POOLS IN THE SAND.

MARGARET MAY.

stood beside the sea one day, The tide was low; With quiet flow It scarcely lapped the ocean's rim
Whose waving line, now clear, now dim,
Revealed the shelving, sandy beach,
Where oft the waves To watery graves In quick succession swiftly bore Each other as they climbed the shore.

The little hollows in the sand Like silvery nests Where sunshine rests. Just for the time appeared to me As lasting as the shore to be;

But later, when the tide had turned, I found no trace In any place Of all the basins, which had seemed So lasting as they gleamed

Beneath the glowing sun. Why had they fled Like bright hopes dead? Because the ocean in its sweep Had gathered all in one great deep.

Here in the pools upon the sand, I seem to find Within my mind A type of churches, sects and creeds, Established for the great World's needs; Just for a while they will remain,

Each with its plan For blessing man, Till God's great love, like ocean-tide. In one shall all division hide, Tnen, folded on our Father's breast. Like tired child That wept and smiled. At last, we all shall come to see

One church, in its divinity. -N. Y. Observer. SUNDAY SELECTONS.

- If the mouth does not boil over with loving words, the soul is not on fire with love for Christ.

- Two ways of dealing with sorrow: Brutalize yourself and sink below it on the animal plane, or Christianize yourself or raise above it on the spiritual plane.

- While you live right nothing goes wrong. A soul at peace with God cannot be greatly disturbed by the world, for it has its pleasures in God and its blessings from God.—Jackson. - If you cannot reason or persuade a man into the truth, never attempt to force him into it. If love will not compel him to come in, leave him to God, the judge of all .- John Wesley. of professed Christians belonging to the same Church in the same town unsettled the faith of many more. - The law of spiritual increase to the many friends of the editor that demands "Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down and shaken together and running over, shall men give unto your bosom. For with the same measure that you mete it shall be measured to you again.'

— We must taste the gall if we want to taste the glory. If justified by faith, we must suffer tribulation. When God saves a soul he tries it. Some believers are much surprised when they are called to suffer. They thought they would do some great thing for God, but all he permits them to do is to suffer for his sake.-McCheyne.

- What a blessed truth the parable of the prodigal son contains! The Father is always waiting to receive and pardon the repenting and returning sinner. This is the heart's-core of the gospel, The preacher who realizes it will be able to sound the heavenly invitation with a force and energy that cannot fail to make an impression.

- A good Christian cannot be other than eager for the extension of our Lord's kingdom among men, not only from his sense of what is due to the Lord who bought him, but also from his natural sense of justice, his persuasion that he has no right to withhold from others those privileges and pros-pects which are the joys of his own in-most life.—Canon Liddon.

- Believing, loving and hoping when directed toward Christ, are three royal exercises of the mind. Believing affirms the truth in regard to him, and accepts him on the truth affirmed. Loving pours forth the affections of the heart toward him, and makes him precious to the soul. Hoping lays its hand on the blessings here and hereafter, that come to the soul through him. The three make a consecrated and happy life. - The Independent.

- Our post of duty is never in more than one place at the same time. For the time being, we always belong in one place, and in one place only. If we recognize this truth we shall never have reason to fear that we ought, perhaps, to be some where else than just where we are, when we are in a place where our present duty lies, and we never have a right to be anywhere, even for a moment, where it is not our duty to be.
There is no such thing as a choice between duties; the choice is always between duty and its shirking. We ought always to be where we belong; and it would be wrong for us not to be there. -S. S. Times.

THE GERANIUM DID IT:

How a Dear Little Flower Saved Woman's Life. Vick's Magazine.

The father and brother of a dear little woman died of consumption, and she firmly believed she would soon follow them with the same dread disease. She had a friend who believed the invalid had inherited her mother's stronger constitution, and if she could only be aroused and the idea banished from her mind that she would soon die she might be a well woman. Arguments were in vain, and as the friend was going away for years she gave a geranium to the dear little woman, with the request that she would take care of it, and also that she would work out in the garden through the spring and summer two hours a day. "I might as well do it," said the invalid, "for I shall not live but a few weeks or months at the longest."

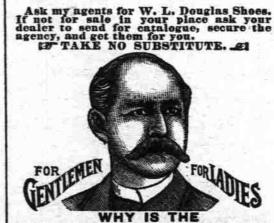

Very feeble were her first attempts at gardening and she would often say on coming in, "I shall die, now, anyway." But the next day found her out again. The geranium was cared for, and gradually other plants were added. She became very much interested in gardening, and her mind was taken up reading the many good floral magazines and in caring for her flowers. In the winter a bay window was full of blooming plants. It is now three years since she began this new cure, and it has worked wonders. She is a healthy, happy woman now, and says that "women stay in the house too much, are afraid of their clothes and the tight lacing makes short breath, and then they say, "We are not strong enough to work in a garden.'" Shut up the pill boxes and throw away the bottles. Breath the fresh air and take your medicine at the end of a light hoe-handle, and see if you don't save doctor's bills.

A Wonder Worker. Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment unil he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be Consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half of a dollar bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it and is to-day enjoying good health. If you have any Throat, Lung or Chest Trouble try it.
