A female lecturer informs us that if people treated their bodies as they do their souls the soap men might take a rest, from which it is to be interred that the average soul is not soaped much. Her remark is not applicable to people who have no souls, of which there are a good many in this world, if they are to be judged by their actions.

The Baltimore American thinks that the population of Chicago will exceed that of New York in 1900. Very likely. All that Chicago has to do when she feels that she hasn't got population enough is to reach out and take in some more territory, and in doing this she don't have to cross rivers as New York has to.

"Old Hutch," the Chicago grain king who is now sojourning in New York, was reported mentally unbalanced when he suddenly left Chicago some time ago. But his head was level when he slipped into the Gotham grain pit during the recent craze and raked in net profits of $600,000

Squire Vaughn, of Nebraska, has found another backer for his $500,-000,000 pension scheme for the exslaves. It is J. E. Besides cutting them is a good deal more economical than buying new sets.

AT CAROLINA BEACH.

98TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE FAY ETTEVILLE INDEPENDENT LIGHT INFANTRY.

Celebrated by Target Shooting for Prize -Address by Maj. Campbell-A Grand Ball at Night.

Sunday morning dawned bright and beautiful at Carolina Beach where the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry Company were encamped.

In accordance with the orders previously issued, the usual routine was not observed, but the day was given over to rest, and no duty was required of the command until the hour for dress parade, when the ranks were formed and all were reported present. A very noticeable feature of this parade was that there were in the ranks three former commanding officers-Majors A. A. McKethan, J. A. McLauchlin and W. F. Campbell-fully illustrating the esprit du corps that has ever characterized this old and honorable military organization. After the parade the F. I L. I. band rendered "Auld Lang Syne," "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Slowly by a large circle of relatives and friends. the Day is Declining." Then Rev. Dr. Pritchard, of this city, preached a very eloquent and appropriate sermon.

As if to express its regret that the time of the departure of the company was near at hand, Nature put on mourning habiliments and the morning of the NINETY-EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY DAY of the company was ushered in with clouds, rain and wind, rendering it impossible that any outdoor exercises could be observed; but determined to make the best of the situation, all engaged in such sports as the limits of the quarters would allow.

The afternoon boat brought down a team of the Wilmington Light Infantry to compete for the prize offered for that organization. They were met at the boat landing by a detail of the F. I. L. I., and escorted to camp.

THE TARGET PRACTICE. Contrary to the expectations of all on the Beach the rain ceased about 8.30 p. m., and notwithstanding the sky continued overcast, the target-shooting began at 4.30 and the following gentlemen

F. I. L. I. First Prize-Capt. Jno. C. Vann. Second Prize-Private J. A. Vann. Third Prize-For man who never won a prize-G. A. Burns.

First Prize-Thos. F. Lewis. Second Prize-M. J. Graham.

WILMINGTON LIGHT INFANTRY, The team from this company had their practice under very great difficulties. Rain had again set in before they began firing, and it was almost too dark to see the bull's eye. The prize for this company was carried off by Sergeant Ed. Moore.

Immediately after the target shooting the company's band marched to the Oceanic and entertained the assembled crowd with a number of selections of choice music. When this feature of the day was concluded

MAJOR W. F. CAMPBELL was introduced by Major J. B. Broadfoot, and eloquently addressed the assemblage as follows:

Ladies and gentlemen-Fellow Sol-

An occurrence of unusual interest has brought about the military gathering here to-day. We have met together, my friends, to celebrate the ninety-eighth anniversary of the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry Company, and may say that it is an unusual occurance, without recurring to anything about the record of this company. Is it not enough to know that it has reached the age of ninety-eight years without a single break in its line, with every officer and soldier at his post, each knowing his position and his duties. I congratulate you, my friends, and I am sure that you are entitled to the congratulations of all persons who note your weary march that has brought you within two miles of your one hundred milestone: and, if you go no farther, you will have reached a point which only very few organizations, either civil or military, have the proud distinction of ever attaining within the bounds of these United States. I am not here to-day, my friends, to remind you of the glorious record you have made. I am not here to record the deeds of valor which you have performed in the war of 1812, in the Mexican war, or in the War Between The States. These services have been recognized and appreciated by your State in acts of substantial legislation. But I am here to asesrt, as the representative of this company, that it is as loyal to its coun-

to the defence of either, as it was in 1812 or in 1861. desire to say to the Wilmington us their presence this evening, that we hail them as comrades and brothers-inarms, as friends, and their presence on this occasion but adds another link to the chain which binds the two organiza-

try and its State, and as ready to march

tions inseparably together,
Another feature of this celebration is the presence of a large representation of the Veteran Corps, headed by that old veteran, Hector McNeill, in his eightyfourth year; that quiet, staunch old farmer, John Kirkpatrick, and last, but not least, Maj. Wright Huske, the gallant commander of this company at the battle of Bethel. MILITARY BALL.

While this ceremony was progressing the spacious dining room of the hotel was being cleared and as soon as it was concluded the strains of the merry waltz were heard and several couples were soon being led in the german by Sergt. C. L. Campbell and Miss Alice Haigh, of Fayetteville, and was continued until the sound of the locomotive whistle warned all that the time of departure had arrived.

WILMINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY, AUGUST 25, 1891.

TO-DAY AT OCEAN VIEW. The Fayetteville company will leave the Beach this morning at 7 o'clock, and upon arrival in the city will march to the Princess street depot of the Wilmington Seacoast Railroad, and taking the train will spend the day at Ocean View as the guests of that company and Mr. Stacy VanAmringe. The company will return to Carolina Beach in the evening and the following morning, at 7 o'clock, break camp and take their departure for home via train on the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad.
