WELCOME WEEK.

AN AUSPICIOUS OPENING FOR THE GALA OCCASION.

Thousands of Visitors-Fine Weather-Handsome Decorations-Brilliant Illuminations-Streets Thronged With People-Boat Races-Daylight Fireworks-Marine Parade-Firemen and Military.

With bells ringing and steam whistles blowing, Wilmington's Welcome Week was ushered in yesterday morning under the most favorable auspices. The weather was "just splendid," said a pretty girl from the country, who with her escort was "taking in" the sights on Front and Marke t streets, and indeed it was. Never a brighter day dawned, and a gentle breeze that came from the northwest had just enough of Winter's touch in it to temper the rays of the sun that otherwise perhaps would have been a trifle too warm. It was just such a day as tempted everybody to be out of doors.

BEAUTIFUL DECORATIONS. The business portions of Front and Market streets are fairly gorgeous with the bewildering display of bunting, flags, banners and other adornments. The finishing touches had been put on the night before, and everything was complete yesterday morning. All the colors of the rainbow, and more, are to be seen, and the arrangement of the decorations generally exhibited good taste. The display in this respect surpasses anything of the kind ever seen in Wilmington and could hardly be excelled any-

ROWING RACES.

The festivities began at 11 o'clock with a rowing race on the river for fouroared boats. There were three entries, the "Addie," Capt. B. Newton; the "Fair and Easy," Capt. M. F. Craig, and the 16 mile. The first prize, $15, was awarded to the "Addie," and the second, $10, to the "Fair and Easy."

A yawl race, three-quarters of a mile, followed, and this was won by the "Bessie," Capt. T. Taylor; prize, $15. The "Katie E. Gifford," Capt. H. Kure, Farrow, were the other boats in this race. The second prize was awarded to the "Gifford."

In the gig race there were two entries, but one of these backed out and left the contest open to a crew from the revenue cutter "Colfax." They rowed against time, 8 minutes, and came in in 7.23, and were awarded the prize of $10.

The judges of all the races were Mr. W. N. Harriss of Wilmington and Mr. C. C. Morse, of Southport. The prizes were paid in money to the winners as soon as the result was declared.

A BRILLIANT SCENE. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the river front again presented an animated appearance. It was lined with people from Red Cross to Castle, while Market street from the dock to Front was seemingly packed with a solid mass of humanity. The river itself was covered with a fleet of vessels all bedecked in their gayest colors, and tugs boats darting to and fro with their brilliant flags and bunting gave animation to one of the gayest scenes ever witnessed in Wilmington.

THE PILOTS' RACE. Shortly after two o'clock the pilotschooner Addie, as "pretty as a picture," was stationed off Point Peter, and at the signal two row-boats put off from her to board a large schooner that could be seen coming up the river in tow of the tug Blanche. Each boat was manned by four pilots, who "pulled" their best to be the first to reach the schooner which was coming under good headway about a mile off. The boats reached the schooner almost simultaneously, one on each side, and as they rounded to, on the vessel's quarter, one of the pilots-J. F. Arnold -of the "Addie," the leading boat, sprang to catch a rope dangling over the side of the vessel. He missed it, however, and fell into the water. He was speedily helped into the boat from which he fell. In the meantime the schooner had forged ahead and was a hundred yards or more from the boats. Then ensued another race, the "Addie's" competitor-the "Fair and Easy"-taking the lead. It was again an exciting contest, and was watched with almost breathless interest by those on shore. Near the starting point the schooner was overtaken and boarded by Mr. Tom Morse, one of the crew of the "Fair and Easy," which boat was declared the winner of the race and was awarded the prize

Were a novel feature of the exhibitionsomething never seen before in Wilmington. This unique display took place from a large flat-boat in mid-stream opposite Market dock. From this boat the pyrotechnical experts sent up a number of bombs that burst in air at a heighth of two or three hundred feet and from which issued and floated slowly and sedately downward, fantastic figures in gay colors of horses, elephants, cats, goats, birds, a man on horseback and a woman on a bicycle. Other bombs exploded in mid-air, throwing off featherystreamers of vapor in all sorts of shapes. The daylight fire-works were good and the people enjoyed the sight.

STEAMBOAT PARADE. Next on the programme was a grand parade of all the steam crafts in the harbor-all beautifully decorated and crowded with people. The tug Marie with the judges and members of committees on board, was in the lead. They steamed slowly down the river with bands playing and whistles blowing, and rounding opposite the lower part of the city came back up the river, three abreast. This wound up the afternoon's

MILITARY AND FIREMENS' PARADE.

Thousands of people were on Front and Market streets last night to see the parade of the Light Infantry and the Fire Department, and they were well repaid for waiting and watching for the procession to appear. Front street was brilliantly illuminated throughout. The street railway company's display of colored electric lights at intervals along that thoroughfare was striking, and the illuminations made by merchants and others were effective and showed to greater advantage the decorations that were so much admired by daylight, The parade of the military and firemen along the line of march was brilliant with colored lights, and all the apparatus of the firemen was handsomely decorated with wreaths and lanterns. A platoon of policemen led the parade, preceding the Second Regiment band which discoursed soul-stirring music along the route of the processsion. Following the band was the gallant Light Infantry in full uniform and in full ranks, marching in column. Wilmington Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1, with its two trucks, the first drawn by four coalblack horses and the second by two prancing bays, followed the military. Then came time-honored Howard Relief No. 1, with engine and reel handsomely decorated. Wilmington Fire Engine Company came next with their engine and hose reel resplendent with red fire and many-colored lanterns, and their handsome team of iron grays sporting magnificent plumes on their head-stalls. The gallant Fifth Ward boys with their new and handsome light truck wrapped in wreaths of red white and blue and lighted with lanterns, brought up the rear of the procession. As a lady admirer of the military and the firemen said, "the parade was certainly beautiful and a grand success, and the trades people will have to be uncommonly fine to get ahead of Katie Putnam in "The Little Maverick. Next Friday evening, December 2d, the favorite little actress, Katie Putnam, and her excellent supporting company, will present for the first time in this city, her new play, "The Little Maverick," from the pen of C. W. Walters, a bright young dramatist, who has succeeding in giving Miss Putnam a clever vehicle for displaying the impersonations in which she so charmingly excels. The play is in four acts and its story is said to be refreshing, as it covers new ground and combines with a fund of light, crisp comedy, melo-dramatic touches introducing sensational situations and realistic scenes. Every detail has been given close attention to make its presentation a success and 10,000 pounds of special scenery will elaborate the stage pictures and add to the attractiveness and completeness of the production.

- Secretary Lewis, of the Executive Committee of Wilmington Welcome Week, requests the committee to meet at The Orton to-night before 8 o'clock. HORRIBLE OUTRAGE.

Little White Child Assaulted by a Negro Near Polkton, Anson County, [Special Star Telegram.]

POLKTON, N. C., Nov. 29.-A most horrible outrage was perpetrated upon the little three-year old daughter of Mr. R. F. Hendley, who lives three miles from here, this morning, by a negro boy nineteen years old, named Marshal Davis. Davis had been in Mr. Hendley's employ all the year. He was making a fire in Mr. Hendley's bed-room this morning and the child was playing around him, when he seized her and committed the hellish crime. Davis was arrested and brought here for trial. He acknowledged everything. He was taken from here to Wadesboro to be lodged in jail, but whether he will live to reach there or not cannot be said.

This is the second case of the kind within the past six months—the victims in each case being white children under four years of age and their assailants burly negroes.

NEWS FROM FAYETTEVILLE.

Colored Child Burned to Death-A Residence on Haymount Destroyed by Fire.

A special correspondent of the STAR writing from Fayetteville, Nov. 28, says The residence of Mrs. H. L. Myrover. on Haymount, was accidentally destroyed by fire Saturday last, together with most of the furniture. The loss is about $2,500; insurance, $2,000. A little four-year-old daughter of Joe and Berta Gillis, respectable colored people of Fayetteville, was burned to death to-day. The mother left home to carry her husband his breakfast, leaving her two little childrenone about two years, the other four years old-in the house by themselves. Before her return a passer-by was attracted by smoke coming from the house near the door, and upon investigation found the little four-year old child lying on the floor burned to a crisp and dying. The other child was crouched in a corner in another part of the house. The mother and father, who were devoted to their children, are frantic with grief. The house did not burn,

Death of Mr. John Haar, Sr. At his residence, corner of Fourth and Nun streets, Mr. 1. Haar, Sr., breathed his last, yesterday at 2.15 p. m. His eldest son, Charles, is employed in New York city, and his second son, Henry, is completing a course of study in Poughkeepsie, New York. The time and hour for the burial services will depend on their coming, though it is likely that he will be buried Thursday morning at half-past ten o'clock. Sale of the Industrial Works.

The trustee's sale of property of the Industrial Manufacturing Company took place in front of the court house yesterday by auction. Mr. Stacey VanAmringe was the auctioneer. The property sold comprised the lot with buildings on Oueen and Surry streets, a lot on the river front, and all the machinery, etc., of the works.

Mr. D. O'Connor was the purchaser of the whole (for other parties) at $6,000 over and above two mortgages which amount to about $8,000.
