QUIT CROAKING.

Phat is What a Citizen of Wilmington Says, and He Gives Good Reason for Self-Gratulation at Present Conditions and Prospects for the Future.

What is the meaning of all this croakng in Wilmington, when of all periods of the city existence it has greater cause for self-gratulation. Take a retrospective view reaching back ten years and the improvements made in this city have not been equalled south of the Potomac. if we may except Norfolk. 'Tis true the Building and Loan Associations were the direct cause of extending our residences to the outer limits, but when the great fire swept the eye-sores from the streets near the water they were replaced quickly by brick buildings which are imposing and then the Government and the County Commissioners have built monuments of architectural skill and beauty. In lieu of cobble-stones the city fathers have given us Belgian blocks and many of our streets which a short time ago were of sand are now macadamized. Look at Third and Fifth streets. where private enterprise has set its wits to work and now they have grass plots and pretty fountains playing upon them. We read in the papers of the immense number of timber rafts; but did you know that mills for cutting it up are being erected and soon Wilmington will lead as she did thirty years ago as a lumber centre. Why is it that large mill owners have polled up their stakes from Norfolk and are driving their piles here? Even Southwestern Virginia is contributing to our population and to our industries in this line. While the papers are teeming with dismal accounts of the financial troubles among the wildcat banks of the Western States, and watered stock in Cordage Trusts has called a halt among those who in their extravagance had palatial club house and circus rings. padded with satin, no such depression exists here. We are in the miust of our dullest times, but our banks are solid. No one anticipates any trouble. while good commercial paper is readily discounted.

But we must not lose sight of another industry which is steadily growing in our suburbs. Quite a large sum of money has been realized this season from trucking, and truck farming is beginning to assume no small proportions. We are at least three weeks ahead of Norfolk, and but little behind Charleston. If you would learn how this trucking business is prospering you have only to ask our bank men how many Northern checks are deposited daily for collection. This industry will extend each year in a radius of fifty miles around Wilmington, and if the rice fields can be utilized to produce cabbages and celery, we will cease to send to Germany for Winter cabbage, and to Kalamazoo, Michigan, for celery. Tests that have been made are of the most flattering character, and there can be no doubt that ultimately Wilmington will be surrounded by truck farms. But we must not stop there-we must keep our population employed. We must utilize our city's increasing population by offering inducements for other enterprises to come among us. Cotton factories are springing up at every small station in the Western part of the State; why cannot we show our confidence in our city by following their example? Then, too, New River is brought closer to us, and soon the oyster gardens of Stone's Bay will be worked profitably. Next Fall will witness large shipments of oysters from this port.

We have water deep enough, and ships of large carrying capacity can come to our wharves. Our cotton receipts were proportionately increased this year and will increase greatly next year if the crop is good, and if the railroad and mill men could get together, why not feeders be extended into the timber which, though cut off, ye is but a few miles off from the main lines and can be brought into our market by judicious

Our communications with the outside world are sufficient for many years to come. We have no necessity, however, for going abroad, as Carolina Beach and Wrightsville Sound are healthy breathing places for our population, and if we did not boast of such charming resorts we can point to the efficient service of our street electric line which affords quit croaking.

WHOLE NO. 8,141 KNOCKED INTO THE RIVER.

Fatal Affray Between Colored Men on a Wood Flat-The Alleged Murderer Captured and Committed to Jail After an Investigation Before the Mayor.

Wesley Jordan, colored, was knocked overboard from a wood-flat near the foot of Orange street last night about halfpast ten o'clock and drowned. The fatal blow was struck by Christian Baldwin, colored, one of the hands on the boat. Police officer Sneeden heard cries of murder and went to the wharf, but found that Baldwin had escaped; he was subsequently arrested on Second street near Dock by Mr. Blake, a clerk in the employ of Mr. R. E. Ward, and was taken to police headquarters.

Mayor Fishblate was notified, and atonce proceeded to hold an investigation. James Miller, colored, the first witness, testified that Jordan and Baldwin were quarrelling about a pistol, and that finally Jordan struck Baldwin with a stick of wood, knocking him into the river. Baldwin had a stick, also, but did not attempt to strike Jordan.

Morris Gibbs, colored, said he lived on Sixth between Bladen and Harnett streets; ran on a flat. My flat was laying next to where these fellows' flat laid. Heard them quarrelling. Jordan asked Baldwin not to throw his valise around. Baldwin asked Jordan for his pistol; a quarrel ensued. Jordan picked up his value and started off. Baldwin struck him with a stick, which knocked him overboard; he didn't come up.

sim Miller, colored, knew defendant Christian Baldwin, and also the murdered man, Wesley Jordan, who told Haldwin he must have his pistol. As Jordan started off Baldwin struck him with a stick.

Baldwin told a STAR reporter that he got a pistol from Jordan to look at and misplaced it and could not find it, 'After he cussed me some time," Baldwin said, "he got his valise and started off. I struck him with a stick and he fell overboard. He also had a stick."

Baldwin was sept to jail and the witnesses were required to give bond for their appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court.
