Montgomery districts.

FEARFUL CYCLONE!

A PORTION OF ROBESON COUNTY DEVASTATED.

Buildings Demolished—One Man Killed and Several Persons Injured—A Saw Mill Ruined—Presbyterian Church at Floral College Damaged.

Advices came over the wires of the Carolina Central Railroad Company yesterday afternoon that a fearful cyclone passed two miles north of Maxton about 4 o'clock p. m., blowing down every house in its path.

Passengers who came in on the evening train on the Carolina Central knew nothing of the cyclone, but reported a very heavy rain, with much thunder and lightning.

Last night, however, a special dispatch from a correspondent of the STAR at Maxton was received, giving further particulars of the disastrous cyclone. The correspondent says that it passed just west of Maxton about 4 o'clock in the afternoon; its direction was nearly north. Fortunately its track was not wide. At Floral College, the belfry of the Presbyterian Church was demolished, the beautiful grove was ruined, a house occupied by colored people was blown down and three colored children were injured—one seriously, if not fatally. McKinnon's saw mill was demolished; and one man there was seriously injured.

At Hasty, a small town on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley railroad, about eight miles from Maxton and twelve miles from Bennettsville, S. C., four tenement houses occupied by colored people were blown down and one colored man is reported killed and several persons injured.

Trees and fences in the track of the storm were levelled with the ground.

RIVER AND MARINE.

Schooner M. C. Mosley arrived at Southport yesterday.

The British steamship Boshenna Bay, from New York, arrived at Southport yesterday and came up to the city in the afternoon.

The steam tug International, of Philadelphia, arrived and anchored at Southport yesterday. Her master asked to be reported.

RANGE OF THE THERMOMETER.

The following is the range of the thermometer yesterday at the Signal Office in this city, as compared with the same date last year:

Table with 2 columns: Time and Temperature. 12 o'clock noon 1890 1889. 4 p. m. 74 66. 2 p. m. 74 66.
