- Raleigh Chronicle: The Department of Agriculture report that there will be 218 brands of fertilizer on the State market this year, nearly treble the usual number.

- Oxford Day: We understand that large quantities of copper ore from Blue Wing have been shipped recently to the northern markets, from which many thousand dollars were realized.

- Winston Sentinel: Dr. Edward Ronthaler, who will be ordained Bishop of this province next Sunday, will retain the pastorate of the Home Church. His election to the office of Bishop, we learn, will not remove him from his useful field of routine church work.

- Laurinburg Exchange: Is Frank DeBerry dead or not? The rumor is current here that he was taken out last Saturday night week by three white men near Red Banks and hasn't been seen since. We haven't obtained the definite cause assigned for this treat-

- Lenoir Topic: In the case of the State against John Z. Neal, charged with the murder of Linville Eller, tried at Ashe court, a verdict of acquittal was reached. Great interest was manifested in the case and the verdict met general approval. The ladies attended the sittings of the court regularly.

- Raleigh News and Observer: Major E. G. Harrell, Secretary of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly, informs the News and Observer that a telegram has just been received from the great divine, Dr. Talmage, accepting an an engagement to attend the Teachers' Assembly at Morehead this summer and deliver a lecture.

— Welden News: Mr. A. A. Forbes, of Pitt county, is one of the most successful tobacco farmers in North Carolinn. Upon eighteen acres last year he made a crop of the weed which he sold for $3,500. Upon seven acres of this he netted $2,100. He sold 1,800 pounds at an average of forty cents a pound. Two years ago he sold a small quantity at $3.05 per pound. Mr. Forbes is one of the pioneers of tobacco culture in Pitt county, having planted the first there six years ago. At that time not a single pound had ever been grown there, while last year the crop soid brought to the county $100,000.

- Greensboro Record: From talks with fruit-growers in the city this week, we regret to learn that the most of the plums and peaches were killed by the cold weather of Saturday, Sunday and Monday. — Greensboro is forging ahead. By the extension of the city limits yesterday her population was more than doubled, and the city given a fresh impetus on the road to prosperity and development. — It may not be generally known to the outside world, but Greensboro has within its corporate limits, on Spring Garden street, one of the finest mineral springs in the State. The owner, Rev. R. R. Moore, allows any of our citizens to get warer free, and hundreds of gallons are consumed by our town folks every week.

— Greenville Reflector: Most horrible developments in connection with the shooting of young Will Moore have come to light since the account of the affair published in the last issue of the Reflector, His own brother, John R. Moore, is charged with the bloody crime. The shooting occurred on Friday night and some slight clues which close observers detected the next day caused suspicion to rest on him. Each succeeding day brouget out developments that made the clue stronger, until on Tuesday he was charged with making a second attempt to kill his now almost dead brother. Dr. Bagwell, who was attending the wounded man, left six doses of morphine with the family with explicit instructions for administering it. The family knew nothing of the suspicion that rested upon John, and for awhile left him alone in the room. While alone he gave his brother the whole of the morphine at one time. The physician happened to go by the house not long after this and stopped in to see the wounded man. Noticing a pecu liar change in his condition he investigated and discovered what had occurred. It was only through his skill and by quick work that the physician arrested the deadly effects of the poison. When the deadly effects of the poison. When the circumstances became known and were talked outside much feeling was aroused against him and this went so high that on Wednesday morning he ran away. Jealousy is said to be the cause of his rash act. The last fnformation from the wounded man reports his condition more favorable and there is hope that he will recover. — Mr. Shade Wooten died at his home near Centreville, Pitt county, Tuesday March 24th, in the 84th year of his age. He had been quite ill for several months and his death was not altogether unex-
