FERTILIZERS.

The Department of Agriculture in the State of Georgia, has issued a report in which it is stated that the consumption of commercial fertilizers will be so much larger this year | colossal amount must have been used than last that manufacturers will by the planters of the South within find it difficult to supply the demand. that time, and then when we esti-There was a very large reduction in mate the value in dollars per ton, the consumption last year, attributed even at the lowest price, we may in part at least, to the reduced acreage, but probably due as much or more to the resolve of planters to reduce expenses and keep out of debt as much as possible. There is no reason- assigned for the increased demand this year, but it must come from one of two causes, either the planters influenced by the advance in the price of cotton contemplate an increase of acreage or are going to make an effort for a larger production from the same acreage as last year. If the latter, it will not be so bad, because the surplus acres may be devoted to the raising of home supplies, but even then we do not think an increased production this year, if it be generally attempted, will be good policy, until the demand for cotton becomes such that it will be eagerly sought and the planter can feel assured of receiving a remunerating price for it. Then the crop might be gradually increased, the planter always keeping his eye on the demand for consumption and the markets, and governing his operations accordingly. To do this, however, there must be concert of action; the planters must work together, and not every one for himself, as they have been doing in years past. They can do this just as easily, if they will, as any other industry can do it, as was demonstrated last year, when their conventions met and resolved upon a reduction of acreage, which resulted in a reduction of about 20 per cent. What they did last year they can do this year and every year, unless they voluntarily stand in their own light. There are other questions besides acreage and production which the planters should consider, and this commercial fertilizer question is one of them. It is a very big question and represents a very large sum of money, and a sum that must be expended annually, because the fertilizers bought suffice for but one crop, are a mere temporary stimulant which is without lasting benefit to the soil, It would be a matter of interest to know how much the planters of the South have paid in the past twenty

SPIRITS JURPENTINE.

- Forest City Ledger : We are sorry to announce the death of Mrs. J. Wilkie, which occurred at this place on the 18th isst.

- Salisbury Herald : A lady in Salisbury is having a rather remarkable experience just now. She has lost her second set of teeth, all that the average mortal generally has, but nature is giving her a third set. Three of these new teeth are already through and others are coming.

- Goldsboro Argus: The beautiful exposition car "Florida on Wheels," was the attraction in this city yesterday and received a constant tide of visitors during the entire day. It is a marvel of beauty and artistic arrangement, and gives a very comprehensive idea of the fruit, timber, mineral and scenic resources of the "Land of Flowers."

- Elizabeth City Carolinian: The coldest winter for 35 years,' is what all who remember it, tell us. It began on the 21st of December, since which time the thermometer has been almost continuously down below the freezing point. We have ceen nothing to compare with it during the twenty-four years that we have lived in the "Sunny South."

- Scotland Neck Democrat: Tuesday, while Jacob Hyman's wife, colored was gone from her home near the railroad, a few miles below town, her little giri went to a log fire near where railroad hands were at work, and her clothes caught fire and she was burned to death. When her mother returned she found the child dead in a ditch.

- Newbern Journal: Three Northerners who are camping at Johnson's Point seven miles below Newbern walked up to the city on the ice yesterday and returned the same way. When interrogated as to whether they felt any uneasiness at being out on the ice they replied, no, they were used to ice and that this would hold a horse and cart.

- Rateigh News and Observer S. Otho Wilson, whose indictment and arrest were noted in yesterday's issue of the News and Observer, was arraigned Wake Superior Court yesterday ID morning and required to give justified bond in the sum of $300 for his appear ance at the next term of Court. W. H J. Goodwin and C. E. J. Goodwin wen upon his bond, and the date of the trial was set for Tuesday, March 28th, at the March term of Court.

For several mornings the quantity was greatly diminished, for which he could not account until yesterday. He rose early and went into the barn, and to his surprise saw a large hog playing calf. He then knew how to account for the decrease in the quantity of milk. - Friday evening Chief-of-Police Morgan, of Chester, passed through here, going up the Statesville road "on the trail," as he expressed it. Yesterday he returned with two prisoners, whom he said were the burglars who recently startled the town of Blackstock by their operations. They were cap-tured in an out of the way house in Rowan county Friday night, and professed to be brothers. When caught they were in the building in hiding. - Lexington Distatch: A good many of the wells in town are getting low in water, probably owing to the severe cold weather. We are reliably informed that the water in a well at least thirty feet deep froze over at the factory, Friday night. We have heard of cold weather and cold weather, but never do we remember to have heard of water in a well freezing. This breaks the record of freezing weather. -On Saturday Mr. Ross Luyer. who atrends to Green's mill, in placing his gunbehind a box, struck the hammer on it, discharging the gun. The entire load entered the right arm, halfway between the shoulder and elbow, passed up through the fleshy part of the arm, and lodged just behind and a little below the point of the shoulder. Dr. Crawford attended him and made an incision and extracted forty-seven shot, the wadding consisting of paper and rag, together with the part of his clothes which covered that part of the wounded arm.
