OUTLINES.

In the Senate yesterday, the Vice President admitted that he had made a mistake in declaring the motion of Senator Aldrich to take up the closure resolution carried the day before...

The women employed in the Departments at Washington are collecting subscriptions to erect a monument to the memory of the late U. S. Treasurer Spinner.

Ex-Gov. Thayer, of Nebraska, who tried to hold the seat which belonged to some one else, is said to have gone crazy from nervous excitement.

W. C. Squire has been elected United States Senator by the Legislature of Washington.

New York markets: Money easy at 3 3/8 per cent, closing offered at 3; cotton quiet; middling uplands 9 3/8...

An electric light company in New York stocked at $7,000,000 panned out $700 assets when the sheriff came hunting for them.

The English sparrow is not popular in Illinois. The Legislature has offered a bounty of three cents a head on every one murdered.

The New York Sun, which shines for all, says if people would save doctor's bills they must keep their feet dry, and it might have added their heads cool.

The potato crop of Ireland last year is only one-third as large as the preceding year. The potato being the main food of the poorer class of course this means much distress.

If you want to travel on railroads without taking chance of being killed, go to New Hampshire and do your travelling there. No passenger has been killed in that State in seventeen years.

Major Pond, Stanley's manager, it is said, will make a clean $100,000 out of the present lecture tour. It is a good thing for him that Stanley got into the "inards" of Africa and got out again.

The New York Tribune is very much shocked at the presence of an alleged Democratic ebbelizer in the New York Senate. He is more troubled over it than it would be at the presence of a whole regiment of Republican ebbelizers.

Gallinger, of New Hampshire, who succeeds Bore Blair in the U. S. Senate, is a homeopathic doctor. This is good. From the amount of castor oil some Senators make requisitions for they must be badly in need of a doctor, and it will be a good thing to have one handy.

The people of North Carolina, quite as much as Senator Vance, are to be congratulated on his re-election to the Senate. They never had and never will have a more faithful or better champion. May his days be long in the land and in the Senate, and his shadow never grow less.

The number of immigrants arrived in this country in 1890 was ten per cent. larger than in 1889. The total immigration since the beginning of the century is in round figures 16,000,000, 4,500,000 of which came from Germany, 3,500,000 from Ireland, and 2,000,000 from England and Scotland.

A Republican contemporary remarks that Uncle Sam pays foreign steamship companies $150,000,000 a year to carry his mails and freights. Well let Uncle Sam wipe out the idiotic tariff which prevents Americans from building ships and stop this thing of paying out so much to the "blasted" foreigners.

Senator Farwell, of Illinois, whom Dick Ogelsby got away with in the Republican caucus, says as there are three parties in the Legislature, neither strong enough to elect a Senator he don't see how a Senator can be elected honestly. Honesty is not a material factor in the election of Senators these days, but it may be remarked that Mr. Farwell didn't make this discovery until after "Uncle Dick" laid him out.

A White Boy Cowhided by a Colored Woman. A boy of twelve or thirteen years of age—son of Mr. Tate Croom—made complaint at the City Hall yesterday afternoon that a colored woman named Margaret Taylor had assaulted and beaten him with a cowhide. Young Croom said that he was flying a kite on Eighth street near Castle.

A colored boy caught the kite as it fell and ran off with it. Croom followed the colored boy, who ran into the woman's lot and picked up a stone and threw it at Croom, hitting him in the side. The woman then came out of the house and took a hand, seizing young Croom and calling to some one to bring her the cowhide, with which she struck Croom several blows before he succeeded in getting out of her clutches. A warrant was issued for her arrest and the case will probably be investigated by Mayor Fowler this morning.

U. S. Benevolent Fraternity. At the meeting of the U. S. Benevolent Fraternity Tuesday night, a handsome gold-headed cane was presented to Mr. Jas. F. Post, Jr., in recognition of his services, by his brother members of the order, and Mr. Jno. R. Latta was made the recipient of a pretty watch charm. Mr. Henry Burkholder made the presentations, which were appropriately responded to by Mr. Post and Mr. Latta.

Storm Warning. The following dispatch from the Chief Signal Officer was received here last night at 11:30 o'clock: "Hoist cautionary southwest signal for Wilmington section. Storm central in Alabama, moving northeast. Will probably cause dangerous winds from Florida to Massachusetts to-morrow. Signals also ordered at Charleston, Morehead City and Washington.

Severely Scalded. Ben Scott, colored, living on Seventh street between Wooster and Dawson, was so severely scalded on one of his legs yesterday that he had to be removed to the City Hospital for treatment. He was pouring boiling water from a kettle, when the vessel accidentally upset.

A PALACE ON WHEELS.

The First Vestibule Train on the Atlantic Coast Line this Season.

The first vestibule train on the Atlantic Coast Line, from Wilmington to Florida, passed through Wilmington at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning with about fifty passengers.

The train was composed of six coaches, a baggage car, dining car, three drawing room sleepers and a parlor car. These were all joined together on the vestibule plan, and practically formed one long car. Each car is fitted up in an elegant and costly style, and is a perfect model of beauty and convenience.

All possible wants of the passengers are provided for, and travelling on this train is as pleasant and comfortable as travelling can be made to be.

The vestibule train is lighted by electricity, and has a cook aboard who once prepared dishes to tickle the palates of the Vanderbiltites at a salary of $4,000 a year. He has most efficient assistants and delightful meals are served in the handsome dining apartment of the cars. Over thirty employes are attached to the train.

The drawing-room car "Ideal" is represented to be the most magnificent coach yet seen in the South. Nothing approaching it in design, convenience or elegance has ever before been made. This car won the prize at the Paris Exposition. It is subdivided into six drawing rooms, each of which is a handsomely equipped apartment in itself. Each one is finished in a different colored wood, and the upholstery, which is of the finest and most expensive style, shows a variety of patterns. The drawing rooms are convertible into bed chambers at night.

The "Alway," the last car, is a combination observation and smoking apartment. A library, with several hundred copies of standard novels, is a part of the equipment. Writing desks, newspapers and magazines are conveniently at hand. The car is the paradise of smokers.

The cars cost mints of money, and the Pullman Company has to reimburse itself by charging extra rates for passengers. The schedule of rates is shown by quoting the additional cost from New York to the following places: Richmond, Va., $5.25; Petersburg, Va., $5.50; Weldon, N. C., $8; Goldsboro, N. C., $9; Wilmington, N. C., $9.50; Florence, S. C., $11.50; Charleston, S. C., $12; Savannah, Ga., $13.50; Waycross, Ga., $15; Jacksonville, Fla., $15.50; Augustine, Fla., $16. These prices include the sleepers. The drawing rooms cost extra fares, the price from New York to Charleston for a drawing room being $7.

The "extra fare," as will be seen, is by no means excessive. The average traveller could afford it, but the vestibule trains are patronized almost exclusively by the ultra fashionable and wealthy tourists.

GEO. Z. FRENCH Postmaster.

DR. J. M. CURRY'S ADDRESS

To the Legislature of North Carolina on Education, Etc.

RALEIGH, Jan. 19.—Gov. Fowle introduced Dr. J. M. Curry to-day at 10 a. m., in the House of Representatives, in a few well chosen remarks.

Dr. Curry began his address by referring to his past life, and spoke substantially as follows: He was a Confederate in heart, soul and spirit; but like many many others since he received his parole he had sworn to support the Constitution in all its fullness. He had no use for such Christianity as said to one boy, you may be educated, and to another, you may not; that he thought that all should receive the benefit of education without regard to race, color, etc. He then touched on the subject of co-education of the sexes; spoke of the emancipation of the negro; said that there was an idea that the negro was to be educated, but that it was not; that Lincoln by his proclamation did it; that they then made citizens of them; that we cannot undo that—the North Carolina Constitution recognizes it. The negro has feeling, intellect, etc. If he violates a contract, you make him responsible; if he breaks the criminal law you punish him; he is a voter. We are creatures of circumstances; if we do not educate the negroes they will drag us down—that is the universal law of life. My stock is turned over to the great masses of the people need these schools for educating the ignorant children of the State. The Democratic party in its platform committed itself to an increase of the school fund, and also the Farmers' Alliance at Asheville. He did not know any grips and did not know who were Alliance men. (A voice—"All of us.") Laughter.

Dr. Curry said he was raised on a farm. He said that agriculture was the largest single industry of the country; that from 75 to 85 per cent. of the population of North Carolina were farmers; that Solomon said the "King himself is served of the field." That the world was in six months of starvation; that if the farms stopped for six months there would be starvation in the world.

He spoke of the necessity of the farmer being educated; he should be familiar with chemistry; what fertilizer he should use, what bugs, insects, &c., were in his crops. Good farming is the application of scientific principles in farming. How many keep a debit and credit account?

He then alluded to the wealth of North Carolina in its timber; there was no place on the face of the globe—California, where the big trees grow, not excepted—where there was a greater wealth in the variety and quantity of timber than Western North Carolina. He said that he had seen farms that were cultivated for two thousand years, and that they were producing more than ever each year.

He then adverted to railroads and county roads, advocating the improvement of the latter. He said that it cost to give more to haul a bushel of wheat than the railroads to haul a ton. He then said he wished he had time to discuss political economy a little—production, distribution and consumption—that a farmer would not produce unless he had a market—that the county roads were the farmer's way to distribute and reach the consumer. He then said that the railroads were a great benefit to the public. He had seen a woman and a dog hitched to a wagon in Europe, hauling over those good roads more than four mules or oxen could haul over the roads of Virginia.

He then addressed himself to ignorant labor. He said that the standard of living should be elevated; said he should know how to prepare our food; that any man who would compel his family and himself to live on hard, indigestible bread and fat bacon swimming in grease and then expect to be happy and intelligent, broke all the laws of nature—it was an impossibility.

He then adverted to the normal schools, and said that the children should not be cursed by incompetent teachers. The schools of North Carolina were in an unsatisfactory state, with short sessions, etc. He advocated of good teachers—that if you wanted a doctor you would not send for a carpenter, but one versed in medicine; therefore, how necessary is it for us to have teachers, who know their business.

He closed with an eloquent appeal for the children of North Carolina.
