LOCAL DOTS.

The Louisville Courier-Journal remarks that if Benj. Harrison was a big man intellectutly he would appoint Judge Walter Q. Gresham Secretary of the Treasury. But if Judge Gresham is the level-headed gentleman he is supposed to be he would hardly resign a comfortable, respectable life position for the doubtful honor of sitting for two years in Mr. Hrrrison's cabinet.

The Legislature of Ohio and Michigan are falling in with Indiana, and have resolutions pending demanding the election of United States Senators by the people. Increasing Cotton Receipts. Receipts of cotton at this port as compared with receipts last season, continue to increase. Up to date-Feb. 6th -the total receipts since Sept. 1st, are 166,839 bales; last year, to same date, the receipts were 126,514 bales; showing an increase so far, of 40,325 bales.

Receipts for the week ended yesterday were 2,553, against 1,381 bales the corresponding week last year.

The Custom House Matter. A committee of colored men who went to Washington City in the interest of the appointment of Jas. H. Young, as Collector of Customs, returned last night; as did the opposition element-Judge Russell, Gen. Manning and others. They report that the matter is in the hands of a committee, and say that they have every reason to believe that the appointment of Young will be favorably reported upon by this committee and confirmed by the Senate.

ANOTHER BATTLE.

Walking Sticks Used in a Lively Manner By Editors Ashe and Daniels-No One Hurt.

[Special to the Star.]

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 6.—Another encounter took place this morning in the corrodirs of the Capitol building between Capt. S. A. Ashe and Mr. Daniels, in which walking sticks were used in a lively manner. Just as the encounter took place Senator Ardrey and Representative Cooper came up and separated the two editors. Neither were hurt. Capt. Ashe with Senator Ardrey went into the room of the keeper of the Capitol. This second encounter was of course the topic of com-ment during the day. Both editors, when the House of Representatives convened, took their seats at the reporters' tables, taking notes for their two papers. Whether this will end the matter or not is hard to tell. Of course it is regretted by the friends of the two editors that this second encounter should have taken place, and every means will be used to endeavor to reconcile matters for the future. The parties were arrested this evening. Capt. Ashe was fined one dollar costs, and Mr. Daniels was fined five dollars and costs.

Items of Interest Gathered Here and There and Briefly Noted.

- A special train on the Seacoast road will leave at 10.80 a. m. to-day for the Hammocks.

- The sale of seats for Field's Minstrels Monday night, commences at Yates' this morning.

RIVER AND MARINE.

- The British steamship Craigmore, 1,458 tons, from Philadelphia for this port, arrived at Southport yesterday.

- Maratime powers are fast appreciating the use of oil as a wave queller. England has already made a law relating to the use of oil for that purpose, The Norwegian Veritas have made a regulation requiring that in future all vessels exceeding 500 tons must have on board at least five, and all other smaller vessels at least three, bags or other appliances for the distribution of oil over heavy seas.

- Shipmasters are complaining about the number of wrecks that are strewn along our Atlantic coast. These wrecks are unmarked by buoy or light, are in the track of our coastwise trade, and are in every way a dangerous obstruction to navigation. Nearly all of these wrecks are sunk, or partially so, leaving just enough above water or near the surface to make an obstruction against a vessel, striking her with disastrous effect.

OPERA HOUSE.

Field's Minstrels Monday Night-Reserved Seats at Yates' this Morning.

The Charleston News and Courier, the Sayannah News and the Augusta Chronicle, all speak in praise of Al. G. Field's Minstrels which appear here on Monday night next. The company arrive here Sunday morning from Columbia in their own car, and will give a grand open air concert Monday morning at 11 o'clock. It is unquestionably an excellent minstrel troupe, and will undoubtedly attract a large crowd to witness its performance.

Reserved seats will be put on sale a Yates' this morning.

Weather Forecasts. The following are the weather forecasts for to-day:

WILMINGTON AMATEURS.

Concert for the Benefit of the Shelter of the Silver Cross.

The Concert by the Vaudeville Company, for the benefit of the Shelter of the Silver Cross, last night drew a good house. The audience in manifesting their appreciation, liberally applauded the various members, and in some instances insisted upon an encore.

Miss Chasten's interpretation of Joseffy's "Parquinade" was very good. The Arion Quartette delighted all lovers of good music with Coe's "O'Fair Dove, O Fond Dove," and "The Four Liteboatmen." The string quartette, in Mr. Murchison's arrangement of "The Dawn of Love," was so pleasing that they received an encore.

Mr. Newman made quite a hit in his comic song, "Miss McCarthy's Ball." Mr. Holden's magnificent voice was heard to great advantage in Pinsutti's 'I Fear No Foe.'

Mr. J. G. Miller Jr's. cornet solo, 'Enchanment Polka," accompanied by a brass quartette, was very fine. Undoubtedly the most enjoyable number was the trio for violin, violencello and piano. Altogether it was a very successful and pleasing entertainment. DAMP COTTON.

The New York Cotton Exchange's Reply to Complaints from Liverpool.

The Liverpool Cotton Association has complained to the New York Exchange of "damp" cotton (baled before thoroughly dry). The foreigners asked that rules be made to prevent shipment of "damp" cotton. A committee of the New Cotton Exchange took up the matter and the following answer has just been sent to the complaining Englishmen:

"The committee are surprised that such a communication as that referred to them should emanate from such a source as the Liverpool Cotton Association. The cause of damp cotton and the exceptionable loss in weight is something to be easily accounted for. For a long period of the present picking season the weather was wet; so much so that moisture not only thoroughly impregnated the fibre, but seriously reduced the quality or grade of the crop. Neither the cotton exchanges of America nor the growers of cotton can frame any rules that will prevent rain from wetting cotton that has not yet been picked. It is the belief of this committee that the world in general is obliged to take things as they find them, If the cotton crop is a poor one, a sandy or wet one. that is the article that has got to be traded in for the time being. Under the circumstances, and believing that there can be no rules formulated that will alter the workings of nature on a plant that grows in the open air, your committee herewith beg to return the communication from the Liverpool Cotton Association, with the recommendation that no attempt be made to formulate any such rules as are
