All was quiet yesterday in the Pennsylvania coke regions; ten of the rioters are dead and others may die from wounds received; two regiments of State militia are at Morewood; funerals of the victims will take place to-day, when further trouble may occur.

Will the Italian Government demand indemnity for the Italian subject killed in the Morewood, Pennsylvania riot? If not, why not?

Ex-Congressman Pound, of Wisconsin, is pounding away at Blaine's reciprocity, which he characterizes as "international communism."

When Senator Palmer, of Illinois, was a young man, he learned the trade of a cooper. But he has never had much use for the "bar'l" since.

That was a Solomon New Jersey judge who reserved his decision in a dress-maker's suit until he had a chance to consult his wife as to some of the mysteries in the bill.

Secretary Blaine has not yet telegraphed to the Governor of Pennsylvania deploring the "massacre" of those foreign subjects in the Morewood fracas.

The Legislature of Texas has passed a railroad commission bill, which has been approved by the Governor, very similar in its provisions to the bill passed by the Legislature of North Carolina.

Editor Dana's conclusion is after his observation of the progress of the negro, on his late Southern tour, in the South, that about the year A. D. 1892, a colored President may be elected in the United States.

When those five hundred Montana mountaineers, who have tendered their services in the event of a fracas with Italy, are mustered in and properly mounted the Italian navy had better take to the woods.

Congressman Oats, of Alabama, rises to remark that the "eulogies pronounced on deceased Congressmen, cost $12,000 to print," which is a good deal more than the average live Congressman is worth.

Col. W. W. Dudley, of "blocks-of-five" fame, announces that he is out of politics for good. Dudley never has felt right good since Harrison shut the front gate on him and asked him to come in the back way.

With this week's issue the Wilson Mirror entered on a new volume. Its editor, Geo. W. Blount, is not only a man of eloquent pen but of a warm heart which throbs in sympathy with the trials and sorrows of mortals and is always happiest when he is laboring to make others happy.

A party of Ohio fruit-growers who recently went on a prospecting tour in Georgia liked the State so well that they purchased several thousand acres of land for the purpose of fruit culture. Another delegation, about forty in number, with the same view, will visit Georgia next week.

There are still remaining on the pension rolls drawing pensions the names of twenty-three widows of revolutionary soldiers. A century from now this time there will be about 28,000 names of widows of soldiers who fought in the late "unpleasantness" on the pension rolls.

The State of Georgia is wrestling with an unexpected pension problem. The last Legislature passed an act allowing a pension of $100 a year to the widows of Confederate soldiers, and appropriated $60,000 to pay them.

The Philadelphia Press, Rep., imparts the information to its confiding readers that Governor Pattison, of Pennsylvania, is laying his wires for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

A German-American on a visit to the fatherland found himself locked up in jail for rashly remarking that Kaiser Wilhelm "didn't know beans."

Rhode Island is another of the States where it requires a majority of the votes cast to elect a State officer. In the election held on Wednesday, Davis, the Democratic candidate for Governor, has a plurality, but the Republicans have a majority on joint ballot in the Legislature and will elect a Republican Governor.

THE SUGAR QUESTION.

The Decline in Sugar a Very Interesting Topic Just Now to Housekeepers.

Everybody is interested in the sugar question just now; in fact the interest felt in what is termed "free sugar" is greater than could be excited by the most sensational "Local." Wilmington is not so favorably situated as some of the other cities for taking advantage of the fall in prices, but in a week or ten days the family pass-book, when it is returned from the grocer's will show a change of figures that will delight the thrifty and economical housekeeper.

The universal interest felt in the subject induces the STAR to reproduce the following extracts:

Savannah News.

The duty goes off sugar to-day and the dealers have been letting stocks run down so as not to be caught with any high priced goods on hand. A number of wholesale dealers have been for some time bringing out sugars in bond. M. Fere's Sons & Co. will be the first to make deliveries under the new order of things. They will deliver to dealers about 600 barrels of sugar before ten o'clock this morning. The orders arriving here will keep the wholesale jobbers hustling to make deliveries this week. Over 1,000 barrels of sugar will go through the custom house to-day on the free list.

Richmond Dispatch.

Between 4,000 and 5,000 barrels of sugar were released from bond yesterday by the customs officials from the various warehouses and depots.

At the custom-house a Dispatch reporter was shown a sample of the granulated sugar that is to be retailed for five cents per pound. It was quite noticeable that the grain is much coarser than formerly.

The public at large does not seem to have a very clear idea of what constitutes "free sugar." Inquiries were made at several grocery stores yesterday if it was to be given away.

Sugar is tested by what is known as the "Dutch standard." This begins at No. 7, which is the lowest and darkest grade imported, and runs up to No. 22, which is the best granulated. A sample of each grade is enclosed in a separately sealed glass bottle, and it is by a comparison with these that the quality is determined, the standard being based entirely upon the color.

Under the new tariff law all sugar under "16 Dutch standard" is admitted free of duty. This grade is a very light brown, and is refined in this country.

[Charleston News & Courier.]

The housekeepers of Charleston can now afford to use more and better sugar than heretofore. The duty on sugar was taken off yesterday, and the reduction in the price ought to make it possible for lovers of sweet things to get enough sugar.

The placing of sugar on the free list means a very great deal to the consumer. Taking granulated sugar as a standard the import duty was 2.60 cents a pound. The wholesale merchants will allow a reduction of about two cents a pound.

There have been immense quantities of sugar received at all American ports and placed in the bonded warehouses to be taken out on the 1st of April, when it was placed on the free list. There were about three thousand barrels of sugar in the Charleston bonded warehouse, which, if duty had been paid, would have amounted to about $18,000.

The retail merchants throughout the State have, in consequence of the reduction in the price of sugar, allowed their stocks to run very low. Yesterday F. W. Wagner & Co., who had about 2,000 barrels in the warehouse, shipped to points throughout the State about 1,000 barrels. This will allow the merchants to sell their sugar at the reduced rates very much sooner than they could have otherwise done. But for this action it would have been weeks before the interior merchants could have secured it from the New York markets, which now have advance orders for 400,000 barrels of sugar taken out of the bonded warehouses on the free list.

While sugar was constructively in the warehouses it was allowed to be refined. Most of the sugar brought here is in a crude condition.

MORTUARY.

Dr. Potter's Annual Report—A Low Death Rate.

The annual report of Dr. F. W. Potter, city physician and superintendent of health, gives the total number of deaths in the city of Wilmington for the twelve months ended March 31, 1891, as 434, including 55 still-birth, 10 drowned, and 8 accidentally killed; leaving the total of deaths from other causes, 361. Of the still-births 8 were white and 47 colored; of the killed, 3 white and 5 colored; of the drowned, 5 white and 5 colored.

The total number of deaths for the white race was 138; colored, 301. Taking the whole number—434—with a population of 21,000, the Doctor estimates the death rate (white and colored) at 20.70 to the 1,000. For the whites alone, estimating the population at 9,000, the death rate per 1,000 is 15.80, and for the colored (population 12,000) 25.080 per 1,000. The death rate for white and colored, excluding the still-born, killed and drowned, is 17 per thousand; and for the whites alone, excluding still-born, killed and drowned, 13 per thousand.

The chief causes of death, the report shows, were—consumption, which carried off 14 whites and 41 colored, pneumonia, 6 white and 8 colored; convulsions, 1 white and 13 colored; dysentery, 4 white and 7 colored; congestive fever, 5 white, 4 colored; continued fever, 2 white, 4 colored; malarial fever, 1 white, 9 colored; typhoid fever, 5 white, 4 colored; typho-malarial fever, 3 white, 5 colored; pernicious malarial fever, 1 white, 2 colored. There were 8 deaths from paralysis, 10 from apoplexy, and 11 from heart disease. Five deaths are reported from old age.
