Private Dalzell proposes to unite the private soldiers of the late war in one combine to demand the offices for themselves. Of course, why not? Why shouldn't they have the offices as well as all the cash that can be squeeeed out of the Treasury? If it hadn't been for the soldiers there wouldn't be so many offices for the other fellows. They "saved the Union," and by saving the Union give bond for his appearance at the saved the offices.

The town of Pittsburg wishes it to be distinctly understood that if a policeman knocks down and drags out a citizen because the citizen refuses to vote to please him, the policeman will be suspended for thirty days, and if an officer, be reduced in rank. That's what it did with a Lieutenant of the locust brigade for taking that way of pursuading a citizen to vote his way. If the aforesaid Lieutenant had been a plain, ununiformed and unlocusted Pittsburger, he might have gone to jail and paid a big fine.

TEN YEARS SERVICE.

Sr. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church and its Pastor, Rev. Dr. Peschau-Special Services on Sunday Last. All the services on Sunday were un usually well attended. The mus c of the choir, assisted by members of Prof. Miller's orchestra, was as charming as it was churchly. The sermon referred to the work done, progress made and success achieved by pastor and people in the ten years gone.

In the sermons, of which regular outlines cannot be given for want of space, the following was presented:

The Lutheran Church of the United States is growing at a surprisingly rapid rate; in the last 17 years she has doubled her numbers.

Counting in all, those in regular ynodical connection, all independent churches, and the Prussian Union Churches, it numbers 6.202 ministers, 10,327 congregations and 1,447,610 members. Its property is worth $84,218,234.

Church life and church work in this city were next spoken of in the following fine tributes:

"Rev. Dr. Mendelsohn, the gifted and scholarly man of so many noble traits of character, and an honored friend, is still in charge of a flock of that people to whom we are both directly, under God, indebted for our holy religion to a large part, and we all honor him. His flock has made steady progress in these years. Following in historical order we come to the Roman Catholic Church, which has secured a pipe organ and erected an elegant parsonage for its priest. Father Gross was in charge ten years and he was succeeded by Rev. Father Moore: both good men and doing a good work in their flocks. I have met them and heard of their being in the houses of the poor, in hospitals, etc.,

'Next in order comes our Church, the mother Church of Protestantism; but it will be considered later.

doing the Lord's work.

"St. James' Episcopal Church was led by Rev. Dr. Watson, a noble, consecrated man of God, who has since been honored with another position and office. His life and labors in this city for so many years has done all churches good, as the settled ministry ever must give power and influence to the pulpit and the church.

"St. James' Church has made some fine improvements and additions in its old historic building.

"St. John's Episcopal Church was served by Rev. Dr. Patterson, who left early in 1882, and has had several excellent rectors. It has erected recently fine two-story school house, for parochial purposes.

"St. Paul's Episcopal Church was served by that genial, kind and pleasant rector, Rev. Mr. Ambler. It has had several changes; has been much improved in appearance both internally and exter-

"Rev. Dr. Wilson was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Dr. Wilson was a man-he was a man in every sense of the word-physically, mentally, and in spiritual life. He was scholarly, liberal-minded and conservative. His departure was a loss, not only to his church, but to our city. This church has made very nice and beautiful improvements in its interior, and has started a fine mission.

"The Second Presbyterian Church had for its pastor that kind-hearted, genial man, Dr. Payne, whom many still honor and love until this day. He was conservative, faithful in every department, and worthy of all honor. This church has erected a handsome house of worship.

Genial, gentle, loving Dr. Taylor, was in charge of the First Baotist Church. Many remember him with pleasure. This church has been much improved; a large pipe organ secured and a parsonage purchased; an elegant addition is being built to the rear of the church for Sunday school and other purpose, much to the credit of my kind neighbor and friend, its earnest and able pastor, Rev. Dr. Pritchard. I believe they also assisted in starting the Brooklyn Baptist

"Old Front Street Methodist Church. How well we can remember, and how well the disastrous fire on that February Sunday that destroyed it. Rev. Dr. Wood, a kind-hearted, quiet, devoted minister was in charge, and shortly after my arrival Rev. Dr. Yates, the most scholarly, most conservative and most he did not know met him in the alley able minister the Methodists have had here in the ten years, took charge. saw him again, passed on and then came the location, and like the Lutherans. gave its church a name appropriate for a church, and Grace Church graces one of our best streets. At the time of the fire we offered this congregation the use of this church or Luther Memorial building, but our Jewish friends were an hour ahead of us.

"The minister that had charge of Fifth Street Church was that noble, energic, popular friend, Rev. Mr. Ricaud, whom our city honors and loves to this day, and whose son is our City Mayor. The old frame church has given way to a beautiful brick structure, which with St. Mark's Lutheran Church, of Charlotte, are considered the two handsomest churches in North Carolina.

"Well do I remember the beginning of Bladen Street Church, and how I preached for Rev. Mr. Tuttle in a small onestory grocery store to a little band of people that now have a church of their

"Thus we see, dearly beloved, that church work all over the city has gone torward, and surely this retrospective view is pre-eminently interesting.

"In closing this second view I will not forget or overlook one whose doctrine I do not understand, but who, too, has gone ahead in church work, and has made considerable improvements in his neat little church-I mean Elder King. I must express my admiration for him as a man, for his pure and Christian life.

"With pleasure I give expression to these kind words and views regarding the church life and church work and pastors of our city, for however we may differ in opinions, doctrines and customs, we should ever recognize and appreciate what is right and good and true in our fellow-men, and in what they say and do in carrying on the work of God.'

The work of St. Paul's Church was next considered at length, both in its material interests and its congregational characteristics.

"The church has a new carpet, new vestibule ceiling, matting, etc., new covered cushions, finely frescoed walls and ceilings, an elegant new clock, grand new chandeliers, new baptismal font, lecturn, new altar, new Bibles, hymnal registers, new silk church robe plush mountings in the choir lott, and grand new pipe organ, the handsomest in the city, and as sweet toned as any in the State. Everything in the church is new or made new. The parsonage has been painted and completed in the interior, rooms papered, etc.

"Elegant Luther Memorial Building has been erected and its interior supplied with a new organ, new piano, chairs, etc. Our grand Mission Chapel has been erected and equipped and the lot it stands on purchased.

"Besides this all, we have furnished and fitted up in elegant manner a room in the City Hospital.

"Our church work has gone forward. We have 403 members, 228 in our Sunday school, and in our mission about 100. "All societies connected with the church are in fine condition and are dong good, and our Parochial school is a

ROCKY MOUNT'S BURGLARS

The Two Colored Men Captured Las Week Committed for Trial. [Special Star Correspondence.]

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C., Feb. 27 .- At the appointed hour to-day, 1.80 p. m. the trial of the two colored burglars took place. Albert Chesterfield said as before that Moore removed the iron bar across the window on the outside, raised the window and told him (C.) to go in and help himself, which he did, while Moore did the watching. His tale was straight-forward and he did not appear embarrassed in the least, nor a bit confused.

Moore tried to make it appear that he was not there, but a witness said he made the same proposition to him before he saw Chesterfield.

Moore, the leader of the gang, has at last been caught, tried, convicted and sent to jail to await the next term of the Superior Court. Both parties were bound over to court under justified bonds of four hundred dollars each, which they cannot give and will have to go to jail A Colored Man Shot.

A negro man named Isaac Robinson having a gunshot wound in his breast, was found last night in Dr. Wright's office over in Brooklyn, by Police Scrgent Bender. The negro had been taken there for treatment. The officer took Robinson to the City Hall where Dr. Potter examined the wound and extracted four shot, saying that ten more were in his body. The shooting is said to have occurred in Schutte's alley. Robinson's story is that a man and told him he would shoot him if he Very wisely this congregation changed | back and shot him. His wound is severe but not likely to be tatal.

OPERA HOUSE.

One of the Grandest Vocal Concerts of the

A grand vocal concert was given at the Opera House last night for the benefit of the First Baptist Sunday School. by a number of our best amateur vocal talent and others, which proved to be a grand success and one of the most entertaining occurrences of the season.

Many of the participants were pleased far beyond all expectation and "covered themselves with glory," indeed.

Long before the time for commencement the house was crowded almost to its utmost, and all went away much pleased with the entertainment.

The audience was principally a musical one, and that they knew how to appreciate good music was soon evident from the rapturous applause and encores sively appeared and rendered their se-

The programme was commenced by an opening chorus, which rendered in appropriate style that inspiring piece, 'Hail to Thee, Liberty," The chorus was composed of Mrs. Thorburn and Misses Schwarz, Whitney and Stolter as sopranos; Mrs. Calder, Mrs. Muse, Misses Annie and Elsie Calder as contraltos; Messrs. Cooper, Baker and Betts as tenors, and Manning, Holden, Bowden and Alderman, as bass.

The chorus was followed by Miss Macks, singing "Good-Night, Sweet Dreams," Miss Macks has an extremely sweet and expressive voice, and delighted her hearers to no small degress.

Next came Compana's duet, "The Moonlight Stream," by Mrs. Calder, soprano and Miss Calder, contralto, which was sweet indeed.

Mrs. J. W. Thorburn added to the delight of the audience by singing a beautitul Italian solo, "Mariquita," and in response to a deafening encore gave 'Coming through the Rye" in a new version, which became well the soft and beautiful voice of the singer. Next on the programme was a duet by Miss Annie Stolter, soprano, and Mr. Alex. S. Holden, bass. The reputation of these two Wilmington singers was well sustained. Miss Stolter has lost none of her sweet voice and graceful manners, while Mr. Holden seemed bent on shaking the confines of the lower regions.

Mr. M. F. Manning next appeared, and with his well known rich and clear bass voice rendered that impressive solo, "Hybrias, the Creton."

The Quartette, from "Rose Maiden," by Mrs. Thornburn, Mrs. Muse, Prof. Baker and Mr. A. S. Holden, was

The most taking hit of the evening was the solo, "The Red Umbrella," sung by little Miss Elsie Calder. She was encored several times.

Then came what the audience most eagerly waited for-the appearance of Wilmington's sweetest singer-Miss Schwartz, who with her usual grace and sweetness contributed that beautiful and touching solo "Heaven hath shed a tear." Mrs. and Mr. Calder sang a duet, "A B. C." which created much merriment among the audience. Prof. John Baker's solo, "Queen of my Heart," which he sang with precision and earnestness, was much admired.

Then came the grand finale, "Oh hail us ye free," sung by twenty-five voices The concert, upon the whole, was one of rare occurrence, being good and worthy of praise from beginning to end. It is sincerely hoped that more of such entertainments will soon be on the boards. The accompanists of the evening were Mrs. W. F. Williams, Miss Eliza Adrian and Prof. I. H. Greene-

An Old German Citizen Gone.

After years of sickness and suffering Mr. Claus. Stemmermann, one of the oldest of our German citizens, died at his residence, corner of Front and Orange streets, at 8.80 a. m. yesterday. He was born in Beverstedt, Kingdom of Hanover, Germany, June 15, 1825. He came to the United States in 1842, just fifty years ago, and after living in Charleston, S. C., a short time, he came to Wilmington, about 1844. Here he married Miss Anna Koch. They were blessed with four children-three daughters and one son-all of whom are still living, except one daughter. Mrs. Stemmermann died about eleven years ago in this city.

Mr. Stemmermann was a member of the "German Volunteers," and served throughout the war in the Confederate rmy. Before the war he was ber of the Church Council of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, and was once honored by being chosen treasurer of the church.

The street railway people are "hustlers," as will be seen by the following points drawn out of Manager Barnard latt night by a STAR reporter. He said: Mr. Garber, the contractor for the building, has completed the foundation for the car station and brickwork on the sides has been finished up to the first floor. The piles for the heavy boilers has been driven and cappings for the piles have been laid. Mr. C. W. Hansen, the expert workman who was sent here by the Ball Engine Company, of Erie, Pa., has arrived and is ready to erect the power plant. The which greeted the singers as they succes- | boilers and engines were shipped Saturday and are expected here in a few days. The planting of pols, under the direction of Mr. Lassell, has been finished, and it is a piece of good work. The resetting of the rails has been completed from Fourth and Nixon streets to Front and Red Cross, and the rails have been laid on Front from Red Cross to Mulberry. The work on Front street will now be rapidly pushed, and by to-morrow night the track layers will get as far as Princess street, and as the cars cannot get to the stables the horse-cars consequently will run no more, and there will be no street cars run in this city until the new line is finished.

The tracks for the dummy line on Nutt street have been laid as far as Walnut street. The rails for the dummy engine track and the track which is being laid on Front street, are as large as the average regular railroad rails which weigh sixty pounds-twice the weight of the old rails. The ties have een bedded on Castle street.

The switches at Mulberry street and Nun streets will be moved and switches will be laid at the following places: Front and Castle streets, Front and Princess, Fourth and Red Cross, and Tenth and Princess.

More Stormy Weather,

The stormy weather has not ended yet. Yestsrday at 11 a. m. the Chief of the Weather Bureau at Washington, D. C., telegraphed the Wilmington station as follows: "Storm in Ohio Valley. Brisk northeast winds on southeast North Carolina coast, later shifting to south and then to northwest."
