The principal use they have for armies and navies down in South | Entertainment for Benefit of St. Paul's America seems to be in getting up revolutions, instead of suppressing them. In this country about the only use we have for an army is to draw pay and rations, but that's better that hatching revolutions.

Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge denies that he induced Miss Pollard to go to Washington, but he admits that he several times recommended her for positions in the Civil Service, which she didn't get because she couldn't stand the examination. This was when she had him "hoodooed."

Chicago has among her other curiosities a citizen who is so indolent that he will not take the trouble to collect the rent on some flats he owns, which amounts in the aggregate to $160 a month. He hasn't collected any rent for five years, but as he has an income sufficient to support him in comfort without this he prefers to have a good time, and not fool with his tenants, who pronounce him a daisy landlord.

The last report that comes from Washington as to who is furnishing Miss Pollard with money to carry on her suit against Breckinridge is that it comes from friends of Dr. Charles A. Briggs, against whom Mr. B. appeared in the prosecution, to get even with him for the methods he took in preparing evidence against the Dr. in his trial for heresy, and the zeal he showed in the prosecution, which they say was done "to con ceal his own hypocrisy."

Governor Stone, of Missouri, is in trouble. A negro sentenced to be hanged has sent him the rabbit foot he toted, with a bag of "hoodoo" powder, with instructions how to manipulate the foot, and a threat that if the instructions are not carried out he will be a "hoodooed" Governor. The Governor hasn't much faith in a rabbit foot that let its man get into jail and be sentenced to be hanged, but there is that "hoodoo" staring him in the face if he doesn't tie to it.

The entertainment given at Mrs. W A. French's residence last evening, for the benefit of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, was well attended, although the inclemency of the weather probably kept many at home. The programe consisted of a "cake walk," instrumental and vocal music, dancing and recitations. The songs by the quartette composed of Messrs. Cooper and Everett and Messrs. Berry and Toomer, were muchlenjoyed.

The violin solo by Mr. Clark and the banjo playing of Mr. Shoemaker were received with great applause. The recitations by Misses McRee and Wooten were very good.

The cake walk, which was participated in by the following couples, created much laughter. Mr. J. D. Latham and Miss Berry; Mr. Geo. Sloan and Miss Whitaker; Mr. W. The ladies who managed the entertainment were well pleased with the financial part.

The Truckers' Trains,

The Atlantic Coast Line is now giving an excellent service for the truckers at all points on its system. The facilities are specially good on the line of the Wilmington and Weldon road, The following particulars are of importance to shippers:

This train gives a fast service for fruit and vegetable shipments from Wilmington and stations on the Wilmington and Weldon railroad, to Eastern markets, via Atlantic Coast Despatch (all rail), and via Atlantic Coast Line (rail and water, via Norfolk and steamer).

Senator Vance.

The Washington correspondent of the Charlotte Observer, has this to say of Senator Vance's health:

Senator Vance is said to be suffering from an enlargement of the liver. By using highly concentrated food since his return here he has slightly improved in condition, but is not able to walk. The above information is on good authority out does not come from a member of the family. Mr. Charles N. Vance tells me to-day that his father was badly jolted by the trip and did not rest well last night but he is better to-day, and is recovering from the effects of the journey.

Ambitious Asheville.

And now it is Asheville that is putting on airs. The people there are moving for an Inter-State Encampment, and propose to take in all the troops composing the State Guard of North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennesses. An April Fool.

The ordinance of the city of Charlotte taxing dealers in cigarettes $200,00 each, and which was to go into effect April 1st, had a very brief existence. The Board of Aldermen held a meeting Monday and reduced the tax from $200 to $10, with a penalty of $50 for selling without license. So the Charlotte clgarette emerges from the smoke of battle with flying colors, and the Charlotte small boy is ready tobacco with his last

CONFEDERATE VETERANS.

Address of Commander W. L. DeRosset at the Annual Meeting of Cape Fear Camp No. 254.

WILMINGTON, N. C., April 2, 1894. COMRADES:—At the close of our fiscal year of our organization it is proper that a report of its general condition and future prospects should be laid before March were nine colored and one white. The membership of Cape Fear Camp No. 254, United Confederate Veterans, is now 189, as against 80 at the beginning of the year. At no time since our first organization > has there been as much interest manifested, nor as much feeling of comradeship evinced, as during the year. It seems to me that as we become more and more conscious of the fact that we are rapidly being, if not already classed as old men, the feeling of comradeship must increase steadily, and create a greater degree of esprit de corps among our members.

We should feel profoundly thankful to our Heavenly Father that He has permitted us, as individuals, to pass safely through another year of our lives, and, as an organization, that death has claimed but three from our ranks. We have had to join in the last sad rites over the remains of Assistant Surgeon Francis Whitfield Potter, one of our original members; and later of comrade A. B. Persee, who, though associated with us but a short time was. am sure, second to none in his devotion to the cause for which we all made sacrifices, and in shouldering the burthen now placed upon us to his full share, and only to-day Lt. Col. Ben R. Moore departed this life. May they receive the reward promised to good and faithful servants. Your Executive Council have faithfully attended to the duties imposed upon them. They have met at my call, and transacted all the business coming before them with great unanimity. The step you took a year since in affiliating with the general organization of the United Confederate Veterans I think a wise one, and must necessarily inspire our members with the enthusiasm of other Camps, when they come to know what our comrades, from New York to Texas, are doing. This organization is for historical, benevolent and charitable purposes. Much has been done, and more is now being done, to bring before the world the facts and occurrences of the four years of war, pestilence and tamine through which we passed, from our own standpoint; and unless this is fully done, and done by the active participants in those stirring scenes, the truth will never be known. We should, therefore, do all we can as an organization, and as individuals, to approve and sustain every intelligent complishing our ends in this respect than to encourage every publication which is under the full control of one who has

I know of no more practical way of ac-'seen the little end of a rifle." The most notable publication of this kind has been now in circulation for about a year, by our comrade, S. A. Cunningham, late Captain in a Tennessee Regiment, who experienced at the front the full four years of strife. The Confederate Veteran is issued from the publishing office in Nashville, Tenn., monthly, a beautiful spec. men of typography, largely illustrated with new pictures and designs, at a cost of $1.00 per annum. I have read carefully nine issues of this magazine, and have yet to see one sentiment expressed editorially that any Veteran would object to. It certainly issues "no uncertain sound." It would give me pleasure to receive any subscriptions to this paper and forward same to the publisher, and as full lniormation is given as to every camp in the U. C. V., it would be a graceful recognition of the good work of our comrade should you pass a resolution making the paper the official organ of your body. It is doubtless a "worthy custodian of our glorious

In this connection I deem it my duty to caution you against the seductive name and style of a paper published in New York by the Frank Leslie Publishing Company, called the Confed-War Journal. This paper is edited by a Yankee, who is also a Republican, as editor-in-chief, and by Marcus J. Wright, late a Brigadier General in the Confederate army. This paper is profusely illustrated, but by using the old wood-cuts which appeared in Frank Leslie's paper during the war. If you will stop to think, you will see that such stuff is hardly acceptable to a good Confederate. The only redeeming feature of the paper is the publication of documents copied from the records in the War Department, in which, among the Confederate Records, Gen. Wright is employed by the Government. Let us all help our worthy comrade, Cunningham, in his effort to keep alive the camp fires, and thus do all we can, perhaps, towards the desired object, historically. With his paper circulating treely throughout the South, and it does also to a large extent among our late enemies, I would have very little fear but that the history of the grandest army ever assembled on the face of the earth will be truthfully written, probably before any of us have "crossed the river," and that the honest, patriotic, American-born citizens whom we fought will be among those who will acknowledge facts as we write them. The Fourth Annual Reunion of the Confederate Veterans takes place at Birmingham, Alabama, on April 25th and 26th. So far I am sorry to say that I have not found a member who has time and the means, as well as the disposition, to take the trip, who might represent this Camp, as a delegate, at this first grand reunion. Major General Hall will of course be present as commanding the North Carolina Division of the U.C. V., and though he is also a member of this Camp I would prefer to have others with him to represent us. Would it not be well to appoint a committee to see whether a fund can be raised by subscription to meet the expenses of at least one of our members, as a delegate? If this suggestion is adopted I recommend that the same committee be authorized to make the selection of such tive Council have been fruitless in securing lecturers, but they have the matter before them constantly and will use their best endeavors to execute your directions. It is a pity that those who are able to do so will not record their experiences so as to add their mite to our history.

On March 2nd "grand old" Lieuten-ant General Jubal A. Early closed his earthly career. One among the prominent leaders in our struggle for liberty, and of the trusted lieutenants of the General of our armies, his great ability, strong attachment to the cause and unceasing efforts to better the condition of his comrades who were in need, made him many life-long friends, and his memory should ever be kept green in the mind of true Confederates. Those who are, since his death, traducing his character and abusing others for expressing their opinion of him as a man and a soldier, are utterly unworthy of consideration by us, and should be left to the contemplation of their own pharisaical instincts.

One principle in our organization is not to ask for more money from the members than is sufficient to defray the expenses. The committee appointed by the Executive Council to audit and report on the books of your Treasurer have performed their duties, as per acaccompanying report. The balance in the hands of the Treasurer is $21.42. There is due to the U. C. V. $13,90 for annual dues of 10 cents for each active member. This has since been paid, and l think there are outstanding debts due amounting to about $2.00, so that the actual cash on hand available is about $5.00. The annual dues of 25 cents for each member is now due, and the Treasurer will soon call on members for the

In connection with the finances let it be borne in mind that the objects of our organization are social, literary, historical and benevolent.

If the Executive Council had under their control a fund for benevoleut purposes much good could be done in the way of temporary relief for suffering or unfortunate comrades. As it is they can do nothing more than put their hands in their own pockets. I submit this matter for your careful consideration, only adding that in my opinion, one of the principal if not the first duty of our organization is to see that our worthy comrades do not suffer for want of at least the necessaries of life.

Fraternally, WM. L. DEROSSET,

Commander. At the meeting of Cape Fear Camp U. C. V.'s, at which the Commander made the above address, it was

Resolved, That the address be furnished the city papers for publication, and that an appeal be made to our fellow-citizens for funds with which to aid in meeting accompanied with money, corn or bacon, the expenses of the seven delegates, to and the dew rises even to the neck which this Camp is entitled, to the grand reunion of the United Confeder. ate Veterans, to be held at Birmingham, Alabama, April 25th and 26th.

Unless some aid is given in this way it is probable that the Camp will not be represented at the reunion, a circumstance, we think, which would be deplorable, not only for the Camp, but for our city generally.

Every member of the Camp is made committee of one to solicit subscriptions for this object. It is believed that if a ticket for each delegate could be furnished that we would have a full representation. This would take only about $125, and we trust that this appeal will meet with a hearty response from our members and the citizens generally.

OPERA HOUSE.

Second Night's Performance by Zera

The entertainment at the Opera House last night by Zera Semon, "The King of Mystery," was even more entertaining than the night before, several new features being added. The audience was large and mostly refined and cultured, and was much pleased with the many startling and mysterious exhibitions of the skill of this wonder-worker and ventriloquist.

The entertainment started out last night with many new tricks, which were amusing and highly entertaining. Next came several songs by Master Lawrence, the seven-year old son of Zera Semon, who is so cunning and intelligent that he entirely captured the audience from his first appearance, eliciting much applause and several encores.

The Minuette minstrel troupe which concluded the performance with Master Lawrence as Mr. Johnsing, the interloquiter, was more startling than all the balance of the show. Headless men danced, and skeletons walked, gaped and separated themselves into pieces, and each distinct piece moved, worked as though alive, and again joined themselves together-horrible and startling like-'mid the wonder of all present. There will be another performance to-

Special Star Correspondence.]

MAXTON, N. C., April 4th. 1894 .- It eems that the moon shines in Robeson as brightly as in the mountains and the "dew" falls almost as plentifully in Raft Swamp as in the deep glens of Skyland.

The irrepressible E. J. Graham, of Lumber Bridge, was again up before U. S. Commissioner B. F. McLean yesterday, and together with Andrew Parish, of the same place, was bound over to the U.S. Court, when next it convenes in your pleasant city, on the charge of retailing without license.

Lumber Bridge township joins Cumberland county, and has a population noted for being good, law-abiding citizens, industrious and sober, filled with noble aspirations, which found expression in the establishment and maintenance of churches and a school of high grade. They are naturally very much exercised over the state of affairs now existing, so foreign to their past.

The trouble began a few years ago. when E. J. Graham decided that there ought to be an easier, if not more royal, road to wealth and fame than by raising cotton and bread corn, and set up a Government distillery, against the advice and pleadings of his neighbors. However, making mountain due on the plan upon which the Government claimed a large interest did not prove profitable, and was abandoned. It was not long after the fires were put out of the registered still before it was known that the "dew" continued to fall, and it was found that Graham's still had been stolen(?). To make a long story shorter, the people of Lumber Bridge believe that six illicit distilleries are in use in that section; four of them being controlled by Graham and two by other parties. They believe that there has been formed a band held together by a most mystic tie-an improvement on that more ancient and honorable tie which bound the Wise Man and the men of Tyre.

The stills are kept constantly on the move. One was seen in Lumber Bridge township a few weeks ago with certain parties around it. That night it had disappeared, and was again seen last week in Saint Paul's township, with the same parties about it; but the same night they folded their tents and departed.

The mountain mode of disposing of "the crathur" is in vogue on Raft Swamp. The thirsty one has but to place the jug or bottle in the right place, thereof. As a result, the contents of smokehouses, corn-cribs and hen-roosts are diverted from the legal and equitable owners and Lumber Bridgians are ex-

It will be remembered that while on their way from a search for one of the swamp demons some time ago, Deputy Collector W. F. Gibson, Deputy Marshall Alex. McMillan, and Mr. A. L. Shaw were shot at and struck with small shot. Luther Smith, a black boy, is in custody, and is undergoing an examination as I write, upon the charge of doing the shooting.

The session to-night will open with a song service led by Mr. W. J. Ramsay, of Trinity College, so long chorister for Evangelist Fife. Gospel Hymns Nos. 5 and 6 will be used, and everybody will be asked to sing. So carry your books, good people. President Frank L. Meares will then welcome the delegates to the city, and after a suitable response, Rev. D. H. Tuttle, of Raleigh, (well-known in Wilmington), will make the opening address, "Why I believe in the Association." Rev. H. E. Chrietzberg, of Asheville, was expected to make the address, and his name is on the programme, but it was learned last night that he could not attend, being detained by revival services in his church, and in response to a telegram Mr. Tuttle consented to fill his place.

That he will do it worthily all know. The members of the Association of Wilmington are requested by a committee to wear badges during the meeting. The badge is a red triangle, the emblem of the Association throughout the world The delegates will also wear a hadge of somewhat similar design. The following delegates have been
