The Case of Collector Simmonz-The Williams-Settle Contest. The following notes are taken from the Washington correspondence of the Richmond Times

FROM WASHINGTON.

Congressman Alexander, of North Carolina, has arranged the necessary preliminaries with the Treasury Department for establishing a National bank at Wadesboro, in this State. Collector T. M. Simmons, of North Carolina, called at the White House yesterday. Mr. Simmons, who is here on business connected with his office, does not display any uneasiness about the action of the Senate Finance Committee on his nomination, and seems perfectly willing that the committee shall use its own pleasure as to the time it may select for its consideration.

There were several nominations taken up by the committee to-day, but that of the North Carolina Collector was allowed to slumber undisturbed in the pigeon hole assigned it by Senator Vance

Mr. A. W. Graham, one of the counsel for ex-Congressman Williams in his contested election case, arrived here last night. THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Dr. Hoge's Second Lecture-A Large Attendance-A Repetition of the Entertainment to be Given. The second and last of Dr. P. H

Hoge's lectures was given at the Abbie Chadbourn Memorial Hall last night, on "Around the World's Fair in Eighty Views."

The audience was, if anything, larger than the one of the night before, and equally as well pleased. The lecture was more humorous than the former one, and evoked much merriment and rounds of applause.

The views by the steropticon were strikingly realistic, and made more natural by the graphic descriptions of the lecturer. Dr. Hoge's happy style of presentation qualifies him especially for such work, and the enjoyment of the audience was evident from the repeated demonstrations.

So much appreciated have these lectures been that special arrangements have been made that have induced Dr. Hoge to repeat the two lectures in an abbreviated form on next Monday night, so that those who missed either, or both, may have the opportunity of seeing the views and catch a glimpse of the great magnificence and grandeur of the successful.

A Philadelphia dispatch says there is no Democrat in Pennsvlvania now hankering for the next Democratic nomination for Governor. Under the circumstances a man who would hanker for that now would be supposed to lead a very lonesome existence.

We don't know what kind of a President Mr. Dole, of the Provis ional Hawaiian Government, makes, but they say he makes such "impressive and eloquent" prayers at the opening of the national assembly that a chaplain is dispensed with and his salary saved.

A French shipping company has inaugurated a line of steamships between New Orleans and Havre, and proposes to follow this with a line running from New Orleans to Brazilian ports. New Orleans business men are building big calculations on both of these lines.

About the time that Boss Mc-Kane's hair was bobbed in the penitentiary they discovered a big shortage in the treasury of Gravesend, the town in which he was monarch of all he surveyed. He declines to discuss the shortening process in either case.

The New Orleans States rises to remark that inasmuch as it is doubtful whether the Democrats will have control of the next House, the Democrats in this Congress ought to make hay while the sun shines, repeal all obnoxious legislation, and pass such acts as the country should have. There is a bushel of lead mule sense in that suggestion.

Millionaire Tome, of Oxford, Pa., is an absent minded man. He sold some bonds in Washington the other day for $60,000, and to carry the money the more safely wrapped it up in paper as an ordinary valueless package, and carried it in his hand. He laid the package on the seat in the railroad car beside him and when he got off forgot all about it. A number of young men who boarded the train at the station where he got off amused themselves playing catch with it, and when they got off threw it on the seat where they found it. At the next station the conductor got a telegram to clamp that package if it hadn't already disappeared, and thus old man Tome got his $60,000 back.

Johnson's Opening Day. Hundreds of ladies, and not a lew gentlemen, attended the first of the three opening days of Maj. W. A. Johnson's millinery establishment yesterday. The weather was "just lovely," and so were the ladies, from the mirthful maiden to the staid old grandmother. The windows were handsomely decorated, but the interior of the store was a scene of "rare and 'radiant" loveliness. There were flowers of all descriptions, both natural and artificial, and it required the taste of a connoisseur to determine which were the handsomer. There were hats and bonnets and trimmings and all the et ceteras that go to make up an artistic exhibition. and Maj. Johnson and his assistants are to be congratulated on their exquisite taste. Maj. Johnson's success since opening in Wilmington has been far beyond expectations, and he has added several new lines of goods to his business, though millinery is still the leading feature. The opening will be continued to-day and to-morrow. Put Up Your Guns.

Put aside the breech-loader, call the dogs "to heel," and hang up the game bag. To-day the close season for partridges begins, and will be on until November 1st. The hunting season just closed has not been a favorable one to sportsmen in this section. Game has been scarce and the weather too warm for enjoyment in the field, and fewer partridges have been bagged by Wilmington hunters than in any season during the past ten years. Sport for the next season depends largely on the weather during the months of June and July. Barring heavy rains, which are very destructive to the young birds, there should be good hunting next November, as there are enough

The entertainment to be given tomorrow night, it is promised, will be a grand success. The ladies of the Parsonage and Home Mission Society of Grace Methodist Church, who have the matter in charge, have decided to repeat the "Shepherdess Drill" and "Tom Thumb's Wedding." the two best pieces of their last entertainment. The vocalists and instrumental performers-some of them the best in the city-were rehearsing yesterday alternoon, and something fine can be expected.
