FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS

SECOND SESSION.

Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation Biil Reported in the Senate-Debate on the Copyright Bill-The Legislative Appropriation Bill Considered in the House.

". Lelegraph to the Morning Star. SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 .-- Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation bill reported with amendments and placed on the calendar. Mr. Hale giving notice that he would ask for consideration to-morrow.

Mr. Jones, of Nevada, from the Committee on Contingent Expenses, reported a resolution, which was agreed to, authorizing the Committee on Naval Affairs to sit during the coming recess for the purpose of considering various bills before it relative to the personel of the Navv. etc.

The Senate resumed consideration of the Copyright bill, the pending question being on Sherman's amendment to strike out the word "prohibited," and insert the words "subject to duties provided by law;" so that foreign editions of books, etc., which are copyrighted in the U.S. may be admitted to this country on payment of the regular tariff duties.

Mr. Platt, who has charge of the bill, said that the friends of the Copyright would recognize the fact that passage of the bill was imperilled by the amendment already agreed to, and that further amendment to it would probably defeat its passage at this session.

Mr. Reagan spoke on the subject of the amendment of which he had given notice yesterday, and said that, while he favored an international copyright, the pending bill was a mere supplement to the protective tariff. The effect of its passage would be to increase the cost of books and put restrictions on publications and a taxon knowledge. Mr. Vance did not know that he would have had the temerity to oppose the pending bill if it had not been that in the course of debate and of votes he had thought that he discovered an old quaintance. He thought that he felt the hair of his friend-protectionist Eisau-although the voice was that of free-trade lacob. Being emboldened by that recognition of an old acquaintance, he expressed himself and his fortunes, like the lady in the play who on leaving the room said, "I bid you good-bye, ladies, and leave my character with you' -to the combined hostilities of authors of literature of the two leading nations of civilization. He would rather be the means of placing a cheap book (a book printed and published and sold cheap) in the hands of one poor ambitious boy that would stimulate him to greater exertions, than of placing a million dollars in the pockets of the Harpers by the passage of the copyright bill. The scheme to make a man pay a dollar for a book which he could now get for fifty cents was quite as dishonest as the scheme to appropriate the work of another man's brain. It was as dishonest a scheme as had ever been manufactured by a publisher in publishing books without authority. If he could he would repeal the tariff duty on books, and would allow all books to come in freely. Going on to speak against the bill. Mr. Vance declared that when it was simmered down it terest of American publishers. That was the sum and substance of it. He was opposed to it in principle out and Finally a vote was reached on Mr. Sacrman's amendment, and it was agreed to. Yeas 25, nays 24. The Copyright bill was then laid aside without further action.

The President's message, announcing the death of Admiral Porter was laid before the Senate and the remainder of the afternoon was devoted to eulogistic speeches upon his life. The speakers were Messrs. Chandler, McPherson and Hale. The Senate then adjourned. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

On motion of Mr. McMillen, of Tennessee, the Senate amendment was nonconcurred in to the House bill to establish the customs district of Tennessee.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Legislative Appropriation bill. The Civil Service Commission paragraph was under consideration and debate was limited to three hours.

. Mr. Cannon moved an amendment providing for a secretary and stenographer at $1,600 each. This, he said, would comply with the terms of the organic law. Then followed a lively debate in which Messrs. Cannon and Grosvenor led the attack upon the Civil Service Commission, and Messrs. Butterworth and Lodge were the principal

Mr. Dingley moved th amend Mr. Cannon's amendment by inserting a provision appropriating $36,400 to enable the commission to execute the provisions of the Civil Service act.

Mr. Cannon called attention to the fact that this would merely be a contingent fund and would not enable the commission to employ clerks. The amendment was agreed to, and Mr. Cannon's amendment as amended was

The committee then rose and reported the bill to the House. The first question was an amendment providing for more numerous. Lard and ribs followed clerks to members not chairmen of com- the course of pork, the former closing mittees. The amendment was defeated | with a gain for the day of 71/2c, and the -yeas 72, nays 146-and the Speaker, in | latter of 5c. announcing the result, declared that the committee amendment was disagreed to by the House.

The bill was then passed. The President's message, announcing the death of Admiral Porter was read and referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs, and then the House adjourned.

JACK THE RIPPER.

AGAIN AT HIS BLOODY WORK.

Another Mysterious Murder in the White Chapel District of London-A Woman the Victim

By Cable to the Morning Star. London, February 13 .- Particulars in regard to a woman who was found dead in the White Chapel district this morning and who is supposed to have been murdered by the fiend known as "Jack the Ripper," show that she is about 25 years of age, and quite good looking for a woman of her class. She was found lying on her back with her head nearly severed from her body. There was also a severe cut on the back of her head, caused, it is thought, by the severe fall she experienced when her assailant knocked her down. supplies of iron if it lasts. The scene of this, possibly the lastest of a series of "Jack the Ripper's" crimes, is a dark narrow archway, known as 'Swallow's Gardens," and leading from Little Mint street to Chambers street. The archway referred to is, during busy hours, a well frequented thoroughfare, especially used by railway employes and stablemen in passing to and from their residences in and about that packed neighborhood to work on numerous lines of railroads or in the many stables scattered about that section of the city. At all time of night there are people awake in the houses and pedestrians passing about and through "Swallow's Gardens", but nobody seems to have heard any cries of any alarming nature during the early hours this morning, when the crime was committed. The murdered woman, judging from appearances, belonged to the abandoned class of females, and was fairly well dressed. Though her hair was untidy her clothing had not been disarranged. The police theory is that the woman was murdered while in a standing position; that the crime was probably the work of "Jack the Ripper," and that the murderer was frightened away by the approach of some person before he had time to mutilate the body in the manner already described in previous crimes attributed to "Jack the Ripper." On the other hand it is known that residents of White Chapel in particular, and of London in general, are prone to give credit to "Jack the Ripper" for any murder or attempt at murder in White Chapel, when a woman is concerned.

Large crowds of people naturally gathered around "Swallows Gardens" this morning. In spite of the efforts of scores of detectives and of uniformed and plain clothes police of the division, there seems to be, as in so many other murderer. No arrests were made. A railroad employe, it is true, says he saw the murdered woman talking to a man, apparently a foreign seaman just previous to the time the murder is supposed to have been committed, and the police are now engaged in searching all vessels lying in the Thames or in many docks and about the part of London. The police who tound the woman reached the spot while the murderer was only a few yards away. The victim's lips were still twitching nervously and her eyes winking, when the officerbent over her, and a moment later sounded his whistle in a call for assistance, which must have placed any policeman in the neighbor-

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Feb. 13.—The Republican party went to pieces in the joint assembly to-day.

The Republican steering committee,

when roll call was ordered for the first would be found to be simply in the in- | ballot, attempted to spring a little surprise. Instead of continuing for Lindley. the mandate was silently circulated that the President of the F. M. B. A. should be dropped and the name of Richard J. Oglesby, regular party nominee, substituted. Many Republicans who had not been consulted in the proposed change of programme repudiated the mandate of the steering committee and voted their individual preferences. The ballot resulted as follows: Palmer, 101; Oglesby, 81, Lindley, 16; Stelle, 2; L. Hibbard, 1; C. B. Farwell, 1; M. W.

Mathtews, 1; and P. H. Connelly, 1. On the 86th bailot, the Republicans all came into line for Lindley and the yote was as follows: Palmer, 101; Lindley, 100; Steele, 2; Hubbard, 1, The subsequent ballots to the 93rd were without material changes.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

An Improvement Noted in Trade and the Feeling More Confident as Shown by

Dun's Review. By Telegraph to the Morning Star. NEW YORK, Feb. 13.-There is some improvement in business at the East and more confident feeling, and at Chicago the tone is very hopeful. But at most Western and nearly all Southern points business shows no increase in volume and is rather hesitating. Payments through all clearing houses for January show scarcely any increase over last year; although yearly and quarterly disbursements on account of previous business were very much larger

The market for dress goods is particu, larly active, agents looking forward to a time of extraordinary prosperity. But orders for heavy goods are scanty, and clothiers, remembering the heavy loss of the past winters, are buying with great caution. Trade in cotton goods is fair in volume and print cloths are a shade stronger in price. The boot and shoe trades show sound improvement as to volume, though prices obtained are not highly satisfactory. Sugar refiners are busy with ample orders for future delivery, though the present trade is naturally light. The grocery trade is fairly active and indicates no decrease in demand for consumption. Throughout the country the money markets are comparatively easy and undisturbed, though the demand is good and the supply hardly adequate. At Cleveland and at Omaha the market is

THE WHISKEY TRUST.

Further Developments in the Conspiracy Case Against Gibson. By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, February 13,-It appears that the face value of the whiskey trust certificates which Gibson had in his satchel was $30,000, the market value of which is about $15,000, which tallies with the amount that De War says Gibson promised him. This morning attorney William Barry, of counsel for with District Attorney Milchrist, and dry for one week. asked permission to examine the package said to have been delivered by Gibson to De War and supposed to contain explosives with which Shufeldt's distilery was to have been blown up.

Judge Blodgett gave the required auhority and Barry and Milchrist, with Inspector Summerell, Sergeant Brooks, Marshal Hitchcock and Captain Stuart, made the investigation. The package is about a foot long and six inches wide, and six inches thick, and was carefully sealed. A pint bottle full of a light bluish fluid was discovered. Its principal ingredient was phosphorus and it proved rather troublesome from its tendency to set fire to everything it touched, and from the suffocating fumes it raised.

Our purpose in making the experiment, said Mulchrist, was to find out if the fluid was the same that was in the bottle which Gibson gave to De War and such it proved to be. Milchrist said the result of the experiment is to fasten the chain of evidence securely around Gibson, and make it possible to indict him for attempted arson.

THE WORLD'S FAIR

The Work of Grading Interrupted by Strikers.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.-The work of grading on Jackson park in preparation for the World's Fair is at a standstill, Late yesterday afternoon a lot of idle workmen finding that they were unable to induce Italians who were at work to strike for an advance in wages, attacked them and drove them out of the park with kicks and cuffs. This morning a clowd of idlers gathered in the park to the number of 700 or more, and maintained such a threatening attitude toward the Italians that the contractors thought it best not to attempt to resume operations. Some union carpenters engaged in building offices and stables were not molested. Contractors say they will wait till they secure telephone connections with the police department when they will resume work, and if interfered with will demand pro-
