Lividia. Flags on all the Govenment

"St. Petersburg, November 1.—It has pleased our Lord to recall to him our much beloved Sovereign. Alexander the Third died at Lividia this afternoon at Cantecuzene formally for varded a copy of the telegram to the Department of State, but at so late an our that no action is probable at that Department before to-morrow. President Cleveland was not at the White House, having started early in the morning for a day's squirrelling in Maryland.

Alexander III, Emperor of all the Russias, who succeeded to the throne on the muider of his father by Nihilist conspirators on March 18, 1881, was born March 10, 1845. For some time after his elevation to the throne he seldom appeared in public, but lived in the closest retirement at Grachina, being in constant dread of the machinations of the secret societies of Socialists. His coronation took place at Moscow May 27, 1883. He married in 1866 Mary Feo-dorovna (formerly Mary Sophia Fredercia a Dagamar), daughter of Christian IX, King of Denmark, and sister of the Princess of Wales and the King of Greece. The principal concern of the Czar was to put down Nihilism, to develop the military powers of Russia, to organize her Asiatic and Caucasian Provinces, and to keep a steady eye upon Constantinople. From the beginning of his reign periodical attempts upon his life were made by the Nihilists. Twice officers in his own army tried to shoot him. In 1989, he and his tried to shoot him. In 1888 he and his family narrowly escaped death in a rail-way accident near Borki. The train was thrown from the track and many passengers killed, but the Imperial party were hardly injured. The derailing of the train was supposed to be the work of Nihilists. Last Spring a plot was formed in Finland to blow up the Castle which the Czar was expected to occupy during the Fall manœuvres around Smolensk. The police are still busy hunting down the conspirators. The Czar was deeply religious. He was under the influence of such bigots as Pobodonseff, Attorney-General of the Holy Synod, and his group, and persecuted the Jews, Catholics and German Lutherans in Russia without cessation mercy. He inherited with his Minis ter of Foreign Affairs, Prince !Gortchakoff, a strong prejudice against the Germans, which was increased by the agitation of the Pan-Slavist war party in his capital. Nevertheless, he held fast to a peace policy. Last year he reached an understanding with France, during the visit of the Russian fleet at Toulon, and ever since Russia LONDON, November 1.-The Daily News' correspondent in Yalta, who, throughout the Czar's sojourn there has obtained the most trustworthy and interesting information, has sent this dis-

"The Czar died at 2.10 o'clock this and Schwartz sold, supposed to be for Continental account. The bears are, as a rule, timid about selling. Most of them are waiting like Micawber, for "something to turn up." The strike at New Orleans is said to be impeding the afternoon. He was fully conscious. When he felt that his last hour was approaching he asked for extreme unction. This was administered by Father Iven, who afterward conversed with the dying man for some time. The Czar next asked that his family should gather around him. He spoke with each member separately, but at the greatest length with the Czarena. He then gave all his blessings. Finally he bade all farewell. Little by little he grew weaker. His voice at last became hardly audible. Soon after he passed away quietly. The oath of allegiance to Nicholas II. was then administered to the whole family, and at 4.80 o'clock cannon were fired to announce the fact to the world." After confirming the death and the funeral arrangements already described, the correspondent adds: "The entire Seventh army corps will pay military honors to the dead Emperor when the body shall be embarked at Yalta. The train from Odessa to St. Petersburg will stop at every important station, where the local garrison will be drawn up to render military honors to their dead. "The Czarina is quite broken down

The Descendant of Peter the Great Has Passed Away.

UNEASINESS IN EUROPE.

His Death Is a Solemn Warning To Hundreds of Men and Women Who Are Alive To-day. The Czar is dead !

He was born in St. Petersburg March 10, 1845, and ascended the throne March 13, 1881, three days after the assassination of his father. He leaves five children. The Czar was a lover of peace, and amiable in his private life, but tyrannical as a ruler. He was honest, but narrow, stubborn, and would not take advice.

For several years the Czar has been ailing. His appetite has been fickle, his sleep uncertain. He has felt peculiar pains throughout his body. especially about the lower portion of the limbs, and has been annoyed with frequent headaches and indigestion.

It is strange that with all the medical skill at his command so few people realized what was troubling him. More than two years ago, however, in America the meaning of these well-known symptoms was clearly understood, and the Czar was warned publicly and in print that he was the victim of Bright's disease of the kidneys. Since then the disease has increased and grown, until finally it has ended in death. Had he heeded the warning sounded in America two years ago, and taken promptly according to directions the great and only known discovery for Bright's disease of the kidneys, the Czar would unquestionably be alive today. That remedy, which is known to all scientists and acknowledged as supreme in its power, is Warner's Safe Cure. It cannot be considered a proprietary medicine, but rather a discovery for men and women troubled with any kind of kidney, liver or urinary weakness, with depressed feelings, run down con-dition, or with uric acid poisoning, rheumatic or gout troubles. There are thousands of men and women in America to-day who have been rescued and kept alive wholly by the use of this great remedy. And you, reader, are suffering from any trouble which you do not fully understand, you may be sure that it arises from disordered kidneys or liver. If so, heed the warning which the Czar neg-lected, and save yourself while you have the opportunity.
