Braddy & Gaylord's Opening. The firm of Braddy & Gaylord, proprietors of the Racket Store, began their Fall opening yesterday and received several hundred visitors during the day. The windows were handsomely decorated, and on the inside many kinds of fabrics were arranged and interwoven artistically so as to please the eye. There were fancy goods, dress goods, gentlemen's wear in profusion on the first floor. In the gallery a variety of goods were attractively arranged. The handsomest part of the establishment was that devoted to millinery and ladies' hats under the supervision of Miss Alma

WRIGHTSVILLE RALLY.

The Democratic Meeting at Atlantic View-Ovster Rosst, &c. The Democratic rally at Atlantic

Wendling To-night.

Do not fail to hear this remarkable man whom the best critics pronounce able, scholarly, masterly. In Charlotte Tuesday night, in spite of the dreadful weather of the day, some had to be turned away for want of room. This was because it was Mr. Wendling's second appearance there. It will be well for all to remember that they must get admission tickets for this lecture at Yates' book store or at the Hall tonight. No admission by course tickets. All are kindly asked to be present at 8 o'clock promptly, so as not to interrupt the speaker by coming in. Gentlemen's Driving Club.

A meeting of the Gentlemen's Driving Club was to have been held last night, but was postponed, pending report of the committee appointed to arrange details concerning the race track which is to be secured. At the next meeting, of which notice will be given, a large attendance of those in sympathy with the movement is desired.

"Maxton has had a small cotton factory ready for operation for several months, but the orders for the varn which it was designed to make were so low that it would not justify a start. While she was on the stage the audience forgot that they were only looking at paste-board figures, and for the time being entered heart and soul into the spirit of the play. The work of farbie, the old servant, and of Father Christmas, the old rogue, was excellent. The other characters were only fairly well in their respective roles.

When the report first reached Charleston that the Atlantic Coast Line had bought the Charleston, Sumter and Northern Road, the editor of the News and Courier sent a dispatch to Mr. H. Walters, president of the Atlantic Coast Line system, telling him of the rumor current here, and asking him what the ourchase of the Charleston, Sumter and Northern meant for this city. The following dispatch, confirming the news that has already been given in the News and Courier, has been received from Mr Walters at Petersburg:

"The Charleston, Sumter and Northern Railroad Company is an insolvent company which has never earned its operating expenses. Our friends have purchased some of its securities. If it passes into our control we will endeavou to make it possible to maintain it as a railroad and every interest that Charleston can have in the business along its line will be safer than when at the mercy of an insufficient company."

The Charleston Post says: "It is said that the Southern Passenger Association has fixed the rates of Winter tourists at two cents a mile each way and that there will be an effort to put a stop to the work of the ticket scalpers in the selling of winter tourist rates. Stop-over privileges will be granted just as heretofore but they will be manipulated on a differ ent line of operations. The passenger desiring to secure a stop-over ticket will have to go to the ticket agent in the town he wishes to stop and deposit his icket with him, getting a receipt for it When he goes to leave the town he will have to go to the ticket agent and get his ticket again, and along with it he will get a 'paster,' showing the length of the stop-over, and on what train the passenger must leave town on the coninuance of his journey."

Canned goods show even a greater depreciation in values. Cotton prints quoted at fourteen cents per yard in 1869 are now selling at four and a half cents. Steel rails in 1869 cost $133 per ton; now $24. In some of these branches special inventions or processes have had their influence, but in others these conditions do not exist. The greatest decline in most articles has occurred in the last decade, and the tendency has been more pronounced in the last three years than in any previous three years. Naturally this great change has caused both students of political economy and business men to study the cause or causes. Some are disposed to attribute it to the adoption of gold as a standard of values and the demonetization of silver. Others contend that in-creased facilities for production and distribution are responsible for it. A careful study of the situation leads the nonpartisan, dispassionate observer to the conclusion that both of these forces have contributed to the result. It is perfectly evident to all, however, that we have been passing through a transition period such as the world has seldom seen. The average producer, manufacturer or trader has had to contend against a steady shrinkage in the value of the articles produced or handled. The only exceptions have been those protected by a monopoly in some form. Exclusive production has protected some. Patents have protected others. Trade marks or unusual excellence others. Manufacturers of proprietary articles, for which they have established a demand by skilful advertising. have been among those who have been exempt from the general tendency. They have bought their raw materials at a constantly decreasing cost, and, being able to control the selling price of their Oldham, W P, & Co, No, 416 (Herbert Mc products, have reaped a profit which those who were exposed to the full force Oldham, w.r., surety), S. Remembins, you are paying 10 cents for 24 ounces of Bread, each loaf weighing only 13 ounces, but when you buy my one-pound Loaves you get 35 ounces for 10 cents, and 394 ounces for $1. But elsewhere you only get 350 ounces for $1. Hot bread every afternoon, only five cents for one-pound loaves:
