LOCAL DOTS.

Row to Advance Real Estate and to Keep a Town Moving. The Greenville, S. C., News gives expression to some sound and practical views which may be read with interest and profit by the people of Wilmington, where, it must be admitted, there is a woful lack of unity and concert of action.

The bequest of the late George Peabody of $2,500,000 to build dwellings and lodging-houses for the poor of London has increased from rents and interest to $5,117,330, while the land and buildings acquired and built with the fund are valued at $6,169,225 more, but to the end of last year 5,071 houses had been built and furnished for the poor, which are rented to them at such rental as they can afford to pay.

The cabbage acreage of Florida is said to be immense this spring. With cabbages and other garden sassa, oranges, lemons, alligators, fish-bone mines and meerscham clay, Florida may look confidently to the future. With such diversified industries some of them ought to strike.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. OPERA HOUSE—The Corsair. STAR OFFICE—Wrapping paper. MUNSON & Co.—Spring clothing.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS. Pertinent Paragraphs Pertaining Principally to People and Pointedly Printed. —Mr. Nelson Jenkins received a telegram last night from Newark, New Jersey, stating that his mother and sister were both critically sick, with little hopes of recovery. He left for Newark on the 12.05 train this morning.

The editorial cat corps of the STAR has been reinforced. It now numbers four. Their teeth and claws have been sharpened, and we now complacently await the arrival of the belated Spring poets. This may not be personal, but it is strictly pusa-onal.

A STAR reporter, standing at the corner of Front and Princess streets yesterday, saw, at the same moment, Mr. John S. James and the Bradley brothers, Richard, James and Charles. They are among the oldest citizens of Wilmington, their average ages being about 78.

The Pacific coast has 175,000 more men than women. Massachusetts has 50,000 more women than men. If these surplus producers adopted a policy of reciprocity they might help each other and bring things nearer an equilibrium.

The Republican papers inform us that Maj. McKinley, of tariff notoriety, is in demand as a Republican orator. No doubt of it. The Republican party has need of all the able-bodied tariff prevaricators it can find, and more.

The St. Louis Republican's rain editor has been figuring and finds that an inch of rain over an acre of ground would weigh a hundred tons. When the whole Mississippi valley turns itself loose on the Mississippi river the levees at the lower end have something to brace against.

That prominent Italian citizen of New York, who expressed the belief that in the event of hostilities between this country and Italy the naturalized Italians in this country would "be true to their mother country," has a somewhat belated idea of what citizenship means.

We admitted somewhat when we read of the oratorical performances of Mrs. Lease, of Kansas, but we understand it now, when the Lawrence Record informs us that Mrs. Lease has a mouth at least "one hundred and fifty miles wide." That is mouth enough for many orators.

The State Treasurer of Pennsylvania gently reminds the Legislature that they are proceeding in a fair way to bankrupt the Treasury. If there is anything that a Republican Legislature is apt to make rapid progress at it is in bankrupting treasuries. That's their forte. They all try to keep up with Republican Congresses.

Asa Montague, who is a denizen of the blue grass sovereignty, has been totting that name for fifty years. He has recently discovered that it isn't his, and petitions to be allowed to take the name of Asa Kimbrough which is his name. As a name Montague seems to have filled the bill pretty well, and it is better than Kimbrough any way, even for a Kentucky man.

Rev. Dr. John Hall, of New York thanks the Lord when he stands before one of those attractive show windows on Broadway that there are so many things that he can get along without, but it is doubtless at the same time a source of comfort to him to feel that with his salary of $10,000 a year there so many things in those show windows that he can get if he hankers after them.

LOCAL DOTS. Items of Interest Gathered Here and There and Briefly Noted. — Many barrels of clams are shipped daily from Southport, via Wilmington, to the Northern markets.
