A married woman in Ohio has sued a girl for $5,000 for running away with her husband. It would puzzle an Ohio jury to fix a value on a man like that and say how much the wife was damaged in losing him. As the girl, however, is rich the jury may conclude that she ought to pay for her amusement.

The corn cob pipe is not as aristocratic as the meerschaum, but it is quite popular. There are three manufactories engaged in turning them out, one in St. Louis, one in Nebraska and one in Kansas, the output of the three being about ten thousand pipes a day. Prince Jussopoff, of Russia, who has recently died, was worth $250,-000,000, and said to be the richest man in Russia. By the Russian law his wealth goes to his daughter's husband, who was a poor lieutenant when she married him. He is probably of the opinion that marriage is not a failure.

The meanest man in America is in New York. He is a cloak-maker and had a girl in his employ arrested and locked up for twenty-four hours in the Tombs on a charge of stealing ten cents worth of dress lining. It appears that the girl was ironing a cloak, picked up a piece of cloth from the floor and made an ironholder out of it. And that's what that soulless creature had her arrested and sent to the Tombs for.

They have got railroad travelling down to a pretty fine point in France, where the deaths from accidents from 1875 to 1880 were only one to every 24,000,000 passengers, and of wounded only one to every 1,000,000. In other European countries it is considerably greater, while in this country where we rush things, take more chances and value human life less, the proportion of deaths was between 1881 and 1888, one killed to every 2,800,000 and one wounded to every 428,000.

ARGUMENT OF COUNSEL BEGUN.

The Court House Crowded-Many Ladies in Attendance-Able Speeches by Counsel-Col. Rowland to Speak This Morning-The Case Probably will go to the Jury To-Day.

[Special Star Report.]

FAYETTEVILLE, Nov. 26,-Notwithstanding the fearful inclemency of the day, the Court house has been crowded from 10 o'clock on into the night, many business men (whose stores and offices were closed for Thanksgiving), sitting through the whole day's proceedings.

Mr. N. A. McLean, of Lumberton, a very strong advocate before a jury-led off for the prosecution, carefully and ably recapitulating the evidence, and evincing throughout his whole able effort the close study which he has given to all the points in this remarkable case. Mr. McLean closely resembles, in his manner of speech, his bearing in the Court room, and his directness of purpose, his late lamented father, and his friends think him even a stronger man. The first speech on the side of the defence was made by ex-Judge MacRae, and was one of the most masterly of the efforts which have given him so high a position in his profession. The clearness with which he seized upon the weak points in the case constructed by the prosecution, and his skillful sifting of the wheat from the suberabundant chaff in the mass of testimony adduced, was attended throughout with breathless interest by every auditor in the densely packed building.

Judge MacRae was followed by Inc. D. Shaw, Jr., of Laurinburg, also of counsel for the defence, who commenced his argument at a late hour in to-day's session, and will conclude tomorrow morning. Court adjourned until to-morrow. FRIDAY, Nov. 27 .- Mr. Ino. D. Shaw, r., continued his address to the jury. The association which he has enjoyed throughout his yet brief professional life has, of course, been beneficent and most salutary-enjoying the counsel and the rich fruitage of the wisdom and experience of his gifted father-and his carriage at the bar and his force before a jury attest how thoroughly he has mastered the duties of his profession. There is much of the orator in this talented young lawyer, and portions of his speech were given with a depth of impassioned feeling which thrilled the lis-

Mr. W. H. Neal, of Laurinburg, came next for the prosecution, briefly alluding to his connection with the case as counsel for the New York Mutual Life Insurance Company, in which he vindicated his position (which had been alluded to by counsel on the other side) with a touch of humor and trenchant sarcasm, showing him master of all the weapons of defence against the attack. His argument was based on three propositions: That Simeon Conoley was killed by a man wearing a disguise; that D. A. McDougald was that disguised man; that a strong motive existed for the commission of the crime. The last proposition, however, he touched upon but briefly, leaving that important feature of the case for elaboration by Hon. Alfred Rowland and Solicitor McNeill.

Mr. Neal's speech has been much complimented by all who heard it. The last argument of this morning's session was from Capt. W. S. Norment, of Lumberton, for the defence. He very forcibly and earnestly discussed the question of motive-the absolute cerainty that so fearful and cold-blooded an assassination must have had a most powerful motive, and arguing the lack of such motive in the prisoner, from all the evidence and the whole life of the defendant. He adverted to the remarkable fact that the family of Conoleythose of all others interested in the detection of the murderer and his punishment-were not found grouped behind the prosecution, but were ranged on the side of the defence. That part of his address, in allusion to the aged and infirm Effie Conoley, was truly eloquent and pathetic.

The Court then adjourned for dinner. [Special Star Telegram.]

AFTERNOON SESSION. Col. French, of Lumberton, made a strong speech for the defence. He took up the testimony in detail, which seemed at his tongue's end, and step by step he recapitulated it, with comments on the evidence of each witness for the State. Before Mr. French's argument was concluded night came and Sheriff Smith had the gas lighted. Still the crowd sat and stood on-men and women -swayed by the emotions of the impassioned speaker, moved with the depth of his feeling and partaking of his earnestness. The excoriation of the prosecution at times was scathing. The speech consumed the session till o'clock to-night. One side of the court room was filled with ladies.

Col. Rowland opens in the morning. The matter will probably go to the jury some time to-morrow forenoon.

Both vesterday and to-day many of the best ladies in Fayetteville society were in attendance on the trial, remaining nearly through the whole session.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Depositors of the Suspended First National Bank Reassured-Business Flowing Smoothly-Other Banks Strong and

There have been no new developments in the situation regarding the affairs of the suspended First National Bank. Bank Examiner Isaac S. Alden arrived Thursday night and has already gone to work looking into the matter. but of course has nothing to communicate to the public at this time. Depositors have been strengthened in their confidence that they will receive not only the full amount of their deposits, but, as the law provides if the assets are sufficient, interest on deposits will be paid from the time of suspension at six per cent., they expect this addition to the principal.

There has been no jar, jolt or hitch in the transaction of general business, and the failure of the bank will work embarrassment only by locking up the deposits for awhile. At the Bank of New Hanover everything is moving along as if nothing had happened-indeed, the deposits show a large net increase daily and faith in its impregnable strength and financial integrity has never been shaken in the least. Many capitalists and some of the strongest banks in the country have offered any aid desired, but none has been required. All the clerks are busy as bees attending to the additional business caused by the number of new customers who transacted their business with the unfortunate bank.

The banking facilities of the community have not been curtailed, and sufficient accommodation is extended by the other banks. The suspension, as has been stated in the STAR, was not unforeseen by well-informed business men and thus robbed the failure of serious

The Wilmington Savings and Trust Company has not been affected at all injuriously, as more money has been received than withdrawn, This bank has also been the recipient of very encouraging offers of assistance, but it has not been needed.

Again, to repeat, there is nothing discouraging in the financial situation.

Those who have not sent their names in thus far will do well to send them in to-morrow, as they will get a better place in the parade.

The McDougald Trial. To-day is the last day of the present term of Cumberland Superior Court, at Fayetteville, which has been almost exclusively occupied with the trial of Mc-Dougald for the murder of Conoley. Three speeches will be made to-day. Hon, Alfred Rowland will begin for the prosecution, to be followed by Maj. Jno. D. Shaw for the prisoner and the Solicitor, Frank McNeill, will close for the Public opinion here is very much divided as to the result of the trial, some believing it will be a mistrial, others thinking the prisoner will be acquitted, while others still look for conviction. If the jury have not agreed by 12 p. m. or a juror be not withdrawn and a mistrial made, the Judge must continue the case over into next week under the statute, it being a capital felony.

Everything Ready for Visitors. The Executive Committee met last night, with Mr. S. H .- Fishblate in the chair, in the absence of Major T. D. Love, and Mr. G. G. Lewis secretary.

Mr. J. A. Taylor, for the Finance Committee, reported the amount collected, which was sufficient for all purposes.

Mr. J. F. Post, Jr., for the Parade Committee, said there would be fiftythree, and perhaps more, floats in the Trades' parade; he had ordered five gross of the torches, which would arrive Monday; that the A. C. L. shops would be represented; the work of building floats was going on all over the city. He had appointed the Chief Marshal, and together they had appointed efficient assistants. Mr. Lewis said he was told by Mr. J. S. Collins that he felt sure of about forty and with much suffering, they finally maskers in the carnival, and a sufficiency | reached home to find their mother and of masks had been ordered. Mr. C. H. There will be twelve concerts given by that band, the Germania | facts to a STAR reporter, says the sympand the Southport bands, and they will furnish music at all parades, &c., and at the stand on market square every afternoon.

Mr. S. H. Fishblate said the arch at Front and Princess streets would be completed to-day and the unseemly flags would be removed. Front street and Market would be decorated and flags would be placed on Fourth street bridge, if possible.

Mr. Berry Gleaves, for the Amusement Committee, considered that all a dying person so entirely overcome was read the published programme had nothing to add.

The Seaboard Air Line will run such trains, it was stated by Mr. Lewis. Mr. Gleaves announced that the Amusement Committee would meet tonight. Mr. Post wanted all who have not done so, to turn in their names if they expect to have floats. The committee then adjourned until Monday night.

METHODIST CONFERENCE

Held with the Church at Greenville-A Grand Gathering and Large Attendance.

[Greeenville Daily Reflector.] Wednesday night of the Conference was devoted to Church Extension. Dr. Nash presided over the meeting. Prayer by Father Wheeler. Dr. J. C. Morris, of Louisville, Ky., Secretary of the Board, was then introduced by Dr. Nash. It was an exceedingly fine address, interspersed with just enough wit, humor and pathos to rivet the attention of the very large audience present. The Doctor knows how to get hold of an audience, as was evidenced by what followed. He stated that Dr. Marsh, from this State, was preaching in Monterey, Mexico, in a very inferior house, and he wanted this Conference to give him five hundred dollars to build him a church, and that the Board would see that this house was built if the Conference would do this. In a few moments the Conference raised eight hundred dollars for this purpose. This greatly pleased everybody interested in the work, and especially Dr. Morris.

SECOND DAY.

Conference was called to order by the Bishop at 9 o'clock. Devotional exercises conducted by Rev. W. S. Chaffin, The hour for service having arrived the Conference work was suspended and after a few minutes recess and the introductory services Bishop Galloway delivered a very able sermon from the text: "Render therefore unto Cæsar the things which are Cæsars; and unto God the things that are God's." It was a grand Thanksgiving sermon, abounding in deepest wisdom and delighted all who heard him. The building was filled to its utmost capacity.

At the same hour Rev. Dr. B. F. Dixon, President of Greensboro Female College, preached in the Baptist Church. Collections for the orphans were taken in both churches at the close of the ser-

The various committees met for their espective work in the alternoon. Last night Dr. J. R. Brooks, of the Western N. C. Conference, preached an excellent sermon to a large congregation. Conference meets again this morning at 9 o'clock.

A FAMILY POISONED.

Eating Hogshead Cheese and Pork Sausage Renders Six Persons Extremely Ill.

Mrs. Jeffreys, residing on the corner of Ninth and Wooster streets, her two sons, Manly and Jimmie, aged respectively 20 and 14 years, and her daughter, aged ten years, were seriously sickened Thursday from eating hogshead cheese, as was also Willie Green, a son of Willie Jones, who partook of the same cheese. Annie Green, daughter of Daniel Green, of 1,006 South Front street, was rendered dangerously ill the same day by eating pork sausage. The two sons of Mrs. Jeffreys went out hunting in the morning, after partaking of the cheese for breakfast, and soon began to feel very painful cramps. which obliged them to desist from the hunt and endeavour to make their way homeward. By dint of great exertion little sister prostrated in the same way. Dr. W. Hall was called in shortly after noon and found Mrs. Jeffreys, her two boys and a little girl and the Jones' boy all suffering intensely, vomiting and purging, and nearly pulseless. The mother, however, was not so sick as the others. The Doctor who gave these toms were those of an irritant poison whiich yielded to his remedies and all were able to be up yesterday.

Dr. Hall traced the cause of the severe ailments to hogshead cheese, purchased at the corner of Eighth and Wooster streets, of which the family had eaten, and which he found upon examination to be badly decomposed. Yesterday Dr. Hall called to see Annie Green, who had eaten pork sausage the day before. She had the appearance of she. Her suffering was similar in character to the others, and she was no better A letter was read from Mr. Henry | at 3 p. m. yesterday. He did not see the pork, but the serious result which followed eating pork sausage that was decomposed did not appear until a day

Thanksgiving Day. The train left the depot at nine o'clock with Mr. T. Poe conductor, and Mr. Phillip Platt engineer, and about 200 merry huntsmen on board. The entire run was made in about two hours. Among the number who brought back large bags of game were Mr. W. L. Jacobs and James Barnes, Jr., who killed twenty-two squirrels, three coons, one 'possum, and several robbins, doves and partridges. Capt. W. W. Dennis had one fine deer, three wild turkeys, and several ducks. Mr. J. F. Rulfs killed seven squirrels and six rabbits. Mr. Sam Bordeaux, bagged several birds and brought back the longest and largest string of feathered game there was on the train. Another party of sportsmen devoted themselves to squirrels and showed a goodly number, and Messrs. Mike Cronly, Jr., Clarence Crapon, Poe, Vick, Flanner and others were blessed with an assortment of native birds, quail and other game. Col. B. R. Moore and party are reported to have slaughtered several deer, though the huntsmen had not come in when this
