OUTLINES.

The proprietor of the New York Herald has been indicted for publishing details of the recent electrocution at Sing Sing. — The death-rate from cholera at Mecca is 140 per day. — The Southern Loan and Investment Co., of Richmond, Va., and the Columbian International Investment Co. have been warned to discontinue business in Massachusetts by the authorities of that State. — Collector Erhardt, of the New York Custom House, resigned because of the order reducing his force of employees. — Senator Pfeffer addressed more than 4,000 farmers at Sulphur Springs, Texas, in the interest of the People's party. — A cloud-burst at Austin, Nevada, caused damage amounting to $10,000. — The new reciprocity treaty with Spain in behalf of Cuba will be proclaimed next month by the Washington Government. — Grasshoppers are devouring the oat crop in twenty counties in Ohio and Indiana. — In a fight at an Alliance meeting in Newbury county, S. C., several men were seriously wounded. — New York markets: Money easy at 1 1/2 per cent; cotton steady; middling uplands 8c; middling Orleans 8 1/2-10c; southern flour dull and easy; wheat decidedly lower and very active for export; No. 2 red 90c @ $1.00 at elevator; corn quiet and steady; No. 3, 70 1/2 @ 71 cents at elevator; rosin weak and dull at $1 35 @ 40 for strained common to good; spirits turpentine dull and weak at 35 1/2 @ 36 cents.

Why a half dozen Illinois farmers should have slashed each other with knives over the division of a watermelon, is hard to understand. If it had been one of those Missouri melons which grow with diamond rings in 'em we could understand it. But it wasn't. It was only a plain, unjewelled, ordinary, plebeian watermelon.

An insect which bores into fruit trees has made its appearance in Southern Illinois and is destroying the trees. The farmers want Uncle Jerry Rusk, whose business it is to look after the insects and such to come and see about it. This country it seems never can be really happy, for when it got rid of Blair, the great borer, the little borers come along.

What's the matter with the French people? Although there has been but a small emigration from that country the population is practically at a standstill, the increase being scarcely four millions in the past fifty years, while the past five years show a decrease, the figures in 1886 being 38,218,903, as compared with 38,003,150 in 1891. In France, as in New England, large families are not fashionable.

Kate Field says in her Washington: "One trip to the Pacific Coast is worth three to Europe." Kate is right. For ruins, &c., Europe may be somewhat more attractive than our own country, but when it comes to viewing nature in her grandest efforts and varied moods, and assorted objects of interest, this part of the New World gets away with the Old World every time.

Mr. W. T. Stead, in an article in an English review, on the authority of one who knows, informs the British public that the Prince of Wales "doesn't owe a shilling that he couldn't pay in twenty-four hours, if need be." Perhaps this discovery was made after the old lady decided to put up the cash for him, but, at all events, it will be agreeable reading for some of the creditors of his royal highness.

The ready-made clothing business is a large industry in Massachusetts, and a profitable one. There are 2,402 establishments engaged in it, the average net profits for last year of 82 1/2 of which made returns were 33.05 per cent, on the capital invested. The Republican party should declare war against these establishments as they claim to make clothes cheap, and Mr. Harrison says cheap to them make cheap men.

The periodic report again comes along from "a member of Mr. Blaine's family" that the talk about Mr. Blaine's being seriously ill and retiring from public life is without foundation. Since Mr. Blaine's double has turned up at Bar Harbor, the public no longer attaches any importance to these reports, for it is taken for granted that it is the other fellow who is sick and going to retire.

THE MORNING STAR.

VOL. XLVIII.—NO. 110.

WILMINGTON, N. C., THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1891.

WHOLE NO. 7,715

LOCAL DOTS.

Items of Interest Gathered Here and There and Briefly Noted.

— The Weather Bureau reported rain throughout the cotton region yesterday—particularly heavy in the Charleston, Augusta, Little Rock and Memphis districts.

— Joseph Davis, colored, was brought before Justice R. H. Bunting yesterday on a charge of stealing ten dollars. Defendant was found not guilty and was discharged.

— Mrs. Jas. C. Stevenson, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Cushing and Mrs. C. D. Myers, of the Ladies' Memorial Association, were at the City Hall yesterday evening to receive contributions of provisions for the pensioners.

— Germania Band, in full dress uniform, will leave at 3 o'clock this afternoon for the encampment, and will play during the opening exercises. "Dixie" and other familiar airs will be rendered. At 6 o'clock there will be a free concert at the pavilion.

CAMP NOTES.

— Watermelons sold by wholesale in camp yesterday.

— Representative R. C. Allen, of the 18th district, was in camp yesterday.

— There were sixty-nine counties of the State represented in camp yesterday.

— W. D. Clark has with him an old tin canteen which he picked up on the field of Ball's Bluff.

— W. B. Fort, a gallant veteran of the Confederate navy, was in camp yesterday, and having a good time, too.

— Capt. A. M. Walker is perhaps the oldest commissioned officer if not the oldest man in camp. He is seventy-seven.

— It was nothing strange to the "old vets" who had not seen each other since the war shaking hands with each other.

— One of the pensioners said yesterday that all he came in camp for was to hear the Wilmington Band play "Dixie."

— Some of the pensioners brought "pilots" with them whose expenses will be defrayed by contributions from other pensioners.

— Mr. Henry Vines, of Columbus, of Co. G, 36th N. C., who had both legs shot off during the war, came in camp yesterday.

— Col. W. J. Green was a very prominent figure in camp yesterday. He is always happy when shaking the hand of a Confederate soldier.

— The hospital is lonesome. The days for such things are over with the "vets." They came to have a good time, and not to get sick.

— Two "old vets" met yesterday—T. A. Williams, of Orange, and J. D. Bullock, of Polk. One has thirteen and the other twelve children.

— "Lots and squares" of fun in camp. — The boot-blacks have been forced to make allowances for one-legged soldiers. It is three cents for one and five cents for two boots now.

— One of the "Vets" remarked yesterday that he had fought in the Mexican war, the Mormon war, and went through the last war, and if there should be another he would try to get in it.

— Mr. T. T. Winstead, a one-legged veteran from Toisnot, Wilson Co., has now in use the old Confederate belt which he wore when wounded at Petersburg, with the letters (C. S. A.) on it.

— There are forty-eight one-armed and thirty-one one-legged men in camp, besides eighteen who are nearly blind, and two or three totally blind. One man has both legs cut off just above the knees.

— Dr. R. H. Holliday had to leave camp yesterday, on account of sickness. It was a bitter disappointment to him, as he was enjoying it so much. B. S. Peterson will keep the boys of Sampson in line.

— Mr. Harvey Carroll, of Carteret, who was born blind and went through the war as bugler for the cavalry, keeps things lively by blowing the different army calls on his bugle. He has four brothers who were also born blind.

— There are only three men of the gallant 27th Regiment present. They are Jessie Sutton, W. H. Graddy and Joseph Peacock. It will be remembered as the regiment which held its ground at Ream's Station without ammunition, and received such high compliments from Gen. R. E. Lee.

With the Promise of Billed Peas and Corn on Friday. — Thirty-one pensioners arrived last night by train on the Carolina Central road, and went through to Wrightsville. They were met on arrival by Mr. T. A. Shepherd, of the committee of reception, who saw them safely through. Most of them were from points on the C. C. road above Charlotte.

In the Mayor's Court. — Jane Outlaw, colored, was fined $10 and costs in the Mayor's Court yesterday for disorderly conduct. — Henry Banks, colored, violation of the sanitary ordinances, was fined $5.00.

ON THE TENTED FIELD.

OVER FIVE HUNDRED VETERANS IN CAMP AT WRIGHTSVILLE.

Nearly Every County in the State Represented—Gen. Ransom Takes Command—Address to the Veterans—Orders for Government of the Camp—Programme for To-day and To-morrow.

Old "Forecasts" reported rain yesterday for North Carolina and the cloudy, angry sky in the early morning strongly indicated that the prediction would prove true; but in the course of the forenoon the clouds cleared away and the sun came out warm and pleasant, though not too warm for comfort.

The morning trains carried down LARGE REINFORCEMENTS to the pensioners who had taken possession of the camp on Tuesday night, and the force was materially augmented by other arrivals during the day. Those who went down on Tuesday night had already been assigned to quarters, and after the new arrivals had been registered they were also provided for, and made as comfortable as possible. It should have been stated before that on arriving at Wrightsville all the pensioners, cripples and debilitated veterans found carriages awaiting them, in which they were conveyed to camp free of any charge to themselves.

GEN. ROBERT RANSOM, a gallant veteran of the Confederate army, distinguished for gallantry on many a blood-stained field during the war, went down on the 10 a. m. train, and the tears stood in the eyes of many maimed soldiers as they grasped his hand. Promptly at noon he called the soldiers to order in the pavilion and made a brief address, stating the object of the encampment, what was hoped and expected of the men, and also stating that, although nominally their commander for the time being, he should not issue an order. He then read in a clear, distinct voice, the general plan adopted for the successful issue of the encampment, and with a few further remarks, concluded.

AN IMPRESSIVE SCENE. It was a picture worthy an artist's most skillful pencil and it is really to be regretted that there was not some one present to take a view of the most impressive scene. Mounted on a small rostrum improvised for the occasion, stood Gen. Ransom, his figure erect, as a soldier's should be, his hair and short cropped whiskers almost as white as the snow, yet speaking with the vigor and force of young manhood; he was a perfect type of an educated soldier, born to command, while around him stood nearly or quite three hundred veterans, all far past the mid-day of life, and many with the scattered locks, tremulous voice and tottering steps, that spoke in the most impressive language of the near approach of the time for them to take their last march and seek their last earthly bivouac. Many of them carried an empty sleeve or walked on a wooden stump to tell a tale of duty faithfully done. All were eager to catch every word that fell from the speaker's lips, the whole forming a tableau that was full of touching pathos.

COL. WHARTON J. GREEN, Ex-Congressman Col Wharton J. Green was among the veterans in camp and was most cordially greeted by many who had served with or under him during the war. He is the guest during the encampment of his son-in-law, Mr. Pembroke Jones.

The following is the plan heretofore spoken of for the governance of the veterans while in camp. CAMP FOWLE, July 29th, 1891. General Order, No. 1. For the comfort and pleasure of the Confederate Veterans assembled here it is directed:

1st. That a registration of all present be made, giving the name of the veteran and the organization to which he belonged in the Confederate army or navy.

2nd. That tents, and rations, prepared by hired cooks, will be supplied to pensioners free.

3rd. That tents will be supplied to all veterans free.

4th. Messes of not more than 50 pensioners be formed with some one selected from such mess as leader or manager, and it is requested that these messes be formed of members of the same brigades or commands to which they belonged in the confederate service.

5th. Sick call will sound at 6.30 a. m. Breakfast at 7.00 a. m. Dinner and lunch at 12 m. Supper at 7.00 p. m.

6th. On Thursday, the 30th inst., at 5 p. m., Col. E. D. Hall will deliver an address of welcome.

7th. On Friday morning, at 11 o'clock the veterans will form on the parade ground to receive Gov. Holt.

8th. On Friday, the 31st inst., at the same hour, Senator Matt. W. Ransom will address the veterans of the Confederate States army and navy.

9th. The daily luncheon at 12 m., will be provided and dispensed by the members of the Ladies' Confederate Memorial Association of Wilmington.

10th. To protect the property of the assembled ex-Confederates it is requested that twelve volunteers each day present themselves to guard the camp. We are assembled to contribute mutual enjoyment while here and to carry back to our homes recollections of friendships renewed while recalling the vicissitudes that marked our lives as

Confederate soldiers, and in doing so to show to the world that, having demonstrated that we are the equals of any men who have defended the birthright of liberty and honor, none shall surpass us, while we live, in patriotic devotion to our common country.

The following are designated as the staff during the encampment: Col. E. D. Hall, Adjutant General and Chief of Staff; Col. Fred. A. Olds, Commissary General; Capt. A. D. Cazaux, Quartermaster General; Dr. Thos. F. Wood, Surgeon General.

ROBERT RANSOM, Major General Commanding.

Official: E. D. HALL, Adjutant General.

There was some little delay in preparing

as it was the first day, and the veterans, meantime, either loitered about through the camp or gathered themselves together in groups and indulged in reminiscences of the times when they trudged wearily along on the tiresome march or stood shoulder to shoulder gallantly and gloriously in the forefront of battle, where death-dealing bullets flew thick as hail and relentless as the grave. They were all men on the sober hillside of declining years and, as a matter of course, there was none of the skylarking and jollity which marked the recent encampment and which was undoubtedly a characteristic of their younger days. But dinner was at last announced and the hungry veterans hastened to where it was awaiting them, and to which they were soon doing ample justice. It was an excellent dinner, abundant in quantity, well cooked, and eaten with a relish. The cuisine is all that could be desired, and every arrangement was highly appreciated by the veterans.

HOW THEY ENJOY THEMSELVES.

After dinner one of the veterans who has a turn for music, and who brought a banjo with him, enlisted the camp with singing to a banjo accompaniment, which was much enjoyed, and there were many regrets when it ceased. Then camp memories were renewed by many, while others took the occasion for a nap, and others went to Ocean View to enjoy a bath and possibly a ride on the switchback, the free use of which had been tendered them by the proprietor, Capt. Stanley Van Amringe. Every train from the city brought reinforcements of veterans, until, when night drew her sable curtain on the scene fully 500 ex-Confederates were on the ground. Many of them expressed a desire to take a sail on the Sound, as they had never experienced that enjoyment, but, unfortunately, there was very little wind when the tide served, and there were no boats in which to sail. It has been suggested that it would be a good plan and a kindly act to have some boats there and give these war-worn veterans a sail such as they have never had before. It would be a pleasant time and an interesting memory for them when they return to their homes.

We were somewhat surprised to see so many counties of the State represented in the encampment and the distance some of the veterans had travelled in order to be with their army comrades once more before they crossed the dark river. They were present from Surry, Cleveland, Cabarrus, Stanley, Alexander, Burke, Pitt, Mecklenburg, Robeson, Columbus, Pender, Sampson, Duplin and New Hanover counties, besides many others which we failed to get. They represented nearly every command in the Confederate army, some of them serving in the Southwest, but the greater part in the Army of Northern Virginia, under their idolized Generals Lee and Jackson.

A GOOD SUPPER.

Last night they had for supper fried fish and clam fritters with bread and coffee galore, and to say that they enjoyed the meal is but a feeble attempt to tell of the solid delights of tempting and well cooked food for a lot of hungry men. We know of no better way of expressing their fondness for that supper than by the slang phrase, "they just went for it."

INDEFATIGABLE OFFICERS.

Col. Hall, Col. Olds, and Capt. Cazaux have been indefatigable in their efforts to secure the very largest amount of comfort and happiness for the veterans, and we are glad and proud to say that they have been ably assisted by many of the public spirited citizens of Wilmington and especially by the ladies Confederate Memorial Association. These devoted patriotic ladies have combined zeal, energy, self sacrifice and well directed effort in behalf of the veterans and their labors will ever be appreciated.

Large additions to the numbers already in camp are expected this morning.
