PROJECTED WORK OF THE NORTH

Senstorship-Plenty of Candidates, and Butler the Only One Whose Election Seems Burel

The following letter from the Raleigh correspondent of the Washington Star, who is a Republican, is largely speculative, but it probably gives a better idea of the situation than do the wild guesses of some of the Democratic correspon-present one, which is known as the Payne law. The election of magistrates will be by the people instead of by the Legislature, though it may be that in seven of the Eastern counties the legislative election system may continue. In Wallace, of Rutherford, Engrossing those counties there is a negro majority. A bill to thus arrange the election of magistrates was introduced in the Legislature in 1887 by H. G. Ewart, who was afterward a Congressman, but who is again in the Legislature. The charters of a number of the cities and towns are to be amended; in some cases greatly. Even yet it is a disputed question as to whether the Populists or the Repubicans have a larger number of members the Legislature, Marion Butler. Populist, State chairman, insists that there are about seven more Populists than Republicans, while H. G. Ewart, Republican, says there are at least three more Republicans than Populists. Butler says that one thing which will make the fusionists (certainly the Populists) in the Legislature harder to control than would otherwise have been the case, is the fact that they were made very angry in a number of counties by the rejection of bonds of county officers-elect and the throwing out of office of the latter. THE SENATORSHIP. Two months ago it was said quite openly that there was an agreement that Marion Butler was to be the Populist Senator and Jeter Pritchard the Republican Senator. Now it is hard, indeed, to induce any one to admit that there was any such agreement or understanding. Butler says he will take no part in the election of a Republican Senator, as is a "sure card." Indeed, it looks so, though a Republican member of the Legislature remarked to-day that Pritchard was losing ground. The latter is extremely discreet, and is trying to make no enemies. He is an ardent supporter of Butler for Senator on the part of the Populists. H. G. Ewart thinks he has as much strength as anybody in the race; that is, J. J. Mott, Pritchard, Oliver H. Dockery, State Chairman A. E. Holton, Jas. Boyd, etc. With the Democrats Ewart is unquestionably the most popular Republican in this State. There is good reason for belief that in case there is an opening with a good prospect of success he could get the solid Demo-

It is alleged by some of the Populists that certain Democratic members of the Legislature have already approached certain members of the Republican party with a proposition for a combination, Marion Butler has himself heard this

While it was thought at first that eter Pritchard was so sure of a senatorship, and while so many yet admit it, yet there are not a few who say that as among the Republicans it is anybody's race. It is certain that Dr. Mott and Ewart are avowed aspirants for it, and that both have already arranged to es-tablish headquarters here, so as to do active work.

Chairman Holton is another avowed candidate. He and Pritchard and Mott and O. H. Dockery and Ewart have let every Republican and Populist member of the Legislature know that they are aspirants. Dr. Mott says it is anybody's

Dr. Mott is a veteran, was for years State chairman, and has a great deal of influence, besides being one of the very ablest North Carolina Republicans. So what he says has value. Fusion is to be continued in 1896. He says so, and so do Chairmen Holton and Butler. ANTI-FUSION REPUBLICANS.

The two Republicans who are fighting susion are Henry C. Cowles, mem-ber of the National Committee, and Robert M. Douglas. It is said their desire is to see the Legislature elect two Republican Senators, or it this cannot be done to have it elect Butler for the short term and not the long term. Now, Butler is positively slated for the long term. Dr. Mott says that Republicans who do not favor fusion should leave the Republican party by the back-door. Chairman Holton indignantly denies the statement made in some of the papers that there is a plot to elect two Republican Senators. He says the arrangement for one of each of the parties will be strictly carried out. So says Dr. Mott. The latter, like Holton and Pritchard, supports Butler for the Popust Senatorship. THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES.

A Republican, who alleges that he is on the inside and knows well how the Republicans in the Legislature stand on the question of preferences for a Senator from their party, says that when the caucus assembles the first ballot will be: Pritchard, 12; Mott, 12; Ewart, 6; Holton, 6; Boyd, 5; Dockery, 3; Carver, 2;

A letter from a friend of Pritchard says every county in the Ninth district save Henderson favors him for Senator. Death of Mrs. Oakley.

After the appointment of a committee to notify the Governor of its organization, the Senate adjourned.

On roll call 121 accredited members nswered to their names, and a quorum being present, the House proceeded to organization by electing a Speaker.

Mr. Lusk nominated Zeb Vance Walser, of Davidson, and Mr. Peebles, of Northampton, nominated J. Frank Ray, of Macon. The vote resulted: Walser 72, Ray 43 and Lusk 1 (Walser.)

The Clerk declared Mr. Walser elected, and Messrs. Lusk, Ray and Heilman escorted him to the chair. He briefly thanked the House for the honor, imploring their assistance and indicating that grave and important matters of legislation would come before them. He

The further organization was completed by the election of D. P. Satterfield, of Person, Chief Clerk; E. R. Houser, Jr., of Lenour, Engrossing Clerk; A. J. Moye, of Pitt, Doorkeeper; and Ino. W. Chapin, of Beaufort, Reading Clerk. The appointment of a committee to

The nominations agreed were made and those named were elected by a strict Fusion party vote. Yet the

and the nomination then of Zeb. Vance Walser instead of V. S. Lusk was a sen sational surprise to all, as the joint cau cus was effected by Lusk and his friends It was seemingly the idea that with the joint caucus and Lusk for Speaker, the short term Senatorship would go to Mott, whereas a separate caucus mean a triumph for Walser, with Holton and Settle behind him and possibly the election of Holton for Senator. But the strong candidate for the short term was Pritchard, and now that Walser has been elected Speaker despite the joint caucus, it is thought that Marion Butler has side-tracked Mott with his friend Lusk. Also, Holton and the other aspirants are supposed to be weakened. But the coup by Butler has not been without its evil iesults, for Settle, Holton and Mott are in high dudgeon against him, and Settle and Holton look upon Walser's election as a sell out by him to Butler, who is considered certain now for the long term Senatorship. Meanwhile, people are inquiring what was the considera-tion for which Butler consented to take Walser instead of Lusk. Some say that Walser's strength meant in Butler's eyes danger to Pritchard, the candidate of the original combination, and probably danger to himself. Moreover, was stated that the giving the Speakership to Walser was but an empty honor, as substitute committees were appointed last night to select the members of the twenty-two

Lusk made a speech in nominating Walser to-day in which he said that the Fusion majority would be greater Orange. Her death resulted from an in 1896 than in the last election; that nothing could separate the two parties to fusion: that the Democrats would well possess their souls in peace and say amen to their prayers; that, as the late Senator Vance said, a Populist could not be distinguished from a Republican on a cloudy day, and they were the same in Jim Boyd, of Greensboro, has arrived and is working up a boom for the Senatorship. He and Mott (and Holton and Settle are now against Pritchard and would not hesitate to down Butler if such a thing seemed possible. The atmosphere has changed to-day and clouds are visible in the Pritchard sky which were not thought of yesterday, before what is thought to have been the perfidity of Butler and Walser had transpired.

Splendidly Equipped. The News and Courier of yesterday gives the following account of the arrival of the first vestibule train of the

Quite a large party of railroad men, passengers and reporters went up to the Junction yesterday to meet the first restibule train of the season from New York to Florida. A fitful, drizzling To be Sold at a rain was falling, and everybody was still shivering over Farmer Jesunofsky's announcement that the mercury was scheduled for another trip to the other end of the tube. The accommodation train from Charleston was composed of a baggage car, a passenger coach and the Plant system engine No. 8, which was scheduled to take the "special" into Savannah vesterday afternoon.

A rapid and pleasant run was made up to the Junction, where everybody waited for the Florida special to put in its appearance. It did so promptly on time, carrying thirty passengers, six of whom were transferred to the accommodation train and brought into Charleston. The "special" has long been known as one of the very handsomest trains in America, and its appearance vesterday even in the rain storm fully ustified this estimate. It was in charge of Capt. Pugh and Engineer Neeley, and was pulled from Florida to Charleston by the Northeastern engine No. 18. The special was made up of baggage car No. 1, the dining car Belvidere, the

and the observation car Chevalier. I was of course vestibuled throughout, and equipped in the most elegant and perfect manner. Capt. Pugh said that it had been promptly on time on the entire southward trip. It lost four minutes on the change at the Junction, but made it up in a few miles on the Charleston and Savannah road. Among the passengers aboard of her was Mr. Borden, the Coast Line System's Master of Transportation. Mr. Borden said that during the trip between Richmond and Florence the special was pulled by one of the splendid new engines which have been bought especially with a view to giving a fast schedule to the tourist travel. Everybody was delighted with the new engine, and expressed the belief that it could have covered seventy-five miles an hour without the slightest difficulty. As this is the train which will handle the bulk of the Northern tourist travel this season, no expense has been spared Potomac, the Coast Line and the Plant system are interested in it, and each of these lines will make it a matter of pride to see that the "special" makes a good record while in its charge. Just before the "special" pulled into the Junction yes-

such a remarkable record with the famous Pethian Fiver, and which will pull the Florida specials over the Charleston and Savannah this Winter The schedule which has been mapped out for the special is the fastest regular schedule which has ever been made in this service, but the fact that on its first trip the special met the schedule at every point shows that the management knows what it is about and that there every farmer in Dallas county who has more land than he can profitably cultivate would sell fifty or sixty acres to a Western farmer, the county would in a short time double in population and then things would hum, upon which the Mobile Register remarks that if they did and all these Western farmers went to raising all the cotton they could, as the Alabama farmers now do, then the Alabama farmer would have to hump himself even more than he does now. The Mobile man evidently thinks there are two sides to the immigration question.

Mrs. J. B. Potter and Kyrle Bellew in "Charlotte Corday" To-Morrow Night.

A glance at the career of Cora Urquhart Potter will convince the most casual observer that she is a most remarkable woman. She became a professional actress ten years ago, and is to-day probably without a rival on the American stage. Possessing, as she does, a wonderful ability to acquire knowledge and an irresistable will power, she has in ten years accomplished what many an actress has striven for a lifetime in vain, Mrs. Potter may easily be classed to-day as among the leading actresses of the times, and as was greeted with applause.

It is said the Rep.-Pops in the Senate will change the universal custom and elect the committees. There is a strong sentiment now to change the county government. Also, to abolish or cripple the Bureau of Labor Statistics, to redistrict the towns and may-be elect mayors by popular vote; to alter the election law so as to get all the offices in sight; to cripple the railroad commission, cut down the University appropriation and make other radical changes. But there is an under-current of conservative sentiment, however, that if all this is done

The same agreement was made for the Senate, only the chief clerk was started there with a Populist.
