The Australian ballot is sometimes called the "blanket bullit." As far as it has been tried it has proved to be a very wet blanket for the Republicans.

The fraud of Statistician Peck's figures, in New York, is being exposed now by the reports of employes in the protected industries, who tell a very different story from

The converts continue to come. The last two are Judge Hare, of Pennsylvania, and Judge Harrod, of India a, both prominent, old-time Republicans. The McKinley tariff

Secretary Rusk says he is "sure of Wisconsin." He is so "sure" of it that he has turned his seed department over to the boys, packed his grip-sack and bolted for Wisconsin to whoop it up for Harrison.

It is pretty rough on the Democratic Alliance men of this State who help to pay Marion Butler's salary as President of the Alliance while he is perambulating the State orating for the t. p. and abusing them.

Congressman Boutelle, Republican, of Maine, exclaims, "Damn the Australian ballot law." He might have expressed it differently, but in the light of the Maine election we could not expect him to be very choice in his language.

When Chairman Carter, of the Nat. Rep. Con., read that dispatch about ex-Mayor Grace handing over $100,000 for the Democratic campaign fund, he raised his hands and exclaimed my Gracious. He will send out some more fellows now to do some more "fat frying."

Gen. Barringer, Col. Johnson, Col. Pearson, Chas. McKesson, Col. Guthrie, Col. Argo, Judge Albertson, Frank Winston, Col. Moore, heretofore Republicans, who have joined the Democratic party in this State, are not a bad exchange for Marion Butler and Dr. Exum, who are now playing the role of Eaves' assistants.

Here is the way Tom Watson, t p. light of G. orgia, is trying to pull the wool over the eyes of the negroes in this district, by trying to make it appear that there isn't much difference between white men and black men after all.

The great God made us all, black and white, but after a few years under the soil it would be a wise man indeed who could tell your dust from mine.

Marion Butler dilates at large upon the terrible distress of the people for whom he professes to speak, of their poverty, and of the hard time they have in keeping body and soul together, but he never has explained who pays his expenses and the expenses of the numerous other luminaries who are perambulating the country enlightening the people on the mysteries of the t. p. This still remains a mystery.

The political outlook in this section is steadily improving for the Democrats. From Robeson, Sampson, Duplin, Onslow and other counties in which Marion Butlerism has been strong, come reports of a great change. The Third party people are rapidly discovering where their self-constituted champions are ing themselves with the grand old Demparty that has ever existed in this coun-There's victory in the air. Let us make it so complete that the Third party will be effectually and eternally buried.

The paragraph which appeared in the STAR of yesterday concerning election wagers seems to have aroused the bettors, and several small bets were made on the following basis: Even on the general result of the Presidential election; even on Connecticut; three to two that Cleveland would not carry New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Delaware-meaning, of course, all four of those States. betting in New York thus far, though it is a little too early for the fellows who linger around the Hoffman House. A few large even bets have been made there on New York and on the general result. A good many Harrison men have confidence enough to risk their money on his election, but the tide seems to be setting strongly in favor of Cleveland now, and it is predicted that his friends will soon be offering wagers without takers.

will accept the call. The Observer says Dr. Pritchard was asked about his acceptance of the call to the church in Charlotte, and "while he would not commit himself, the Observer thought by the twinkle in his eye that he was thinking over the matter favorably; in fact, at a meeting of the deacons later, when the call was formally laid before him, he seemed to incline this-way-ward. He has the matter under consideration, and it is generally understood that he THE SHORTEST ROUTE.

Some Comparative Figures Furnished by the Atlantic Coast Line.

The officials of the Atlantic Coast Line, says the Charleston News and Courier, were decidedly surprised by the announcement that the new route to the North is calculated to "supplant Plant," and furnish some facts and figures to show that their route is the shortest.

Said Mr. C. C. West yesterday: "Our line is not a part of the Plant system by any means. But if you will look over these comparative distances you will see how we stand on distances."

Republicans of Richmond Nominate Ticket-Fusion of Rads and "Three Pess" in Robsson

LAURINBURG, Oct. 8, 1892. EDITOR STAR: Yesterday the Republicans of Richmond county held their County Convention at Rockingham and nominated a county ticket: For Sheriff, the present incumbent, Jno. Smith; DeBerry for Register of Deeds, and Chappell and Quick for the House of Representatives. The Republicans of Robeson, it is thought, will not bring out any county ticket, but will fuse with the Third party. The Democrats say they intend to defeat their plans-in the event a Third party ticket should be electedby the Democrats refusing to become bondsmen for them.

A Good Campaign Document. The illustrated article which appeared in the STAR of last Sunday, entitled "Tariff in Pictures," has been so warmly commended as a campaign document by leading Democrats, and the calls for extra copies have been so numerous, that we have decided to reprint the article in the DAILY STAR of next Tuesday, October 11th. Orders for extra copies must be received by next Monday, October 10th, or we cannot guarantee that they will be filled. Price, two cents a copy; cash to accompany order in every case. The attention of County Executive Committees is called to this opportunity of circulating one of the strongest campaign documents yet

OPERA HOUSE.

"Paul Kauvar"-A Good Play Handsomely Presented.

Eugene Robinson's Company presented Steele Mackay's masterpiece, "Paul Kauvar," yesterday at the Opera House-both in the afternoon and evening. The plot of this play is a strong one and is laid in France during the frightful scenes of the "Reign of Terror" during the French Revolution. The company carries its own scenery, and the audience was treated to many realistic scenes and startling climaxes. The play is a strong one and is backed by a real set of artists.

The audience at the matinee was a fairly good one, composed mostly of young folks and ladies, who heartily enjoyed the afternoon entertainment. The audience at night was simply small, not enough persons being present to even encourage the players in their efforts: notwithstanding this, they all went through their respective parts with a vim and enthusiasm only displayed by a first-class troupe. It is to be regretted that so small a house greeted them last Porter J. White, as Paul Kauvar, captured the audience by his undying devotion to his country and liberty, which was only equaled by the love of his wife, Diana de Beaumont, who was secretly married to him. This latter character was impersonated by the graceful and sweet-voiced Mildred Holland.

Miss Olga White, as Naurette Potin, a tyrannical wife, and Ino, W. Rose, as Dadolphe Potin, her husband, were well received.

Mr. John Daily, as Duc de Beaumont, and Thos Garrick, as Marquis de Vaux, the aristocratic villain, proved themselves to be actors of considerable merit. In fact, each member of the troupe deserves words of special commendation which space forbids.

SHIP YOUR COTTON TO WILMINGTON Where Higher Prices Are Paid Than is Any Market South of Baltimore

It is a gratitying showing that Wilmington makes as compared with other Southern ports; that her merchants are able and willing to pay the farmers higher prices for their cotton than the buyers of any other city south of Baltimore. Yesterday eight cents per pound was the quotation for middling cotton in Wilmington, while in Norfolk it was 7 13-16; at Charleston, 734; Savannah, 7%: New Orleans, 7%; and Galveston, 7 13-16.

The farmers of North and South Carolina should make a note of this, and send their cotton to Wilmington if they wish to obtain the highest prices for their cotton.

'Two Old Cronies" at the Opera House Tuesday.

The New York Daily Sun says: A musical farce, entitled "Two Old Cronies," was presented for the first time to a metropolitan audience last evening at the Windsor Theatre. This medley makes no pretension to being anything more than a string of absurdities, varied by some sentimental ballad singing and skirt and clog dancing, but the score or more of people who take part in it are, with a few exceptions, well fitted to the business assigned to them. The ladies are comely, graceful and full of spirit, and the men strong in eccentric ability. All in all, "Two Old Cronies" may justly be said to equal, if it does not surpass, the best of the best musical farces which have been presented in various city theatres since the opening of the season. Box sheet open to-morrow morning.

Death of Col. Luke Powell,

The sad intelligence of the death of Col. Luke A. Powell reached here yesterday. He died at his home, near Clinton, Friday morning, having passed by two years the allotted three score and ten. A staunch Democrat, a successful farmer, a man of sturdy honesty, his death will be a serious loss to the community in which he lived. He was well known to the business men of Wilmington, who recognized in him a man of the finest traits, and who will regret to hear that he has passed away for ever.

A Brighter Outlook. The business prospect is brightening. One of the best indications of this is the increase of names on the hotel registers, though there are other evidences of improvement no less striking. The recent advance of one and a half cents per pound in cotton must have a stimulating influence on trade, and within the next few weeks the merchants of Wilmington will reap a fair proportion of its benefits.

Maj. Charles M. Stedman to Take the

The Raleigh News and Observer says: "Maj, Charles M. Stedman is to take the stump and add his powerful voice to the corps of other able and popular speakers now in the canvass. Maj. Stedman's speeches will give still more zest and earnestness to the campaign in the West where he will be engaged." Weather Forecasts.

The following are the forecasts for to-day: For North Carolina and South Carolina, local showers, followed by clearing, her nephew, was held for the action of generally fair weather Sunday, cooler, north winds.
