Ladies' Chemisettes.

When Congress abolishes the very seductive and pernicious custom of allowing contestants for seats $2,000 to pay expenses, &c., there will be fewer contests and less pilfering of the public treasury. Capt. Broman, of Oregon, proposes to take a cruise around the Horn and across the Atlantic in a thirteen and a half foot canoe, provided it doesn't turn over and spill him out somewhere on the way. Russia is progressing. She has abolished the use of the knot in the infliction of punishment. It was about time for it was barbarous. Within ten years 3000 persons, punished for petty thefts, have died from this barbarous treatment. An Indiana solon proposes to reduce the price of stolen kisses from $500 to $250. This looks like encouraging larceny, but perhaps he doesn't put a very high value on the Indiana article. In Missouri purchased kisses are worth $2,500. If Senator Chandler, of New Hampshire, was as sensitive as the New Hampshire woman who spun the yarn which she twisted into a rope and hanged herself because she was in debt, he would not have lived to be associated with the hyena or the buzzard. Ex-Senator Warner Miller, of New York, announces that he is now in good health again, has money enough to buy the next meal and proposes to take a hand in State politics again. But why should any honest man who has money enough to buy the next meal engage in Republican politics? London jewellers were perplexed to account for the large number of rubies that were appearing in that town until they discovered that parties in Paris were running in big lots of artificial stones which it takes an expert to tell from the natural article. Edison has been making rubies for some time and doing it cheaper than they could be dug out of the ground and finished up. One reason, perhaps, why the Japanese soldiers fight so well is that that they know they will be taken care of if wounded and decently buried if killed, and one reason why the Chinese soldiers run the first chance they get is, even if they are not naturally inclined to run, that if wounded they are left to die like dogs. The soldier who feels that he is looked upon as no more than a dog can't fight like a man. George Gould indignantly denies the oft-published report that the marriage contract called for $2,000,000 cash, for his French brother-in-law, who, he says, is pretty well fixed and amply able to take care of himself. George was somewhat slow in making this denial. He should have spiced it when the story was first published, if he cared to say anything about it at all. It is said that Mr. Wm. H. Heard, who was recently appointed Minister to Liberia, is not as much stuck on his job as he was. He had been reading about the healthfulness, &c., of that climate, and when he called at the Department of State he was handed a dispatch which read: "We have just buried the American Minister in a beautiful green lot, next to his honored predecessor." Mr. Heard is not hankering to be buried in any beautiful green lot down there alongside of anybody.

Cook, Judge of the Criminal Circuit Court—Amendments to the Revenue Bill. [Special Star Correspondence.] RALEIGH, N. C., March 9. SENATE. The Senate met at 10 o'clock this morning and prayer was offered by Rev. L. Branson. On motion of Mr. Farber, of Pitt, the Senate went into Committee of the Whole on the Revenue act. Lieutenant Governor Doughton by unanimous request of the committee presided. Mr. Dowd offered an amendment to increase the tax on pool and billiard tables in saloons from $50 to $75. The amendment was lost, leaving the tax as it now stands. Mr. Dalby offered an amendment which was adopted placing a tax of one half of one cent per pound on chewing tobacco, and five cents per thousand on cigars, cigarettes and cheroots. The provision to tax lawyers ten dollars per annum was taken up and caused considerable discussion. Mr. Moody, of Haywood, himself a lawyer, favoring it, and Mr. Paddison opposing it on the ground that it was class legislation. Mr. Fowler also made a ringing speech against the provision. Mr. Forbes said there were many lawyers that he did not believe made over ten dollars a year. The vote was taken and the section taxing lawyers ten dollars was defeated by a vote of 14 to 18. Mr. Moody offered an amendment to place a tax of $100 on bachelors over 25 years of age, and Mr. Fowler offered one placing a tax of $200 on old maids, but these did not meet with favor. Mr. Moore moved to reconsider the vote by which the tax on lawyers was struck out and another long discussion on the question followed. Mr. Forbes remarked that the Senate was as active as a lot of children, doing one thing one minute and undoing it the next. The vote was reconsidered and the Senate reversed its action, putting the tax back on the lawyers. This was done by a vote of 14 to 14. At 3:30 o'clock the committee rose and reported the bill favorably, and it then passed its third and final reading. [Special Star Telegram.] When the Senate met to-night, the election of a Railroad Commissioner was declared in order. Mr. Dalby, of Greensboro nominated S. Otho Wilson, stating that he was so well known that he needed no recommendation. Mr. Adams, of Moore, nominated Capt. Thos. W. Skinner and said he was a gentleman whose character was above reproach. Mr. Will was elected by a strict party vote. The election of a Judge of the Criminal Circuit Court was taken up, and Mr. Moody, of Haywood, nominated Senator Charles A. Cook, of Warren, Mr. Dowd nominated Judge O. P. Meares. Cook was elected by a party vote. Wilson and Cook were also elected in the House by a vote of 63 to 133 respectively, Mason and Meares receiving the votes from the Democrats. It is said that Wilson's election was railroaded through to-night because a rupture was brewing between the Populists and Republicans, there being talk of the Code Commission being defeated. The Republicans threatened that if this was done they would have Wilson defeated for Railroad Commissioner. A fiery debate occurred in the Senate over the bill for the relief of officers of various counties who lost money by the failure of the Bank of New Hanover. Mr. Paddison, of Pender, made a fight to carry the amendment to strike out Sheriff Kennan, of Duplin, and declared that the Senate would subject him to indignity if it refused to adopt his amendment. The Senate, however, went squarely against him, and defeated his amendment and passed the bill upon second reading, including Sheriff Kennan, of Duplin. The bill has already passed the House. The leading incident of the House to-night was the defeat of the bill to change the Board of Directors of the Deaf and Dumb and Blind institution. It was defeated by the Populists voting with the Democrats; the vote was 49 to 31. The reason that the Populists voted against it was claimed that the Republicans had fixed up a cut-and-dried list of directors of their own. The Senate to-night presented to Lieutenant R. A. Doughton, President of the body, a handsome and costly silver service. The presentation speech was made by Senator Moody, of Haywood, in a graceful and handsome manner. Daniel Catches the Thief. "Pessum up de gum tree; racoon in de hollow." — Old Song. Maj. Dan O'Connor is not like Esau of old, a "mighty hunter"; he bagged some game early yesterday morning that is not often caught "out of the woods." For several weeks mysterious raids had been made on his fowl house and a number of his choicest cockerels and pullets had disappeared. The Major was nonplussed. But he knows a thing or two about war; so, he went on picket duty Friday night, and in the early morning he espied a curious looking "varmint" going up a stairway in the rear of his house. Then he beat the "long roll," placed himself at the head of his forces and, after a heated contest, captured the roguish visitor. It was a "possum" a regular "smooth-tail." The Major smiled and the "possum" grinned, as his ancestors did. Finally, the quadruped thief was caged and kept in confinement until a colored citizen came along who appreciates the juicy sweetness of roast "possum, and to him the game was given. OLD LADIES' HOME. The ladies of the Benevolent Society are pleased to announce that they have succeeded in raising within $50.00 of the amount required to secure the $100 offered by a gentleman through last Sunday's papers. They have reason to think he will wait on them a few days for the remainder. This amount, together with the former subscription, makes the total $100.00. The desirable property on the corner of Princess and Ninth streets. There are nearly $1,400 in sight, making only six hundred more to be raised to complete the fund. They asked the community for it. They feel sure of even this if all that have been applied to will respond, and those who are yet to be asked. Will not every one who has not yet subscribed give something and so enable them to make the whole payment and save them even a small debt? The purchase of the house is assured fact even as it stands, but with a response now from every one they will be saved even a small debt. SUNDAY SERVICES. Services in St. John's Church to-day by Rev. French, in his speech of about one minute, said that never before had so much been conceded to the minority, being especially in line with the argument of our Democratic member. He did not controvert the able delineation of the character of March Walker, accepting the charge of the Populists that we were not in the caucus for the purpose of a public man who had voted for the amendment on the second reading after an interview with McClammy, changed it against it.
