It is said that the friends of President Harrison and Judge Gresham, in Indiana, have compt, the latter agreeing to support Harrison this time if the former will back Gresham in 1896.

There is a movement on foot in Memphis to erect a monument to Gen. N. B. Forrest, a powerful fighter, but a remarkably diffident man, who would at any time rather face a park of blazing artillery than half a dozen ladies.

Five hundred parrots were imported at New York last week. There have been in the political campaigns more than five hundred Republican parrots going around repeating "tin, tin, American tin," which they learned from Bill McKinley.

As a campaigner Gov. Campbell of Ohio, is a hustler. One day last week he made seven speeches at seven different points; slept two hours and started out next day and made ten in as many different places. A man who has that much lightning in him is no slouch.

Fifteen of the Welsh tin-dippers whom Niedringhaus, of St. Louis, imported, have struck for higher wages. They must be very highpriced fellows if Niedringhaus was telling the truth when he said he was paying his tin-makers from six to eight dollars a day.

A Philadelphia man blew out his brains the other day because his girl refused to marry him. While we do not commend his action, he showed a considerate regard for the girl in blowing his own and not her brains, as other fellows under similar circumstances have done.

An Atlanta paper remarks that Brayer Shepard, of the New York Mail and Express, "made a fool of himself about the unveiling of the Grady monument." No he didn't. Nature did that for him. His blunt old father-in-law discovered that he was more kinds of a fool than any other fool he ever saw.

The Teutonic is a swift one. She beat all the records a short time ago by crossing the Atlantic in five days, twenty-one hours and twenty-two yesterday at noon. Nothing but public is invited. All are welcome. minutes, but in her next trip she capped the climax by making it in five days, twenty-one hours and three minutes, beating her own best time nineteen minutes and scoring the fastest time on record.

Gov. Bores, of Iowa, is a hustling campaigner. Since the canvass openened in that State he has canvassed every congressional district in the State, and made more than a hundred speeches. They were telling speeches which the Republicans didn't like to hear, because he belonged to that party once, and knows something about the machine.

Wilmington's Welcome Week Captures the City and Extends its Conquest all Over This State and Down in South Carolina.

The time has now arrived for anglocizing the big week Wilmington is going to offer friends near and far away. Her motto will remain the same, Chairete-pantes, which interpreted signifies, "welcome all with joy," and that is exactly what will be done during Wilmington's Welcome Week. Everybody will be welcome to come and behold the grand spectacles that will be displayed for the delight and edification of visitors to the city during the first week of December.

Think of it! More than a hundred gorgeous floats in a kaledioscopic procession, reaching nearly two miles and exhibiting the multifarious industries and business of this metropolitan city by the sea. This alone will well repay a visit. Then there will be music, galore. pyrotechnics of dazzling splendor, delightful sails down the river, and what not. Every one who comes will rejoice over it to the end of a lengthened existence; and every one who suffers the privation of absence will have missed a glorious oasis in the opportunities of a life time, and will never cease to repine over the lost chance never to be regained.

There has been no diminution of ardor in home workers, and each individual of every committee works with an enthusiasm born of already conquered success. That's right. "Faint heart never won fair lady," or anything else worth going in quest of. Work, work, during the short time between now and the first week in December, and it will tell with a thousand tongues the joyous story of white winged success.

The Finance Committee will meet at the City Hall Monday night, and every member is earnestly besought to be present to transact important business, And all the committees are expected to meet up-stairs in City Hall Monday

SECOND REGIMENT BAND. The Benefit Entertainment to be Given Tuesday Night.

The committee in charge of the festival to be given next Tuesday night at the City Hall, for the benefit of the Second Regiment Band asks that every citizen who has an "owl," either alive or stuffed, will please send it to the City Hall to Mrs. Burtt Tuesday morning. and that the public who have not bekn waited upon will please send any contributions to the City Hall, as the donations thus far are somewhat limited.

Ladies will please meet at the Atlaniic Engine Hall to-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. A full attendance is desired. Committees will please report promptly.

From all appearances, this festival will be a grand success, and should be, as it is for good cause. Professor Miller's Orchestra has kindly offered to assist in this festival, and Mr. Henry Newman, commonly called "Our own Comedian," will amuse with some of his witty sayings and a few of his funny songs, Besides all kinds of refreshments a regular supper will be served by the young ladies, most exquisitely.

Go, one and all, and take your friends with you.

The doors will open at 6:30 o'clock.

St. James' Choir.

This choir is now one of the best in the city. It has about twenty-five choirester boys who are under the personal training of the assistant rector, Rev. C. H. Weaver. It also has several choirester ladies, and the following named ladies and gentlemen who are favorites in musical circles and need no comment: Miss Minnie Schwarz, soprano soloist; Mrs. M. F. Manning and Miss Gabrielle DeRosset, altos; Mr. M. F. Manning, basso; Mr. Soverel, tenor; Mr. A. S. Holden, baritone. The full choir numbers about thirty-five. Mr. E. P. Boatwright is the organist.

St. James' Home and City Mission.

Rev. John G. Fawcett arrived last night and will at once take charge of the city mission work of St. James church. Rev. Mr. Fawcett is an Englishman by birth and has a most excellent record in connection with the mission work among the poor of New York city, where he experienced the finest advantages for becoming thoroughly acquainted with every phase and detail of the work.

He will begin actively on his duties, holding services at St. James' Home this morning at 8 o'clock. For twenty years this work has been most successfully carried on by Sister Cecilia with three assistants. There has been established a Sunday and day school, and in the latter cooking and sewing has been taught. The average attendance in the Sunday school has been 150, and 100 for the day school. The good sisters have not neglected a very important branch of Christian endeavor, visiting and relieving the sick and the poor, reading to them and providing them with wholesome Church litera-

But the calling of Rev. Mr, Fawcett to this duty works a new era in the benevolent determination on the part of St. James, to prosecute this important church work with greater vigor than stall in the Front street market yesterday. One of them had four prongs to his antlers and was truly lovely in his graceful and symmetrical proportions. His skin will be stuffed and will be a unique and distinguishing feature in the grand parade during "Wilmington Welcome Week." An old colored man of Scott's Hill brought these deer down with his old muzzle-loader and he related the particulars of his hunt to a STAR reporter atter this fashion: "Yer see wuz er standin' out dere sorter 'hine er little clump uv bushes er waitin' when de fust thing I knowed I he-eard de dogs er trailin butiful, an I cocked my ears an' my gun kase I seed dey wuz er comin to'rds me. Pretty soon de music of de dogs got sweeter an' sweeter, an' closer an' closer, an' my heart got ter jumpin, then I he-eard sumfin er tearin' thro'de bushes kerjump, ker-jump. Then (let me have your stick) I laid my ole gun, as never failed me, up ter my shoulder an' skunt my eye down the barrel. Well, when I seed dat buck he were my meat. When I fired, he was goin' so fast he rolled twenty-five yards. I allways fetches 'em,

Then he smole a wide, deep smile with high skinned teeth.

Was the Child Strangled.

A white child, evidently just born, was found in a candle box burried in Hilton Grove, by officers C. E. Woods and J. C. Borneman yesterday at 10 o'clock.

A little boy, Theodore Schrader, intormed the officers that a box containing some offensive matter was burried there, and upon digging the slight covering of earth from the box the astounding discovery was made that it contained the body of a newly born babe, with no clothing excepting a piece of white cloth pinned around it. Decomposition was considerably advanced, but marks of something like a string were plainly discernable on the neck, as if the child had been strangled.

Coroner J. C. Walton was at once notified and held an inquest, but no clue leading to the criminality of any one was discovered; nor indeed, was the birth, death or burial of any child in the neighborhood unaccounted for. So tar the whole affair is an impenetrable mys-

The Child Whose Wind-Pipe was Cut

Little Robert, the two-year old son of Mr. G. B. Lee, of Rocky Point, whose wind-pipe was cut into by Dr. Thos. F. Wood for the purpose of extricating a coffee-bean that the child had swallowed, an account of which was given in the STAR, was no better last night. The child was lying on its back when the reporter visited it, with the ghastly wound in its throat, into which a rubber tube had been inserted, through which it was breathing with a spluttering sound that was exceedingly affecting to hear. The child swallowed a little coffee yesterday mornig which seemed to revive it somewhat, but it soon relapsed into an almost death-like stupor. Recovery appeared doubtful last night. The mother was summoned by telegraph and arrived in the morning at the Sutton House where the father and child are staying. The bean has not yet been found,
