WASHINGTON NEWS. PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE ON THE SEIGN-

IORAGE BILL Has Not Yet Reached Congress-I: Will Be a Veto-A Free Coinage Bill Introduced in the Senate-Auditor Brawley of the Treasury Department Tenders His Recignation-President Cleveland's

Gouty Foot. By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, March 28,-The President's expected message upon the Bland Seigniorage bill did not reach Congress to-day. The settled opinion, however, is that it will be a veto.

Senator Stewart, of Nevada, this morning took the preliminary steps in the fight for the free and unlimited coinage of silver that is to be inaugurated, according to common gossip, as soon as the President sends in his veto of the Bland bill. Mr. Stewart had his bill laid upon the table instead of permitting it to go to the Committee on Finance as it would in the ordinary course of business.

"I do not propose that this bill shall he put to sleep as have all the others preceding it on the same subject," said he. It has gone to the table where it can be called up at any time for remarks. and some remarks will be very likely made by myself and other silver men on this subject.

Mr. Stewart will not have to depend upon Republicans for his support in this natter. The proposition to introduce and push to a final passage

A FREE COINAGE BITL, absolute in its provisions, has been brewing for some days, and a leading memher of the Finance Committee, who belongs on the Democratic side, said this morning that he believed such a bill would pass the Senate by a fair majority, and that, too, without extended debate, if the President vetoed the Bland bill. He was positive that such a measure would pass the House, and was equally eertain that another veto would be interposed. This Senator, however, took the ground that the subject of free coinage would not be permitted to stand in the way of the speedy consideration the Tariff bill, The silver men who have fought all the time for the free coinage of that metal, and protested against what they are pleased to term as makeshifts and compromises, are willing to believe in the veto for the reason that from their point of view it only adds to the friction in other circles, and it makes the passage of a free coinage bill all the easier.

A NEW STORY to tell to-day. This was that Secretary Gresham and Mr. Hoke Smith had overcome the objections of the President to the bill and he had decided to sign it. The story gained ground rapidly, and members who were responsible for it were eagerly sought and plied with anti-silver members took no stock in it and held firmly to their opinion that a veto would reach the House to-day or to-morrow. While the story seemed to please the silverites, it apparently did not disturb the anti-silver people or shake their belief that the President would return the bill without his ap-

AUDITOR BRAWLEY RESIGNS.

This official announcement was made at the Treasury to-day: "Mr. J. B. Brawley, sixth auditor of the Treasury Department, to-day tendered his resignation to the President, to take effect upon the appointment and qualification of his successor. Mr. Brawley is a citizen of Meadville, Pa., is a lawyer by profession and was appointed auditor April 19. 1893. The position pays $3,000 per annum. No action as yet has been taken on his resignation. He is the first official appointed the present administration who has resigned. His resignation, it is said, were forced. For some time past he and Mr. Carlisle's relations have not been pleasant, and some time ago there was quite a scene in Mr. Carlisle's room between the Sixth Auditor and Mr. Carlisle. Secretary Carlisle has not been impressed with Mr. Brawley's executive capacity. The work of the Sixth Auditors Office is far behind; the methods employed were not businesslike, and Postmaster General Bissell. Secretary Carlisle and the President six weeks ago came to the conclusion that a change was necessary in the office. Mr. Brawley called at the Treasury Department yesterday and formally tendered his resignation.

The Sixth Auditor's office audits all the accounts of the Postoffice Department. It is the largest Auditor's office in the Treasury and is as large as the entire Agricultural Department, PRESIDENT CLEVELAND Disposed of all gossip as to his inability to walk on account of a gouty foot by coming down stairs to the East room of the White House to-day and shaking hands with 509 people, the occasion being his regular tri-weekly reception to the public. These receptions were suspended all last week on account of the great pressure of important public business which absorbed his atrention. To-day, although the President limped slightly, he was evidently not seriously inconvenienced, but was in unusually good spirits and laughed heartily at apparent jokes hastily uttered by some of his visi-

BILL FOR FREE COINAGE OF SILVER INTRODUCED IN THE SENATE.

The Fortifications Appropriation Bill Reported from Committee-Private .Pension Bills Passed by the House-Contested Election Cases from Missouri and California Under Consideration.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star. SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 28 .- During the morning hour and after the presentation of the many executive communications, a bill to provide for the free and unlimited coinage of silver was introduced by Mr. Stewart (Rep., Nev.) and laid on the table for the present.

The Fortification Appropriation bill was reported back from the Appropria-tion Committee by Mr. Call, who stated that he would not call it up until next week, as there were amendments to be offered to it by several Senators.

The lamous McGarrahan claim was then taken up in the shape of a bill to refer it to the court of private land claims, and Mr. Morrill made an argument against it, on the ground chiefly that the grant on which it was based was a forgery. The discussion of the bill was interrupted by another motion to go into executive session. This was agreed to and at 405 the Senate adjourned until to-morrow. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The House took up by unanimous consent and passed several private pension bills. Also the bill reported from the Judiciary Committee with an unanimously favorable vote, authorizing the proper officials of the Government to accept the bonds of approved security and guaranty company in cases where bonds are required to be given to the United States.

Mr. Outhwaite reported from the Committee on Rules an order for the immediate consideration upon its adoption of the pending election case of Messrs. O'Neil vs. Joy, from the 11th district of Missouri, and that of Messrs. English vs. Hilborne, from the 3rd district of California, a vote to be taken after two hours' debate on each case, equally divided between the parties.

Wheat Market Excited and Higher-Corn and Oats firm at Better Prices-Pork Products Advancing. By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, March 28,-Wheat bears were made to dance to the tune of a quick advance of three cents per bushel to-day. The bulge was not unexpected, but the force and suddenness with which it came about nearly took away the breath of the late complacent shorts. Ever since Sunday, when the cold wave enveloped the winter wheat belt, fears were entertained that harm had been wrought to the growing plant, These fears were assuaged as far as possible by those whose interest it was to do so. Every report of damage was discredited or talked down, but the weather conditions to-day were such a character that plausible theories of unjointed wheat, etc., were cast aside, and for thirty minutes during the early part of the session everybody was a bull. It was either raining or snowing wherever wheat was planted, and back of it and headed for the wheat country was an area of low temperature, The Government indications confirmed the prospects of a freeze by predicting a severe cold wave. Shorts endeavored to quietly cover their contracts, but their attempts developed the fact that offerings were scarce. A wild scramble tollowed and the price was sharply run up from 58%c to 61%c. When the demand was fully satisfied the price receded, but at the close the decline was only %c from the outside and the net gain for the day 2% @2%c.

Corn-In deference to the excitement in wheat, corn remained quiet and unobtrusive. Business was light and the range narrow. The feeling was, however, one of firmness, the close being at the outside. May sold between 87 % @ 371/c, closing at the former, a net gain of 1/2c for the day. Cash corn was firm and 1/2c higher. Oats were firm and higher with wheat and corn. There was also some independent strength derived from reports of damage to the crop, but as yet they have not assumed definite shape. The close was at a gain of 1140 %c over yesterday. Cash oats were stronger and \c higher. Provisions were under the spell of advancing wheat market and sold up in unision with it. A strong hog market was also a factor as was likewise the disposition to cover shown by shorts. The amount of business transacted was quite good, although nothing of unusual interest transpired. The close was 20c. higher for May pork, 10c. higher for May lard. and 15c. higher for May ribs.

CONGRESS YESTERDAY. POLLARD-BRECKINRIDGE

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY FOR THE DEFENCE.

Several Witnesses Examined-All Remaining Depositions Read-Col. Breckinridge Will Testify To-day. By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, March 28,-Col. Breckinridge will take the stand to-morrow to testify in his own behalf against the accusations of Madeline Pollard. To-day several witnesses for the defence were examined and nearly all the remaining depositions were read, leaving only a few of the latter to be disposed of When the reading of the depositions is concluded Col. Breckinridge, his attorneys say, will take the stnnd, and they are confident that he will make a good impression.

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY. The testimony introduced by the defence to-day was sensational. Part of it was very vulgar, even indecent, in the language used by the deponents.

RANKIN R. ROSSELL was the next witness. He is the young man who said in his deposition that Miss Pollard wanted him to take her to Chicago when they were engaged. Miss Pollard admitted the engagement. Mr. Rossell is a young looking man. He says he was 34 years old and lived in Nicholasville, Ky. He was superintendent of the schools in his county and deputy county clerk and also held offices in Masonic circles. Mr. Rossell said he resided in Cincinnati in 1885 and was employed as a clerk in a large dry goods house. He knew Miss Pollard and became acquainted with her in October or November 1883.

"I was employed in dry goods house at the time" he said, "and during one of the months named, a lady called on me at the store and introduced herself as Miss . Adeline Pollard, saying she had heard of me very often. She told me she wanted to go to the Wesleyan College, and I went there with her."

Mr. Rossell told of going to the College with Miss Pollard, and how Miss Pollard told the principal, Dr. Brown, that Mr. Rossell, to whom she had introduced herself that day, was a personal friend of hers, and asked that permission be granted for him to call on her at the College.

IN LOVE WITH MISS POLLARD. The witness saw Miss Pollard three or our days after that at the College. He called there about twice a week on an average to see Miss Pollard, and most requently saw her alone.

"I at first had a great admiration for the young lady." said the witness, neryously looking at his finger-nails, "which developed into love, and from love we became engaged."

Miss Pollard had told him, Mr. Rossell said, that she had engaged herself to old man Rodes to get money from him to secure an education, and that was how she became to be a pupil at Wesleyan College. During the period of their engagement the witness saw Miss Pollard more frequently alone at the college than when others were present Her manner was very affectionate. "In what way was that indicated?"

asked Major Selby. SHE SAT IN HIS LAP. The witness hesitated in an embarrassed way before answering. He then said, "By kissing and caressing." Then he added, "She has sat in my lap." Miss Pollard rose in her chair and made a slight movement towards the witness. She appeared as if about to speak, but Mr. Carhsie pulled her back in her chair, and Rossell proceeded.

"When she sat in your lap were there any demonstrations of affection between you?" Major Shelby asked. "There naturally was," said the witness. "I put my arms about her and kissed her.'

In answer to other questions, the witness said that Miss Pollard told him if ever he met Mr. Rodes at the college to pretend there was nothing between them. He met Mr. Rodes there one Sunday night. He and Miss Pollard greeted each other as strangers before Mr. Rodes, according to their agreement, but before the evening was over Miss Pollard inadvertently called him "Rankin," which led Mr. Rodes to remark that she seemed very familiar on first acquaintance. "But by some means or other," said the witness, "she made him think she had spoken to a young lady.

WANTED TO VISIT CHICAGO.

The witness said he had decided to go o Chicago, and when he went to say good-bye to Miss Pollard, she expressed regret that he was going and asked why he did not take her with him. "I said Well, if you want to go, under these circumstances, come along, and she went up stairs and came down with her hat and cloak. That put me in a hole, and I told her that it was inconvenient for me to take her then, and that we had better wait until next June."

"Were you joking when you spoke bout going sway?" "Yes sir." "Did she say she had trunk packed." bout going sway?"

Yes sir; she said that," "How old was she at that time?" She always reprented herself to be three years my junior. I was born in 1860, and she said she was born in November 1863." (Miss Pollard says she was born November 30, 1866.)

HIRAM KAUFMAN'S DEPOSITION. Mr. Rosell's was the last verbal testimony given, and when he had stepped down, Mr. Stoll began to read the deposition of Hiram Kaufman. Miss Pollard and Miss Ellis left the court room as the reading began.

Mr. Kaufman is a butcher, thirty years of age and lives in Lexington. He said that when he came to Lexington thirrteen years ago, he went to u house in Lexington, kept by Lena Singleton, and in May and June, 1883, he had seen Madeline Pollard there. This was a year before Miss Pollard met Col. Breckinridge. He had seen Madeline Pollard and Jim Rodes lames C. Rodes) at the house of Lena Singleton, where she sat on his lap and acted just like any woman of the town. The witness deposed that Miss Pollard had made advances toward him but he rejected them on account of his friendship toward Rodes, with whom he was Lexington. On cross-examination Mr. Kaufman said he had seen Mr. Rodes give Madeline Pollard $25. Mr. Rodes had presented him to Miss Pollard, saying "Let me introduce you to my girl. Miss Pollard.' He went on to tell in all its disgusting details a conversation between himself and Miss Pollard that outbillingsgated billingsgate and in which Miss Pollard is represented as using language that is hard to credit when compared to her refined manner and appearance. Mr. Kaufman said he had seen the Pollard woman frequently at the house of Lena Singleton. John A. Brant deposed that he met Madeline Pollard at the house of Jim Rodes, where Lena Singleton acted as his housekeeper. He went to the house with Mr. Rodes, and Miss Pollard dodged him, said the deponent, meaning that she would not meet him. She appeared then, in 1888, to be a full grown woman. Brant testified that he had taken Miss Pollard riding three or four times. He was a married man at the time. Brant said the woman he knew at Lena Singleton's as Madeline Pollard was about five feet high or less. Miss Pollard is much taller than that. Miss Pollard seemed to be visiting at Lena Singleton's when he visited there in the summer of 1883.

associated at the insane asylum near

W. T. Jones, a member of Lexington's Board of Aldermen, deposed that he knew the family of President Brown, of Wesleyan College, and visited them frequently in the Fall and Winter of 1883, where he met Miss Pollard. The deponent said Miss Poliard told him that Rodes was paying her tuition, but she did not intend to marry him. He was an ignorant old farmer, she said, and she expected to pay him back.

This was all of Alderman lones' deposition, and the Court adjourned until to-morrow morning.

COXEY'S ARMY.

The "Commonweal Army" Still Marching Through Ohio.

by Telegraph to the Morning has: CHICAGO, March 28-General Coxey, of the Commonweal army, arrived here to-day to attend a horse auction, at which he had a pair of horses entered to be sold. His horses, however, had been sold yesterday at prices much below Coxey's hopes. He will rejoin his army at Salem, Ohio, to-night. He was well interviewed while here. From his utterances he did not appear favorably impressed with the work of the correspondents accompanying the army and complained of efforts to create the impression that it was a burlesque.

ALLIANCE, OHIO, March 28 .- Coxey's army evacuated camp Bunker Hill early this morning, and by forced marches on oot and via freight train moved toward Camp Diggs, near Salem. The astrologer claims a strength of 500, but Browne and Smith, who are conservative, put it ower. The war correspondents have never yet counted a hundred in line. Browne says that the actual strength only develops at meal times. The farce is likely to continue just as long as farmers and merchants are willing to teed the wanderers, who are having a good time without responsibility. trouble occurred by reason of the absence of Commander Coxey. Discipline has been considerably improved among the citizens of the Chicago and Coxiana communes by Adjutant Smith, "the unknown," who is a rigid disciplinarian.

There have been a few orders for low and medium grades of gray shirtings and bleaching cloths and these have been placed. Small lines of staples have been booked for Japan, and there have been occasional orders from India, but the latter have mostly been at too low a figure to be considered. Advices from India say that the increase in the price of exchange, together with the absence of inland orders, has checked sales and weakened prices. Other foreign transactions bave been moderate. Be Not Deceived.

Do not be misled by mere empty words, but 'et facts speak for themselves. It is not what people say, but what they do that is a proof. Few persons realize the great importance of giving the eye proper our and attention. It is far better never to wear glasses, than improperly adjusted ones, such as I am frequently adjusted to the proper attention. It is tar better never to wear glasses, than improperly adjusted ones, such as I am frequently called upon to change, and which were furnished to opticians in whom the public had implicit confidence. The truth of this statement I dan substantiate to the letter. I have been successful beyond my expectations, and mean to do none but the most conscientious work, and will use my best knowledge and ability to further that end. I have had the benefit of the best instruction, both theoretically and practically, and claim to be an optician in the fullest sense of the word, It is a source of great pleasure to me to know that I have relieved so many children by siving them properly adjusted glasses, and whose parents assure me that they have greatly improved, not only in general health, but in their studies. Do not hesitate to call upon me if you wish to ascertain the exact condition of the eye. I will gladly refract you, free of charge, whether glasses are desired or not.

During my attendance at the Clinics, North, I saw so much suffering and affliction that had been brought upon persons by incompetent occulists, that I advise my freends and pairrons when in need of surgical work to the eyes to consult only the who stand at the head of the profession. Respectfully.
