The actors in a St. Louis variety theatre played their part so well in a hanging scene that it took about two hours to resuscitate the fellow who was hanged.

Hon. Chauncey M. Depew remarks that the Republican party is waging an offensive campaign in New York. That's about the only kind of a campaign it can wage now. It is a very offensive party.

It is said that one-fourth of England's real estate wealth is concentrated in London. Unless London is very much misrepresented more than one fourth of England's naughtiness is also concentrated there.

When a member of a legislature rises on the floor and denounces another as a "scoundrel," with sundry emphatic and lurid prefixes thereto, as Dr. Baldwin, in the Georgia House, did the other day, he should be promptly adjourned to an icehouse until he cooled some.

Brayer Shepard comes to the front to remark that soon after the new year comes in Blaine will announce that under no circumstances can he accept the nomination for the Presidency, and that he is for Mr. Harrison. It is about time for this report to be revived. Russell Harrison hasn't said anything about it for some time.

Several Mexican States are about to establish permanent expositions of their products in New York, London and Havre, with a view to building up trade relations with the United States, England and France. Here is a hint to the Southern States, which should have permanent expositions, at least of their minerals, in some of the principal cities of this country and of Europe.

A young man named Atwood, who has appeared in Wall street and has made lots of money in the past few weeks speculating in railroad stocks, is puzzling the other fellows, who say they can't "make him out." If they could make him out the probabilities are they would soon lay him out. As the case stands now Mr. Atwood seems to have the deadwood on them.

An Albany, N. Y., paper has discovered that Col. Cockerill, editor of the New York Advertiser, can't write good Engilsh. It hasn't failed to discover, however, if it possesses the power of ordinary observation, that Col. COL. L. F. COPELAND.

He is to Lecture Before the Y. M. C. A. in Charleston.

The Young Men's Christian Association will within a day or so place upon sale reserved seat tickets to the lecture of Col. L. F. Copeland, which will take place on Thursday, October 1. The Association anticipates a large house on that occasion, as Col. Copeland is no stranger here, but has many friends and admirers. Some one has recently said of him that he "is beyond question the most popular, pleasing, eloquent, witty and instructive lecturer now before the American public. A man of ripe scholarship, extensive travel and splendid presence, a humorist by nature, witty, keen and fascinatingly eloquent; he is virtually without a rival on the rostrum as a wielder of the weapons of satire, logic, eloquence and humor, for the pleasing of his audiences, while at the same time teaching the most valuable lessons of truth and right. Col. Copeland rarely lectures at any place where he is not recalled, and often for the third and fourth time." - Charleston News and

"Col. L. F. Copeland?" This sounds very like one of the aliases of the esteemed Rev. Charles Wesley Warren, alias Horton, alias Ware, alias "Col. L F. Copeland," who cut such a figure in Wilmington some years ago. Is it possible that this is the veritable "Wandering Warren" who was presented with a gold-headed cane in Wilmington?

Nearly a Drowning Accident.

There came near being a drowning accident yesterday evening about eight o'clock, at Messrs, Hall & Pearsall's wharf on South Water street.

Mr. E. D. Sloan, one of the clerks of the firm, had occasion to go on board the schooner Lorenzo lying at the wharf, and as he got aboard he heard a splash in the water. He looked over the side of the vessel just in time to grasp a man by the collar of his coat as he came to the surface and held him until assistance was at hand and the man was pulled out of the water. The rescued man proved to be the mate of the L-o renzo-Provost by name-and he was glad enough to escape with only a duck-

Cotton Region Bulletin.

The rainfall yesterday in the cotton belt was not heavy; it was confined to the Galveston, Savannah, Charleston, Augusta and Mobile districts. High temperature again prevailed, the average maximum ranging from 88 for the Wilmington district to 92 for the Memphis district. In the Wilmington district the maximum temperature ranged from 86 degrees at Florence and Newbern to 80 at Raleigh, and the minimum from 60 degrees at Cheraw to 66 at Florence and Goldsboro.

Howard Relief No. 1.

The "Adrian" engine was out for practice yesterday evening at the foot of Market street, in charge of Foreman Oldenbuttel, with a full turnout of the company. During the practice several new members were initiated into some of the pleasures of a fireman's life. The engine worked well and was in first-class order, throwing two fine streams through one hundred feet of hose, inch nozzles, 245 feet, and one stream, through 200 feet hose (siamesed) about 270 to 275 feet.

Announcement of the assignment of Col. Jno. J. Hedirck, dry goods dealer of this city, was received with profound regret by the Colonel's many friends here. Last year's cotton crop was more than an average, and most of those with whom we talked estimate this year's crop to be 40 per cent short, as compared with last

- Savannah News: The cotton market went up nearly an eighth yesterday, caused by the general reaction against the continuous reduction of last ten days and in part by the small receipts at the ports as compared with the same day last year. The buyers cannot help but acknowledge that there may not be such a heavy crop after all, and with an early frost the prospects of a big crop would drop away down.

- New York Journal of Commerce: There was a very fair average demand for cottons. Some agents report business good in a variety of staples, but or-Tickets sold on Tuesdays, Wednesdays | ders as a rule are more moderate in size numerous, however, and show that stocks of all kinds are small in jobbers hands. Prints were less active than of late, but are well sold up, with many styles sold largely to arrive. Prices are very firm.

- The generally fair, warm weather which has prevailed throughout the cotton belt for nearly three weeks is largely responsible for the heavy movement of the crop. Of late the days have been very warm with cool nights. The hot days are causing the cotton bolls to open before they are fully matured, while the cool nights cause shedding of the growing bolls. The effect of the hot days and cool nights, if long continued, will be to considerably shorten the crop. - Cotton advices from Gadsden, Ala.

state: "The weather has been exceedingly favorable for the growth and maturity of cotton. The recent rains have caused the young fruit on the early plant to grow large and mature well The early plant is very well fruited, large and healthy. The late plant is now doing much better than the early The plant has been so much stimulated by the favorable weather the past week that it would now be very hard to damage it by dry weather. With favorable weather we may yet see as large a crop as that of last year.'

The murderer is a young white farmer named John Lewis, living some five or six miles from Jacksonville, the county seat, and his victims were his own wife and infant child, whom he killed in the most fiendish manner by stampingup on and kicking them to death. No cause for the murder is stated.

The couple had been married about two years; the wife's maiden name being Alice Walton. Lewis was arrested shortly after committing the murder, and was committed to jail to await trial at the next term of the Superior Court for Onslow county. There was, the STAR's informant says, strong talk of lynching Lewis, but better counsel finally prevailed.

Reports from along the line of the Omaha railroad are that forest fires are rapidly advancing and eating up every-thing before them. RAILROAD NOTES.

WHOLE NO. 7,715

- In considering the Financial Chronicle's statement of July net earnings it is worth noting that there was a considerable increase in expenses during the month, for while the improvement in the gross reaches $3,646,830 the improvement in the net amounts to on-ly $1,668,019, the rest being accounted for by the increase of $1,978,811 in expenses. This is rather important, because it had been supposed that railroad managers everywhere were practicing very close economy, and also because a year ago in the same month the same feature was observable, only in a more striking degree.

- The equity and wisdom of requiring the prompt unloading of freight cars, for the benefit of shippers even more than of carriers, is appreciated by the Texas railroad commission, which has issued the following order: From and after the first day of October, 1891, all railroad companies in this State shall charge and collect from consignees the sum of $3 per car per day for the use of all cars not unloaded after 48 hours' OPERAHOUSE, notice to the consignee or his agent (not to include Sundays and legal holidays.) The notice to consignees to unload cars must recite the penalty herein provided

- It is announced that the Georgia Central railroad's annual report will not be ready for publication until Nov. 1, but figures closely approximating the result of operations for the year are as follows: Gross earnings for the year ended June 30, 1891, were about $9,700,-000-an increase of about $1,000.000. Expenses were about $7,200,000-an increase of about $900,000. Net earnings were about $2,000,000—an increase of about $200,000. Fixed charges were close to $2,000,000-an increase of about $125,000. The surplus was near $500,-000, against a surplus of $521,000 in - The Cincinnati Enquirer gives the story of a remarkable act of bravery on the part of Engineer Martin Winters of riving. the Pan Handle road. Sixty miles east of Columbus, Ohio, the driving rod of an engine pulling an excursion train broke as the train was running at a speed of forty miles an hour, In its revolutions it broke one of the driving wheels, badly dismantled the engine and demolished the cab. Yet the engine did not leave the track. The accident had destroyed the appliance for setting the air-brake, and with the engine wobbling to and fro as it spread along the track the engineer, with monkey-wrench in hand, climbed down under the first car at the peril of his life and set the air-brakes, which brought the train to a stop. The passengers came out of the cars to ascertain what was the matter, and when they saw what a narrow escape they had had, the accident having occurred on a high embankment, they were so thankful that a handsome sum of money was raised for the heroic engineer.
